FFA Eastern Star Farmer Specializes In Selling Swine Semen

BIG COVE TANNERY (Fulton Co.) — Just like the dairy industry uses frozen semen obtained from bull studs, Brian Lake knows the same can be applied to swine.

That is, semen from boars can be easily transferred to sows. And this FFA'ers' business, B.L. Lake Co., specializes in obtaining boar semen from six commercial breeds and selling it across the country to breeding operations.

For his efforts, Brian, 21, son of Donald and Marna Lake, Big Cove Tannery, will be named FFA Eastern Star Farmer at the 65th National FFA Convention, which begins next Thursday and lasts through Saturday in Kansas City, Mo. Brian is a member of the Warfordsburg FFA Chapter.

Brian told Lancaster Farming that he got the idea for using boar semen when he visited two farms in Ohio. In 1983, Brian visited the farm of Don Verhoff, in Ottawa, and purchased his first Spotted Swine boar. Since then, he has increased the size of his operation from one boar to about 400-500 head of swine, including about 300 Spotted Swine and the rest from the Duroc, Landrace, York, Hampshire, and Poland China breeds.

Right now he is collecting semen from 25 boars, which he

Milk Programs Debated At Historical Society Meeting

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

PHILADELPHIA—The pros and cons of government programs in the dairy industry were debated at the monthly meeting of the Philadelphia Society for Promoting Agriculture in center city last week. And for the sake of debate, two general managers of dairy cooperatives took opposing views. Dr. Paul Hand, secretary and general manager, Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, spoke for the programs, and Robert Vaughn, secretary/treasurer and general manager, Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative, took the negative view.

They focused on the milk marketing orders and the price support program. Hand said these programs have changed over the years to meet the changes in the dairy industry. "Milk and milk products still are an important part of a healthful diet for American consumers," Hand said. "And milk products continue to be produced at fair and reasonable prices.

"On the other hand, the prices generated by the two systems have been at sufficient levels to bring forth an adequate supply of milk. The volumes of manufactured products purchased by the Commodity Credit Corporation proves that if prices exceed those needed to produce an adequate supply, more milk will be produced than will be sold in the marketplace. Those who would criticize the programs must look to different standards than those contained in the laws authorizing the two programs. Efficient

Tour Investigates Deer Damage Problem

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — Seeking a mutual solution to a complicated problem, farmers, hunters, conservationists, politicians, and other interested individuals took a bus tour of Bedford County recently to survey deer damage.

"Deer are changing agriculture in Bedford County," said Richard Hershberger, standing near a damaged cornfield on his farm located just south of Everett.

"Neighbors quit growing corn because of the deer damage. Consequently, they all moved into our fields. We sold off our dairy cows because we could no longer provide feed for them."

Corn crop loss on the Hershberger farm was estimated to be

Meat Judging Team Goes To Nationals

INTERCOURSE (Lancaster Co.) — Four Lancaster County youths are to leave here Tuesday for Kansas City, Kan., to compete in the national 4-H meat judging competitions.

About 20 teams from across the United States are expected to attend the several day event to be held in the Food Barn Meat Warehouse, a large wholesale meat distributor.

According to Chester Hughes, Lancaster County Extension livestock agent and coach, the team has a strong chance of finishing in the top five.

Almost all four team members have had experience at the national level and have been practicing at several locations — meat shops in Lancaster County and at the Penn State Meat Lab at University Park.

The members of the team are Wendall Landis, Dwain Livengood, Tracy Bollinger, Angela Erb. Team coaches are Jeff Craig and Anita Meck.

The Lancaster County team has come a long way since the mid-80s when Hughes was able to get help in developing the program.

According to Hughes, the county had a meat judging team go to compete at the state prior to 1985, but the current local support and consistent availability of up-to-date local judging knowledge was non-existent.

In 1985, Duff George, a summer assistant and then-student of animal science at Penn State University, came to work for Hughes. Hughes gave him the task of developing the county 4-H meat judg-

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer Market

Wednesday, November 4, 1992

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds ranged light to instances good with best clearances noted on adequate supplies of 3 pound and lighter weight birds. Heavier sizes were irregularly available, but slow to clear at several points. Live supplies were moderate. Weights varied in a full range. Slaughter schedules were heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 53 to 62 cents. Trade sentiment was steady but cautious. In parts complex, leg items were in best balance. Breast items were in closer balance, particularly bone-in which were tight in some instances. Wings were fully adequate.

Trucklot buying interest was light. Supplies of boneless skinless breasts for retail needs ranged adequate to fully adequate. Trading was reported at steady prices but the trade sentiment was improved over prior day. Line run breasts continued to be in close balance with current needs. Shipper asking prices and new bookings were all at unchanged prices. Yellow skin leg quarters were in good balance with demand. Where available, additional product was in firm hands; however, buyers appeared cautious. Other dark meat items were adequate. Synchro-Max 2000 TM.

Recently there has been a lot written about the advantages of ration balancing based on Rumen Available Protein and Rumen Available Carbohydrate (RAP/RAC).

Agway has taken the RAP/RAC concept a giant step further with the development of the Synchro-Max 2000 line of dairy feeds, a unique and comprehensive feed and ration balancing program, proven to increase milk production at minimal increased cost.

Field demonstrations at 13 Agway-member farms with RHAs of 20,000 lbs. and more showed an average production increase of more than 3 lbs. per cow, per day. At an increased feed cost* of just one cent per cow, per day!

The critical ingredient? Synchronization. For maximum efficiency and nutrient utilization, it's critically important that the right amounts of protein and carbohydrate energy be available in the rumen at the right time. Using a proprietary database of innovative feed technology, your Agway Feed Salesperson will first determine the RAP/RAC values of your forages. Then he will design the correct Synchro-Max 2000 feed program for your farm. For maximum production and profitability.

Ask your Agway Feed Salesperson about Synchro-Max 2000, available exclusively from Agway. Whatever your herd's RHA, he has the feeds, technology and input to improve your output.

*Compared to feed fed prior to RAP/RAC

"If you won't buy one for you, buy one for your family."

"I thought I was a tough guy And I'd been using PTO's for years But I found out I was no match for an unprotected PTO. Sure, I suffered some, but I managed—my family suffered a lot more. Not only the doctor's bills, but caring for me through all the pain and hospital visits Now, things I can't do with one arm have to be done by my wife or my kids. But there's no way I want to put them in the same danger I put myself in every day Thankfully, at long last, somebody's designed a PTO guard that really guards."

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

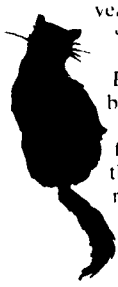
NATIONAL SPLIT PEA SOUP WEEK

DO YOU HAVE TRISKAIDEKAPHOBIA?

Bell the black cats and hide the mirrors Get set for one of the unluckiest days of the year! The second and final Friday the Thirteenth for 1992 occurs this week Every year has at least one Friday the Thirteenth while some lucky years have as many as three Some people don t like 13 whether or not it s a Friday People with triskaidekaphobia (fear of the number 13) may avoid travel and other activities on the 13th Quite a few skyscrapers do not have a 13th floor and many buildings substitute 12½ for 13 in their addresses But we can all breathe a sigh of relief after this weekend — the 13th won't fall on a Friday again until August 1993 and we won't have a triple whammy year until 1998



A lucky dog is rarer than a white crow.

TIP OF THE WEEK

Felt weather stripping glued to the underside of rocking chairs will cut down on noise and scratched floors.

EARTHWISE

If you re buying new tires before the season of ice and snow gets underway, here are some things to consider Radial tires result in the best gas mileage, and steel-belted radials are usually the most efficient Keep your tires properly inflated — underinflation can waste up to 5% of a car's fuel due to increased rolling resistance Patronize a dealer who will recycle your old tires They may charge a few dollars for the service, but the dump will charge you too, and the cost to the environment is much greater at the dump

OPINION

FFA'ers Know They Belong

On Veterans' Day next Wednesday begins the 65th National FFA Convention, which lasts through next Saturday in Kansas City, Mo.

What an appopriate place and time to begin a convention which takes time to honor the labor and achievements of the thousands of FFA'ers across the country. The same day we honor members of our military forces that have preserved freedom for us is the kickoff for a celebration for those that preserved our heritage and our number one industry — farming.

What brings these FFA'ers together?

In the August-September 1992 issue of the official FFA publication FFA New Horizons, editor Andy Markwart speaks about FFA'ers and why they join the many chapters across the country. Markwart writes:

"It's because we all want to feel like we belong.

"A guy named Abraham Maslow figured out a long time ago that people have a common set of needs. After the basics of food, water, shelter, and a sense of security, the need to feel accepted is next on the list. No matter what people may say, there are very few loners out there."

To belong.

It's the sense of belonging to something greater and more important than oneself that draws FFA'ers together, whether they're working on Building Our American Community (BOAC) projects or working to improve any segments of their community. Or donating their time to charitable causes. Or simply taking responsibility for something in their school, home, or community.

Those who can't fill that need end up belonging to "cliques" at school, writes Markwart. Or they join gangs. Or, given the right guidance, they become active in a social club, including churches, schools, or other organizations.

Or they become the loners that don't contribute and, at best, fade into the background. At worst, they become criminals.

But according to Markwart:

"Your local FFA chapter, on the other hand, is a gang of people who have chosen the positive road. In many schools, the relationship between FFA members and their advisors/agriculture teachers is different than with other teachers. The advisor is a friend, a counselor, someone who takes a personal interest in your life."

FFA now numbers 401,574 members, by last estimate, with about 7,456 local chapters.

Ask any chapter member to think back, before FFA, if they felt they really belonged. Then ask them how they feel now to be part of a powerful, influential, richly rewarding association that is the FFA.

NOW IS THE TIME

To Redefine A Farmer

Who is a farmer?

Today, we have less than two percent of the United States population engaged in the production of food.

However, we have an additional percentage of the population employed in jobs that were once performed on the farm. These include meat and poultry processing, feed manufacturing, retail selling, animal breeding, and seed selection.

The transfer of these and other jobs off the farm has allowed today's farmer to concentrate on production. This specialization and ability to adopt new technology has made American agriculture the envy of the world.

This has been made possible by an excellent working relationship between farmers, government, business, research, and education. The government, research, and education partners of this successful partnership have been coming under criticism lately. We need to do a better job of explaining the total food production system extends beyond the farm gate and every person is served by agricultural programs, not just farmers.

If we are to continue to have a safe and abundant food supply, we need government programs for food inspection, statistics, research, and education.

As we face emerging food safety, animal welfare and environmental issues, history has shown us research and education — not mandatory government regulations — have been the most effective way to deal with the issue.

We need to start expanding the definition of a farmer and defend the programs that have been very important to us. Otherwise we will find these programs discontinued.

To Review Swine Husbandry

Chester Hughes, extension livestock agent, reminds us of the importance of good swine husbandry skills.

He suggests we develop a daily management routine. This allows the pigs to develop a routine of their own.

Farmers need to pay close attention to temperature, ventilation, equipment, floor condition, area per pig, manure management, and feed and water quality. We need to anticipate climatic extremes and provide the appropriate husbandry decisions to insure pig comfort and well being by minimizing environmental stresses.

Pigs should be observed regularly. Feeders and waterers should be checked daily. Feeders and waterers need to be readily accessible and easy for the pigs to use and adjusted to prevent feed wastage and minimize contamination by feces and urine and not injure the pigs.

When feed is delivered to animal houses and to individual pens, care should be taken to minimize dust. Techniques to control feed dust include minimal drop distances and open conveyors and the addition of fats or oils to the feed.

To Rebalance Rations

As the harvest season draws to a close, you will be introducing your herd to a new supply of feeds.

These could be of a different quality than what you have been feeding. For best results, it is essential that these new feeds be tested now and at periodic intervals throughout the winter.

Many testing laboratories have installed computer communication systems that will allow you to receive your test results three or more days sooner. Contact your laboratory for details.

Just as important as testing is accurate reformulation of your rations based on test results. If you are feeding a total mixed ration (TMR), it is also a good practice to test the TMR mix to check on accuracy of formulation and mixing.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

IS GOD EVER WRONG?
November 8, 1992

Background Scripture:
Amos 2:6 through 3:2.
Devotional Reading:
Amos 2:6-16.

Is it possible that sometimes God is wrong?

For example, take the prohecy in Amos 2, those ringing pronouncements warning that God will bring judgment and punishment upon the people of Israel. Surely God has the wrong people! A celestial clerical error, perhaps? We can understand dire prophecies against Damascus, Gaza, Tyre, Edom, Ammon, Moab, and even step-brother Judah. These were ungodly, unrighteous people.

But Israel—how can Amos bring Israel under God's judgment? Are they not the Chosen Race? Do they not crowd into the Temple to worship and offer their sacrifices by the thousands and tens of thousands? Do they not honor God with their words, their rituals, and their customs? In what ways do they, of all peoples, deserve the wrath of God?

THE CHOSEN PEOPLE

I am certain that those who heard Amo's prophecy must have been dumfounded and asked similar questions, perhaps we can better appreciate if we imagine that we are in church and listening to a guest speaker making judgment against our firends and enemies alike—stinging indictments of Yugoslavia, Russia, China, Cuba, Iraq, Britain, and Mexico. Who among us would not get some delight in those searing judgments?

But then, the speakers say, "For three transgression of the USA and for four, I will not revoke the punishment" (2:6). At that moment we would know how his listeners felt when Amos turned his attention to Israel. With what was it that Amos indicted God's people? Heretical beliefs? Esoteric rituals? Occult teachings? No, none of these.

What angered the Lord, Amos said, was not how the people went abou their religion, but how they lived their lives. In their day-to-day living they were greedy and corrupt—"because they sell the righteous for silver and the needy for a pair of shoes" (2:6c). For their own gain they oppress and exploit people—"they that trample the head of the poor into the dust of the earth" (2:7a). They have no moral standards—"a man and his father go into the same maiden" (2:7b). Staying within the letter of the law, they are nevertheless able to take advantage of the weak and the helpless—"they lay themselves down beside every altar upon garments taken in plege; and in the house of their God they drink the wine of those who have been fined" (2:8). (They even pervert religion so as to legally take the garments and wine given as collateral.) Yet, at the same time, these people are going to the temple, making their sacrifices, and maintaining an air of respectability.

MUCH REQUIRED

God's judgment of Israel is even more detailed than those prophecies delivered against other nations. We can understand—if not approve—of Damascus, Gaza, Tyre, Edom, Ammon, and Moab. These people did not pretend to follow the Lord. Their evil was the natural consequence of their beliefs. But Judah and Israel know better and thus God expected more from them. So his judgment falls more heavily on them. As Jesus is quoted in Luke 12:48, "Every one to whom much is given, of him much will be required."

All of this took place more than 2,600 years ago in the 8th centruy B.C. Life was different. The world was different. People were different. But, the words of Amos nevertheless have a familiar ring, do they not? Do we not have corruption as they did? Are the poor and hopeless not oppressed now as then? Does our society not suffer from sexual license and the perversion of religion?

No, God does not make mistakes, but we still do.

LOCK IN PRICES AND FOUR HYBRIDS THIS FALL. REDUCE WEATHER RISK BY STAGGERING MATURITIES.

By Willard Jones

I'm Willard Jones, Doebler's sales manager, checking maturity of one of our varieties earlier this fall.

Doebler's corn strategy is just a common sense way of reducing crop risk. And it works.

But get moving. If you lock in your four favorite Doebler's hybrids by Nov. 16, you also lock in the lowest prices of the year.

Watch these savings add up:

1. Take advantage of Doebler's Turn-the-Clock-Back Sale. Save up to $8 a bag.

2. Pay cash and deduct another 10%. There are no CDs around that will beat that.

3. Order alfalfa with your seed corn, and take volume discount on total sale. On 30 bag order, that drops price of Doebler's alfalfas to $161.30. Now pay cash, deduct10%. Your sale price: $145.17.

How to handle bum weather

My favorite way to minimize bad weather is calendarizing. You spread the risk by juggling four hybrids and three maturities.

Plant early corn first. This normally gives you better emergence in a cold spring.

Then plant two midseason corns second and a late hybrid last.

The three maturities ear out at different times, reducing damage from dry weather or unfavorable pollination weather.

Earlier harvest limits possible frost damage.

It's something to think about when ordering 1993 hybrids.

Here's my picks for calendarizing

Calendarizing is cheap crop insurance against another bad weather year. In one plan, farmer used an early, medium and late hybrid for grain, and a second medium for silage.

Full Season Country
EARLY--Doebler 57XP, 97 days. Or 66XP, 103 days.
MEDIUM--Doebler 75X-2, 113 days, 73XP, 112 days.
LATE--Doebler 86X-A (PA), 119 days; 86XA-2, 122 days (south).
SILAGE--Doebler 75XMOD2, 113 days.

110-Day Maturity Area
EARLY--Doebler 57XP, 97 days; or 45XP, 92 days.
MEDIUM--Doebler 69XP, 105 days; or 66XP, 103 days.
LATE--Doebler 75X, 113 days.
SILAGE--Doebler 650A-3 way, 100 days.

100-Day Maturity Area
EARLY--Doebler 29XA, 81 days; or 35XP, 83 days.
MEDIUM--Doebler 57XP, 97 days; or 45XP, 92 days.
LATE--Doebler 61X, 101 days; or 66XP, 103 days.
SILAGE--Doebler 370A-3 way, 85 days.

Large Biotech Symposium Features Local Representative

PRINCETON, N.J. — The advent of a global society has created an awareness of the bioscience and biotechnology fields and their extreme importance to mankind.

Bearing this in mind, the Japan Bioindustry Association organized "Bio Japan 92," the largest international bioscience and biotechnology symposium and exhibition of its kind.

The symposium, held in Yokohama, Japan, focused on the theme, "All Living Things On The Earth Seek Harmony" This included health, food, education, and the environment, which are sources of human survival and welfare.

Fred Stillwagen, former agricultural education instructor at the Lehigh County AVTS, past PVATA president, and past National Vocational Agricultural Teachers' Association vice president, represented the United States as a guest speaker on high school education in biotechnology. Currently, education consultant to American Cyanamid Agricultural Research and Development Division, Stillwagen addressed "Biotechnology Education Strategies — an Industry/Education Partnership at the Secondary Level" and served on a question and answer panel.

Other topics addressed at the education session included biotechnology learning in high school, biotechnology education in an agriculture high school, how to deal with the biotechnology in the class of biology, promoting understanding and awareness of biotechnology in schools, and other topics.

In discussion with educators and teachers from throughout the world, Stillwagen came away from the symposium with a positive attitude as to the biotechnology programs and opportunities for high schools in the United States.

11 Jersey Youth Receive Scholarships

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — Eleven Jersey juniors from across the United States have been chosen to receive scholarships ranging from $500 to $1,000.

These scholarship funds have been established in memory of five Jersey leaders and are presented to youth across the country in recognition of their achievements with Jerseys, academic accomplishments, and community service.

The ABS/Morris B. Ewing scholarship is sponsored by American Breeders Service. All scholarships will be presented during the Junior Banquet and Fun Fest held in conjunction with the All American Show in Louisville, Ky., on Nov. 7.

Awarded for the first time is the Stanley K. Bansen Memorial Scholarship which is to be awarded to an individual working on an advanced degree (Masters or Ph.D.) in dairy or animal science, dairy manufacturing, or agricultural business.

Bansen is remembered by Jersey breeders for his contributions to the dairy industry and developing the well-known Forest Glen Jersey herd. The $1,000 scholarship will be presented to John Metzger of Lester, Iowa.

Three Jack C. Nisbet scholarships are awarded to participants in the National Jersey Youth Acheivement Contest.

Nisbet is remembered for his contributions as executive secretary of The American Jersey Cattle Club from 1943 through 1947. The $750 scholarships will be awarded to: Jessica Chittenden, Stephentown, New York; Melaine Dietrich, Newburg, Pa.; and Ryan Lancaster, Ferndale, Washington.

The Paul Jackson Memeorial Scholarship, presented to a youth who has completed at least one year of college, will be awarded to Michael Lawton, Newark Valley, New York. The scholarship is in the amount of $750. Mr. Jackson was a long-time Jersey breeder, showman, and herdsman who was devoted to encouraging junior interest in Jerseys.

Three V.L. Peterson scholarships will be presented to Jersey youth. The recipients are Wendy Hoffman, Cuero, Texas; Mary Ellen Lerum, DeForest, Wisconsin; and Cynthia Place, Perry, Michigan. "Vic" Peterson has been known as the "dean of dairy breed representatives" for his 25 years of service as an AJCC area representative across the country.

Two Jersey juniors received William A. Russell scholarships. The Russell scholarship was established in 1977 to honor Bill Russell's service to Jersey breeders, and producers and distributors of All-Jersey milk. The scholarship is awarded to youth who have enrolled or been accepted into a college or university. Recipients of this year's scholarships are Kerri Benson, New Lebanon, New York, and Karin Chittenden, Schodack Landing, New York.

The American Jersey Cattle Club also administers the ABS/Morris B. Ewing Essay Contest sponsored by American Breeders Service. The winner is awarded a $500 scholarship for an essay judged on accuracy of information, creativity, and grammatical correctness. This year's winner is Andrew Samuelson, Athol, Mass.

Jersey scholarships are available to youth who own at least one registered Jersey and who are accepted or enrolled in college. Applications are due in the AJCC office by July 1 of each year.

FFA Eastern Star Farmer

sells through national magazines such as Spotted News and newspapers such as Lancaster Farming.

Mark Runyan, another Ohio breeder, helped Brian learn how to collect, store, and ship semen. But for years Brian was studying the possibility of having his own herd and working up a distribution network which spans the country. (Recently, Brian sold semen to areas in the Midwest, including a breeder in Michigan.)

The Warfordsburg FFA member said, "It's easier to use artificial insemination on sows. You don't have to fool around with frozen semen as you do with cows."

Brian said that the semen is kept cool (about 60 degrees) and is shipped UPS wrapped in a styrofoam insulated box. The technique to inseminate is similar to cows. The sow must be in heat, of course, and the equipment and techniques used are easier and less expensive than with cows.

"I feel the artificial insemination concept for swine has as much potential as it did for the dairy industry," said Brian. "Some of the opportunities, such as minimizing the cost of breeding stock, minimizing disease transmission, and maximizing profits are obvious."

Brian said he owes thanks to the recognition to FFA advisor Edwin Layton. He "was always very supportive and gave me a lot of encouragement," said Brian.

In a memoir published in the July 1990 Spotted News, Brian said that, since the age of three, he had "already gotten the 'Spotted fever.' One day my mom couldn't find me and when she finally did, I was sitting on a bucket just staring at some pigs in a lot." He said his interest was "encouraged by the fact that my dad was raising Landrace hogs. He has been raising them since before I was born."

Brian said he has been showing for a number of years, and has close to 20 national champions. Recently, he has obtained a reserve boar champion from the Southeast Conference in Perry, Ga.

Brian said that while his friends had rock stars or movie stars for heroes, his heroes "were well-known hog farmers," he said.

According to the FFA, Brian was one of four regional winners, and will receive $1,000 from the National FFA Foundation, Inc. Other winners include Hal Hensler Glaze, 21, Eastanollee, Ga.; Darren Funk, 19, Burley, Idaho; and Kelby Paske, 22, Arlington, Wis. from among 1,161 American FFA Degree candidates.

The national winner will be awarded another $1,000. In addition to cash awards, the regional winners will travel to Europe for the FFA Stars International Experience Tour.

Brian was graduated from Southern Fulton High School in 1989. He and his wife, Pamela, reside in Big Cove Tannery.

The FFA Eastern Star Farmer has increased the size of his operation from one boar to about 400-500 head of swine, including about 300 Spotted Swine and the rest from the Duroc, Landrace, York, Hampshire, and Poland China breeds.

Tour Investigates

$4,900 last year. The Hershberger's problem increased when gypsy moths killed the oak trees in their woods where the deer once fed.

Kevin Frederick has the problem familiar to many farmers in Bedford County. Next door are 750 acres of posted grounds. "They are owned by a dentist from Baltimore," Kevin explains. "Nice guy, and we like him. We wouldn't care how many friends he brought up here to hunt the property. Problem is, he doesn't bring enough."

The Fredericks milk 400 registered Holstein. Loss to their alfalfa crop has been estimated at 12% due to deer damage. Statistics were obtained through the efforts of Richard Dale, extension agent, who had ten caged alfalfa plots across the county.

Farmers, like the Fredericks, are growing more sorghum. It's not as nutritious for the dairy cattle, but it doesn't whet the appetites of the deer.

Anthony Wertz' 400-acre farm is located alongside a hunter safety zone, the turnpike and a mountain range. Wertz lost two of every six acres of corn planted this year. Total cost loss is estimated at $1,305.28.

Tim Flanigan, game protector, said Wertz does do a lot of harvesting on his own. "And, he does it to the letter," Flanigan assured. "Farmers who harvest their own deer and don't report them are shooting themselves in the foot. The Game Commission relies heavily on the harvesting report to determine the number of deer in the county. Those deer killed that are not reported reveal a false census."

Deer are causing similar damage to the woodlands, "an extensive agricultural crop in Bedford County," according to forester, Tom O'Neal.

"Deer are affecting the future of forests down the road," explained O'Neal as he led a trek up the hillside near Everett.

"When you don't see leaves three feet off the ground, a red flag goes off," said Steve Wacker, of the Bureau of Forestry.

"We should be seeing the woods floor covered with oak seedlings. We aren't. There is no next generation supply of timber. And, what most people don't realize is that timber is an important agricultural crop."

O'Neal noted that oak and hemlock seedlings are both being replaced by birch and black locust, species found not as appetizing to the deer population.

Tim Flanigan, state game protector, and Anthony Wertz, farmer, on the deer damage tour.

On The Rainsburg Mountain southeast of Bedford, Steve Wacker pointed to a sparse forest floor and noted that, "With all the rain, we had hoped for a good regrowth of oak seedlings this year. We don't have them."

Taxpayers get hit with a decline in state forests. All proceeds from sale of lumber in state forests goes into the state treasury. "The name of the game in oak timber is quality," explained Wacker. "And, we don't have it here."

Wacker also pointed out declines in fruits of the forest such as ginsing, azaleas, and blueberries.

Despite repeated efforts, Bedford County has failed to get the attention of the State Game Commission to increase the number of antlerless deer licenses in the county. Last year, allotment was set at 17,700. This year, the number was again lowered to 8,250.

Bedford County treasurer Bun Clark notes that all surrounding counties have been sold out of licenses for weeks.

One solution to the complex problem is to initiate a hot spot pilot program. This would allow hunters to shoot a doe in buck season provided it was in one of the hot spots.

"It doesn't help much," explains Richard Dale. "It still doesn't allow a hunter to take more than one deer."

Sixty-nine farmers have signed up for the hot-spot program. "That's not enough to please the Game Commission," continues Dale. "They say that the number of farmers signing up for the program is an indication of the deer population. Farmers, on the other hand, don't bother to sign up

BRING IT HOME.

Get the yields you deserve for all the hard work that goes into raising a good corn crop, with the proven performance advantage of Pioneer® brand hybrids. Because all over the country, the facts show, once again, those who planted our hybrids harvested more bushels per acre. So ask your Pioneer sales representative about which hybrids will help bring out the Earning Power in your fields. And keep a good thing going.

NEW 3525 — 106 CRM

The new performance leader in this maturity. 3525 is a widely adapted, stable, high-yielding hybrid. Tall plant type, excellent for grain and silage. Late flowering. Good ear flex and ear attachment.

3394 — 111 CRM

Record setting yields and exceptional agronomics. This exciting hybrid combines: impressive early growth, strong stalks and roots, exceptional stress tolerance, above average drydown and lengthy staygreen. Widely adapted to varying soil types, tillage methods and populations. Good grain appearance.

3293 — 114 CRM

Similar to 3241 with more top-end yield potential. Exceptional early growth. This hybrid features outstanding stalks, superior staygreen and drought tolerance. Above average grain appearance and grain protein content.

3241 — 114 CRM

Excellent early growth and resistance to several diseases make 3241 ideal for conservation tillage. Grain growers will appreciate its outstanding stalks, lengthy staygreen and reliable drought tolerance. Good grain appearance with above average grain protein. Top silage producer.

Comparative Relative Maturity (CRM)

With no industry standard for maturity ratings, comparing maturities between companies is usually difficult. Use this rating to compare Pioneer hybrids with competitive hybrids of similar maturity and harvest moisture. These ratings are based on customer side-by-side and research comparison experience. Individual company ratings may still show a variation from the average comparative rating.

Milk Programs Debated

farmers and efficient processing and distribution systems have developed over the past 60 years since the start of administered pricing. Consumers have received an adequate supply of milk and dairy products at reasonable prices," Hand said.

But Vaughn took exception to the notion that these programs have been good for dairy farmers.

"The system is complex and is influenced by political policies," Vaughn said. "While the price support programs and the federal milk marketing orders are separate programs, they interrelate, and a cause and effect relationship exists.

The support program is set up for the government to purchase dry milk, butter and cheese excess when there is an excess. A price is established for all these products.

The products that are stored by the government can be purchased at 110 percent of the support price. But because of the USDA stocks, the market prices are restrained to the 110 percent support price. While the producer benefits for this program clearing the market, the consumer benefits from available stocks capped in price.

In addition, the manufacturer is not required to pay support price for raw milk while selling products to the government. The manufacturer will react to the amount of available milk. This has an adverse effect on the price of fluid milk.

"Producers in the Middle Atlantic are affected by the weather, support prices and demand for manufacturing milk in the Upper Mid-West, while most if not all of the economic factors of the region are ignored," Vaughn said.

Dr. Wayne Rasmussen, retired USDA economist and historian, gave a historical view of agricultural subsidies. "Sixty years ago the government said to farmers, 'Restrict production and we will pay you a fair price,'" Rasmussen said. "At the time they called it a temporary method for pricing. But 50 years later this method of dealing with a temporary emergency is still in effect."

Dr. Robert Yonkers, Ag Economics Dept., Penn State University, was the moderator. In opening remarks; Yonkers said the dairy industry in Pennsylvania is a $1.5 billion industry, making us the fourth largest dairy state in the nation. He said these figures did not include the $250 million from sale of beef, cull dairy cows and veal calves. And it did not include figures for processing and the value added there.

"There is no such thing as a free market without any government involvement," Yonkers said. "Marketing requires government to set the rules for property rights and allows people with resources to use them in markets. Government facilitates the exchange of commodities and services in markets, by providing legal tender and by arranging for basic rules which allows markets to operate."

In a speical recognition luncheon, three members of the society were honored for their service to agriculture. They are Beverly Murphy, Dr. Stuart Younkin, and Richard Waybright. The society was founded in 1785 and has been a major support for agriculture over the years.

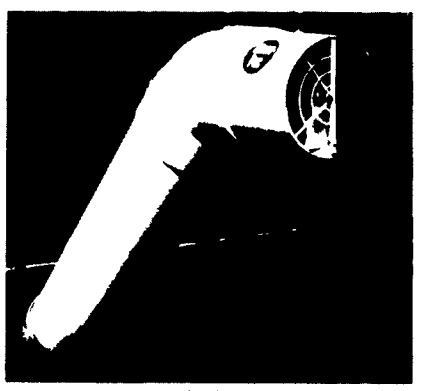
PUMP OUT PIT FAN



Many manure storage pits have been constructed without providing for ventilation of the pit, particularly in buildings constructed several years ago when pit storage was first popular.

A non-ventilated pit results in a build-up of harmful, caustic gases, such as carbon dioxide, hydrogen sulfide, methane, ammonia and mercaptans.

Hydrogen sulfide and carbon dioxide are heavier than air and, as the level of pit waste rises closer to the slats, the gases are forced closer to the animals

Results of inhaling these gases may be deep, fast breathing from CO^2. Hydrogen sulfide is one of the most toxic gases to animals and humans associated with liquid manure storage. This gas can cause severe irritation to the eyes and respiratory system and sometimes can result in death.

Designed to be splash and dust resistant in accordance with NEC Article 547.

The "Vari-Speed" VENTILATING Control is a SOLID STATE, single phase, variable motor speed controller, designed to automatically ventilate industrial, commercial and agricultural facilities. The Series 50 provides ventilation control in proportion to the error sensed between the controller set point and actual space temperature as monitored by the controller's sensor. As temperature changes, voltage to the fan motor is changed proportionately.

Rural Youth Observe 55th Anniversary

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Fifty-five years ago an organization called Rural Youth of Lancaster County was formed to meet the social, educational, and recreational needs of agricultural young people who had outgrown 4-H and FFA clubs. On Saturday evening, October 31, 101 former members and guests gathered at Country Table Restaurant, Mount Joy, for a reunion and a time of reminiscing.

Included were some of the charter members: Milton Brubaker, Lititz; Roy and Martha Jane Brubaker, Lititz; Frank and Dorothy Enders, Mountville; Lloyd Lefever, East Petersburg; Mark Hess, Lancaster; Lloyd Ranck, Paradise; Jake Reapsome, Lancaster; Grace Rodman, Silver Spring; Harold Risser, Mohrsville, Pa.; and Martha Stoner, Lancaster.

The first meeting had been held at the home of Grace Rodman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Nolt. Jake Reapsome served as the first president.

The speaker of the evening was Jay Irwin, Lancaster County Extension Service Director Emeritus, who reported on and showed pictures of his 6-month trip to Poland last year. Irwin conducted 83 seminars to teach Polish agricultural leaders methods of agriculture, cooperatives; and presented the 4-H Program. He said that the future of the country is its young people. The Polish people are eager to learn and hard-working.

On Friday, October 30, Jay returned from a 2-week trip to Albania where, he pointed out, life is like stepping back into the 15th century, a country where there is 80% unemployment and the needs are overwhelming. A declared

Conservation District Celebrates 500th Meeting

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — It's official — the Lancaster Conservation District celebrated its 500th (yes, five hundredth) meeting, doing it in grand style Wednesday afternoon with a banquet at the Stock Yard Inn.

It has been nearly two decades since the first annual meeting, Feb. 3, 1953 at Penn Manor High School, with no refreshments. Even at the second meeting, held in February 1954 at the Lititz High School, the same thing — no funds, no refreshments.

But through years of cooperation with the county board of commissioners, the projects and purpose of the district lives on. And those former directors, officers, and county commissioners who served on the board from its inception were in attendance.

The county conservation movement was organized in the southern part of the county back in 1938. Although the district was officially formed until 1950, it wasn't until 1957 that the district office got the first county appropriations (of $500). In the years since, the district has expanded and increased its scope in the county and region.

"From 1957 until today, the county commissioners have been very supportive of our efforts," said Amos Funk, member of the disrict's charter group of board members.

Terry Kauffman, vice president of the county commissioners, reaffirmed the county committment to the district, despite increasing cutbacks in appopriations from the state. "We're trying to be frugal in a tough year when we have at least $4 million in deficiencies not coming from the state," he said. "We want to keep the programs fully funded, but we have to be more creative. We don't want to just raise takes."

Kauffman asked the district board to review their program budgets to find ways to keep costs down, but assured them the commissioners will help them to ensure the continuation of district programs.

Don Robinson, of the district, spoke of ways of of revamping the annual stormwater award to expand it and to show ways existing systems have been improved or to branch out to more candidates worthy of county recognition.

The Soil Conservation Service has compiled a record of the following better management practices implemented on county farms to date: cropland terraces (529 miles), grassed waterways (467 miles), pipe outlets (13 miles), diversions (130 miles), countour strips (101,830 acres), and ag waste storages (261 units).

The Lancaster Conservation District's part in the Chesapeake Bay Nutrient Management program has 157 farmers that have received a total of $2,342,854, according to the district. The Pequea Millcreek project had $730,000 to cost-share with farm cooperators.

Tractors Lead Accident Statistics

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) —Farm tractors continue to be the primary cause of accidental death among farmers and farm workers in the Northeast and America's corn belt, according to a farm safety specialist in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

Sam Steel, extension project associate in agricultural and biological engineering and program director for the Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council said that, tractor overturns account for a large portion of the accidental deaths on Pennsylvania farms.

Statistic's based on a 1989 Penn State survey indicate that about 70 percent of all tractor-related fatalities involve a rollover. Another 25 percent involve extra riders and tractor operators falling off moving tractors.

"Tractor overturns are placed in two categories — side overturns and rear overturns," said Steel. "In a side overturn, which is most common, operators have a 50-50 chance of survival.

Responsibility Proves Exciting To This Dairy 4-H'er

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — While some 4-H'ers depend so much on the work of parents and friends to care for show animals, Fran Kennel looks at animal responsibility another way — as a refreshing break from other boring routines and as simply a joy.

As for her champion animals, Fran, a senior at Lancaster Mennonite High School, said she "takes care of them. I know some kids don't. They're on the family farms, so the dad feeds them and stuff like that. It's kind of a break, I don't know, to just go out and work for a while."

For her devotion to dairy animals, Fran, the 17-year-old daughter of Marilyn and Larry Kennel, has been honored as best owner/breeder in the Holstein category from the Lancaster County 4-H Show.

The award recognizes qualities of 4-H'ers who believe in what they are doing and have the perseverance to carry their plans through to completion, according to Elizabeth Smith, member of the Cows 'R Us 4-H Club. The award, sponsored by Lancaster Farming, was presented last night at the Lancaster 4-H Dairy Awards Recognition Night.

Fran, active in 4-H for five years, said her father, a veterinarian, helped spur her interest in animal husbandry. "When I was little, I used to go along with him to the farms," she said. "I always liked the animals, and I took biology, and it's just something I enjoy doing."

In fact, the only thing preventing her from becoming a veterinarian like her father is problems with allergies with animals. They deter her from fitting animals.

Nevertheless, at one time she considered becoming a vet, and instead opted to apply at Elizabethtown College to study biology. From there, she will apply through a special program conducted by Thomas Jefferson University to complete a master's in physical therapy within five years.

A lot of firsthand "biology" experience came while working as a technician for her father during the summer months, helping to set up equipment and conduct laboratory work, including using the microscope to search for the embryos after flush.

This type of work is "really exciting," said Fran. The work on the animals with her family — including brother Reuben, 15, Sarah, 12, and Nathan, 9 — drew them closer together.

She said 4-H "teaches a lot of good responsibility and it keeps us out of trouble."

For her devotion to dairy animals, Fran Kennel, the 17-year-old daughter of Marilyn and Larry Kennel, Mount Joy, has been honored as best owner/breeder in the Holstein category from the Lancaster County 4-H Show. She is shown with the junior 2-year-old Cornerstone Mdnite Faith (S: Desclacs Midnight-ET, D: A-Bright-Meadows Bambis Fawn), projected at 17,767 lbs., 635f, 539p. Photo by Andy Andrews

All American Meeting Set

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show exhibitors and supporters are encouraged to attend the 1992 annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Dairy and Allied Industries Association (PDAIA) set for Nov. 16 at Hoss's Steak and Sea House restaurant in Bedford.

The restaurant is actually located just off the Bedford exit of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The PDAIA is the governing body of the Pa. All American Dairy Show and the business meeting is being held to review the show and to elect board members to represent the six dairy cattle breed organizations and the dairy industry.

Exhibitors of three or more animals in the latest Pa. All American Dairy Show and industry businesses supporting the show are automatically members of the PDAIA and are eligible to participate in the annual meeting.

The meeting is an opportune time for exhibitors and supporters to share ideas and lay plans for the 1993 show, said Charles Itle, show manager.

Each breed organization has one representative and there are three directors representing the general dairy industry. There are three openings expected on the board for 1992.

This year, the Guernsey and Milking Shorthorn associations are to submit the name of at least one person to be nominated for a 3-year term.

Those whose terms expire this year are Guernsey representative Raymond Witmer, of Willow Street; Milking Shorthorn representative Sam Yoder, of Shoemakersville; and industry representative John Morris of Frederick, Md.

Since it is important that each breed has an active role in the conduct of the show, members are also encouraged to contact their respective organization to suggest nominees for these representativeships.

Suggestions for an industry representative can be made by contacting William Nichol, PDAIA secretary, 834 Benner Pike, State College, Pa. 16802; or the Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show, Farm Show Complex, 2301 North Cameron St., Harrisburg, Pa. 17110.

Meat Judging Team Goes To Nationals

"Being fresh out of college, he had up-to-date information on meat cuts and judging," Hughes said explaining that George had been on the PSU meats judging team.

"I too had been on the Penn State meats judging team," Hughes said. "But that was in 1975."

Recruiting the first team members was challenging, according to Hughes.

"Fortunately," Hughes said, "in '84, four of the kids didn't make it on the livestock judging team and were recruited (for the meats judging team) and did very well."

That team won the state competition and went on to national competition. They ended up fifth in the nation overall, high team for beef, and team member Greg Musser was first nationally for beef judging and fourth individual overall.

"We felt we were pretty well off and could put a good team together," Hughes said.

But with George only employed temporarily, Hughes was on his own with the team until 1988 Sue Ann Claudon came to take over the team.

Hughes said Claudon, of Ill., was working for the Packers and Stockyard administration of the USDA in Pennsylvania and so came with a strong knowledge of meats.

In 1988, a Lancaster County team again went to the national contest for Pennsylvania and did well, taking first in beef, first in pork, and first in total judging. They ended fifth overall. The team's week spot was in retail cuts identification — being able to identify the location of the cut of meat on the carcass, the difference between names for cut in which one has been de-boned and the other retains the bone, or perhaps a small portion of another muscle, etc..

1988 team member Rob Rush was first in beef judging nationally and Mike Craig was sixth individual overall.

"We've been competitive when we went out there," Hughes said.

As in many organized youth programs, older siblings influence their younger brothers and sisters to become involved, and former participants have come back to the team wanting to help.

Of the current team coaches, Jeff Craig is a former team member and an older brother of Mike Craig, who had been sixth overall back in 1985.

(Another Craig, Tim, was supposed to be on the current 4-H meats team, but he won the state competition on the FFA division team and is to compete nationally for FFA. He was replaced by Wendall Landis.)

After high school, Jeff went to work full time as a butcher for Stoltzfus Meats in Intercourse.

For the team, having Craig as a coach is a great help — not only does he have the competitive experience, but, because of his work, his is also able to pass on his current knowledge of meat cuts. Also Stoltzfus allows him use the shop after hours to give the team practice on judging meats.

The other coach, Anita Meck, of Refton, was a 1990 team member and brings a variety of livestock meats information. Her strength for the team is her knowledge of the cookery and retail cuts.

Her background includes growing up on a family beef-swine-poultry farm. Her positions as a beef industry representative, pork industry representative and poultry queen helped her develop a more intensive knowledge of the various livestock meats.

Hughes explained the aspects of the competition as primarily fourfold; retail cuts, cookery, carcass and wholesale cuts evaluations, and giving oral reasons.

The major meat species of livestock are swine, sheep and beef, and the youth must be able to tell the difference between meats, all mixed together in the same test display.

As an example of what members must be able to do, in retail cuts judging they must be able to identify the species from the appearance of the meat; the cuts itself, where it came from, the common name and basic methods of recommended cooking, such as frying, roasting, broiling, etc.

The coaches split up areas of responsibility according to their strengths — Hughes stresses coaching on wholesale and carcass education; Meck stresses cookery and assists with retail cuts; and Craig stresses retail cuts.

There are actually three team members' scores counted during each of the competitions, but four members are allowed to compete and the lowest score is dropped. Therefore, there really is no position on the team that the team treats as second string. No one sits on the bench, in practice or competition.

At state level competition, York County has hosted a number of winning teams and is the team to beat, Hughes said.

This past state win came with Erb taking fourth overall, Bollinger third, Landis ninth and Livengood first. The team also went to York in July and won that county's meats judging contest, held at Godfrey Brothers in Loganville.

All the members share an interest in livestock judging and animal raising, and they were all raised on farmettes, instead of the larger dairy, beef cattle or forage and grain crop operations.

Most of all, each of the team members is actively involved in their organizations.

Dwain Livengood

Dwain Livengood, 19, is the son of Earl and Joyce Livengood, who live along Morningside Drive where they have a small farm to raise and retail produce. They also have a carriage restoration business.

Dwain, a 1991 graduate of Faith Mennonite High School, is employed at the farm, learning the carriage restoration trade and helping with the vegetable truck operation.

Currently the president of the Red Rose 4-H Beef Club, Livengood also competed on the county's livestock judging team and last year was third place individual in the nation. He has one year experience in meats judging.

Wendall Landis

Wendall Landis is the team anchor, Hughes said. The 17-year-old student at Lancaster Mennonite High School, he was on last year's livestock judging team and was second in the nation individually.

The son of Abe and Dottie Landis, Manheim, Hughes said that Wendall is considered the "anchor" of the team because, although he got a late start, coming in to help after Tim Craig left to compete on the FFA team, "he judged livestock for a number of years and he picks up fast," Hughes said. "He was able to learn fast and he's excellent on (oral) reasons. Having him come on the team was a boost because it added depth."

From the left, the Lancaster County 4-H Meat Judging team, which will represent Pennsylvania this week at national competitions is comprised of members, from the left, front row, Wendall Landis, Tracy Bollinger, Angela Erb, and coach Anita Meck. In the back row, from the left, are Dwain Livingood, coach Jeff Kraig, and Chester Hughes, coach and county extension livestock agent.

Landis is currently president of the Lancaster County 4-H Woolies, and a member of the county 4-H swine club. He breeds and shows Hampshire sheep.

Tracy Bollinger

Tracy Bollinger, 15, is the daughter of Eugene and Carol Bollinger, of Manheim. A student at Manheim Central High School, she is the youngest member and is on her second year on the team.

She is currently secretary of the Lancaster County Woolies and is vice president of the county swine club.

She raises pigs and sheep as 4-H projects and is referred to by Hughes as the "glue" of the team.

"She keeps things together and keeps after the others to make practices and she has helped with recruiting members," Hughes said.

Bollinger has also helped the team financially. During the county livestock auction, she donated all the proceeds from her 4-H market swine to help cover travel expenses to Kansas City.

Her benefactory spirit apparently caught on and William Campbell, president of Hoss's Steak and Sea House, purchased Tracy's sister's pair of market swine and donated them back to the club to be sold for fund raising for the trip.

Angela Erb

Angela Erb, 16, is the daugther of Rick and Grace Erb, of Elizabethtown. Her father owns Leo Kob Co. Inc.

A friend of Bollingers, she is also a second-year team member. In addition to her knowledge, Hughes said he credits her with bringing enthusiasm to the team.

Erb is a student at Lancaster Mennonite High School and is assistant treasurer in the county Woolies club.

The team is fortunate to have a number of supportive commercial organizations and educational facilities, Hughes said.

"One of the keys to a successful (meats judging team) program is the cooperation of meat establishments," Hughes said. "We've been fortunate."

According to Hughes, in addition to the work being done at Stoltzfus's with Jeff working there, the team has been helped with pork carcass juding at Groff Meats, in Elizabethtown; beef carcass judging at John F. Martin & Sons, of Stevens; and retail meats and lamb cuts at Willie the Butcher's, part of Stauffer's of Kissel Hill on Rt. 501 near the Lancaster airport, where Tim Kreider works.

They have also been able to practice at Hess Butcher Shop in Willow Street; and in the past, before the owner retired, at the Stonebridge butcher shop.

Out of county, they have practiced at the Penn State Meats Laboratory; Taylor Packing in Wyalusing (Bradford County); and at Godfrey's.

"It's not always easy for them (the meat shops) to work around their schedules (to let us in), but these people have been very generous in allowing us to come in and work," Hughes said.

In fact, Kunzler Meats had helped get the whole program off to a start, allowing the 1985 team to come in for practice. However, since the business uses a lot of boxed meats, it doesn't offer the same educational experience as the fresh cut and carcass operations, which the competitions are based upon.

However, in the future, with the industry trends going more toward boxed wholesale meats, learning how to judge those meat products may become relevant, Hughes said.

The team is adequately financed for their trip to Kansas, Hughes said. In addition to the donations by team members, 43 different businesses, organizations, and individuals have donated funds to sponsor the team's national trip.

Major contributors include the Pennsylvania Livestock Association; Hoss's Steak and Sea House; Hatfield Quality Meats; and Pennsylvania Friends of 4-H.

The Friends of 4-H is an organization based in State College which acts as a central repository for nonspecific donations to Pennsylvania 4-H.

"We've been fortunate here with industry support helping with travel funds and we have very supportive parents," Hughes said.

The outline for the team is to arrive Tuesday evening, practice Wednesday at retail meats stores, wholesale businesses and packing plants and look at different retail names and cuts specific to that region.

The contests are held Thursday, and on Friday is an awards breakfast. On Saturday, Hughes said the team will try to go on a ranch tour, and the team will get to watch some national invitational junior steer and sheep shows during the day and a club calf sale at night. The team is to return Sunday.

According to Hughes, the teams which usually are strong at the national 4-H meats judging contest come from Florida, Alabama and Illinois.

Metzger Resigns, AGA Takes Applications

REYNOLDSBURG, Ohio — Erick A. Metzger, executive secretary-treasurer of the American Guernsey Association, has resigned his position with the organization effective Nov. 1, to assume the responsibilities of superintendent of records with The American Jersey Cattle Club.

Metzger expressed his appreciation for having the opportunity to work with the AGA and its members for nearly 10 years.

He said, "I enjoyed being involved with developing programs to accelerate the breed's genetic progress and to promote the breed domestically and internationally. Guernsey breeders have many opportunities available to them, and I wish the breed and its owners every success."

The American Guernsey Association Board of Directors has appointed Neil Jensen, currently the director of records and young sire programs, as interim executive secretary-treasurer until a replacement for Metzger is hired.

Anyone interested in applying for the executive secretary-treasurer position should direct his or her resume and questions to: AGA President E. Cline Brubaker, Route 4, Box 540, Rocky Mount, VA 24151. (703) 483-2071.

The American Guernsey Association is the national organization for the registration and promotion of Guernsey cattle and is headquartered in Reynoldsburg, Ohio.

Dean Hood To Headline Lancaster Chamber Ag Banquet

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Lamartine F. Hood, Dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station and director of Cooperative Extension at Penn State University, will be the keynote speaker at The Lancaster Chamber of Commerce & Industry's annual agricultural-industry banquet.

A Penn State graduate himself, Hood earned his B.S. in dairy science as well as his Ph.D. in food science and biochemistry there.

In addition to his work at Penn State, he is also active with the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine, serving on its board of overseers. On the state level, he also serves on the State Farm Show Commission, the State Conservation Commission, State Agricultural Land Preservation Board, and the board of directors of the Center for Rural Pennsylvania.

On the national level, Hood chairs the board on agriculture in the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges. He is a member of the executive committee of AG*SAT, a nonprofit corporation formed by 37 land grant institutions to distribute and share research, extension and resident education programming via satellite.

Before joining the Penn State faculty, Hood served as director of Cornell University's New York State Agricultural Experiment Station.

Hood's presentation entitled "PA Agriculture in the 21st Century— What Will It Take to Remain Competitive?" will examine how a global market and changing U.S. consumer expectations will influence the future of PA's agriculture industry. Of particular interest will be his thoughts on how this will affect Lancaster County's family-owned, small acreage capital- and livestock-intensive farms.

The banquet is scheduled for November 24 at the Eden Resort and Conference Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Cost is $25 per person. Chamber Farm Associates cost is $22.50 for individuals, $40 per couple. To make a reservation, call Jay Howes at the Chamber at 397-3531.

Rural Youth Observe 55th Anniversary

atheistic country, it's difficult to know where to begin to help them.

Bettie Kile Buckwalter, Lititz, led the group in singing the old familiar folk songs of Rural Youth days, assisted by a group of 10 supportive members.

Martha Stoner and Julia Moore Zahn, West Chester, spoke briefly on "What RYLC Meant to Me". It was mentioned that moral and spiritual values were evident, as well as wholesome recreation.

The Newzette was the monthly newsletter published by the members and mailed to all Rural Youth members. Roy Brubaker reviewed a number of interesting facts about the newsletter. The first one was printed in December 1939. It cost 1¢ to mail the 6-to-8 page Newzette. Each month the front cover featured a calendar showing the events for that month. There were various clubs — dramatics, craft clubs, photography, discussion clubs, leadership training, and work projects. Rural Youth formed an orchestra that played for various functions, put on plays in area high schools, operated a co-op seed service and grocery store, went on trips, had roller skating parties, box socials, and square dances. Wonderful weekends were spent at Camp Grebel, Lebanon County.

Rural Youth of Lancaster County was in existence from 1937 until 1952 when other interests, such as home and families, claimed members' time and priorities. But members say, while it lasted it was one of the most fulfilling, uplifting, educational, and fun-filled organizations that ever existed. According to one who has kept records since its inception, 66 people met their spouses through Rural Youth activities, 32 of whom attended the reunion Saturday night.

The planning committee for the reunion included: Hazel and Henry Reist, Grace Rodman, Jake Reapsome, Samuel Shenk and Martha Jane and Roy Brubaker. Samuel Shenk was master of ceremonies and the photographer was Donald Reist.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — With a recent second-place finish in regional competition, members of this year's Maryland 4-H poultry and egg judging team are gearing up for national competition on November 19 at Louisville, Ky.

The contest is a climax to the five-day National 4-H Poultry and Egg Conference that gets under way November 16 in conjunction with the North American International Livestock Exposition.

Team members are Chris Crum, 16, of New Midway (Frederick County); Kara Emory, 17, of Hughesville (Charles County); and two Queen Anne's County 15-year-olds: Charles Hood of Barclay and Kristina Reeser of Ingleside.

Maggie Boyden, 16, of Bel Alton (Charles County) will represent Maryland in the national 4-H egg preparation contest, also being held November 19 at Louisville.

Team coach for the 12th consecutive year is Charles J. Wabeck of Salisbury, an extension poultry and food products specialist at the Lower Eastern Shore Research and Education Center near Princess Anne.

In regional competition on September 26 at Richmond, Va., this year's Maryland team placed second overall and first in both the egg quality and production hen categories.

Charles Hood was the high individual among all contestants in the egg quality class, while Kristina Reeser placed fourth. Charles was fifth in ready-to-cook poultry judging.

Chris Crum and Kara Emory also placed among the top ten in at least two categories.

Fall Classic Sale Averages $1,841

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 1992 Nittany Lion Fall Classic Holstein sale held last Saturday netted $123,347 on 67 lots for an average of $1,841.

According to sales chairman David Lentz, it was a good sale with an estimated 300 people attending. The sale is held in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Holstein Association to raise funds for the Penn State University Dairy Science Club.

Lentz said the 1992 Fall Classic was one of the highest grossing ever because of the quality of consignments. He said the club-run sale went very smoothly with everyone involved working and cooperating exceptionally well.

Two main fund raising events are held annually by the club — the Fall Classic sale and a Christmas cheese box sale. Currently, and up until Thanksgiving, any of the 80 members of the club will be taking orders for the cheese boxes, which contain a variety of cheeses and are design as gifts. Call Dr. Larry Muller at (814) 863-4205 for more information.

The proceeds from both fund raisers go toward a variety of dairy science educational programs including the Penn State Spring Invitational, which is a spring dairy judging contest open to 4-H and FFA members across the state.

Funds are also used for the Dairy Expo, also a youth-directed educational event which is held in the Ag Arena in late April; and funds also help sponsor club members on their spring educational farm tour trips.

The top-selling lot of the sale was consigned by Gerry Taylor, of Delta. She sold for $3,550 to Paul and Dee Courter, of Mill Hall.

A Very Good 87-point (VEEV) Walkway Chief Mark daughter bred to Rothrock Tradition Leadman, the 3-year, 8-month-old posted a first lactation record of 22,960 pounds of milk with 784 pounds of fat and 671 pounds of protein.

Her dam was a Very Good-85 with a 4-year-old lactation of 20,980 pounds milk, 709 fat and 665 protein.

Dairy Farmers Can Help Selves By Exploring Exports

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Dairy farmers can boost milk sales, reduce the government surplus of dairy products, and hold steady the price they get for their raw product by pushing for new exports, dairy officials said at Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's annual meeting recently.

Eastern President Lewis Gardner, who operates a farm with his wife and sons in Galeton, Pa. said farmers could do more to help themselves by working together to explore export opportunities.

That's why, he said, Eastern and other co-ops are trying to organize another food airlift to Russia this winter.

Unlike last winter, when Northeast farmers donated 10 tons of dairy products to schools and orphanages in Moscow, Gardner said this time the goal is twofold:

- To donate a significantly larger amount of products — 100 to 200 tons of food.
- To send negotiators with the humanitarian aid who would discuss export sales with officials of the former Soviet bloc countries.

A keynote speaker at the annual meeting — Bob Gray, executive director of the Washington-based Council of Northeast Farmer Cooperatives — said the former Soviet Union not only needs to import dairy products with the collapse of its own communist-run farms, but also is able to take advantage of U.S. export credits and loan guarantees to pay for food.

Both Gardner and Gray called on the U.S. government to eliminate bureaucratic hurdles that make it difficult for farmers to participate in a government-assisted export program.

"You can't join the program without export experience," Gardner said, "but you can't get export experience" without the help of the government program.

Honors Unadilla Farmer

Noel Davis of Unadilla, N.Y. received Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's Dedicated Service Award at the co-op's annual banquet in Syracuse, N.Y. recently.

Davis, who is retiring after serving nine years on Eastern's board of directors, was cited for "years of hard, dependable work on behalf of Eastern farmers and the co-op." Eastern President Lewis Gardner presented the award.

During his tenure on the board, Davis has served in various positions, including secretary and assistant secretary-treasurer, and as chairman of several committees.

Profits For Cash Bonuses

Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative paid out $868,524 in profits to dairy farmers in the form of cash bonuses before ending the fiscal year with net proceeds of $128,524, co-op officials announced at Eastern's annual meeting.

That payout, while not the largest, continues a practice started by the board of directors in 1987 to return profits monthly to member farmers in the form of extra cash premiums, rather than retaining profits in the co-op.

As a result, President Lewis Gardner noted, Eastern returned more than $4.7 million in profits to farmers. That included $300,000 in fiscal 1988, $600,000 in fiscal 1989, $1.2 million in fiscal 1990, $1.8 million in fiscal 1991, and nearly $869,000 in fiscal 1992.

Net proceeds of $128,524 were up from last year's $10,275. General Manager Michael Donovan said the co-op had sales of $212,468,314 on 1.6 billion pounds of milk, compared to $216,705,978 the previous year on the same volume of milk. Eastern, as the marketing arm for members, passed the majority of those sales dollars to farmers through twice-a-month milk checks.

Honors Top Farmers, Field Rep, Journalist

A Pennsylvania dairy farmer who made Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's top 10 list for the past four years is Eastern's 1992 Quality Farmer of the Year.

That means Bruce Bartley Jr. of Cogan Station, Pa. produces "the best quality milk" in the entire co-op, which includes more than 3,000 farms in a nine-state area, Eastern Membership Manager Tony Schlesier said.

The top quality farmer says that he doesn't develop work habits with the idea of winning awards, but that worrying about cleanliness every day apparently makes a difference.

The Bartleys raise corn and alfalfa on 100 acres to feed their 40 milking cows and 20 heifers.

Top 10 Farmers

Nine other farms from New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont join the Bartley dairy on this year's list of top 10 quality producers. In alphabetical order, those top quality farmers are John and Gail Bunting, Treadwell, N.Y.; Mrs. Ruth Chesney, Martinsburg, Pa.; Francis Dynda Jr., Port Allegany, Pa.; Harvey and Faith English, Shortsville, N.Y.; Alfred and Susan Gibbs, Slate Hill, N.Y.; Pricilla Kintner, Corbettsville, N.Y.; Ronald and Virginia Lindgren, Granville, N.Y.; Daniel Peet, Richmond, Vt.; and Charles Walker, Geneva, N.Y.

"These top ten farmers are among a total of 113 who will receive gold seal certificates for producing outstanding quality milk," said Schlesier, Eastern's membership manager. "Another 600 farmers will be receiving quality awards for producing milk that exceed our quality standards."

The awards were presented at Eastern's annual banquet. Other honors were announced at the banquet.

Robin Breeding of Greenwood, Del., was named Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's Field Representative of the Year for "outstanding service to members" and for "superior management" of his assigned territory.

With Eastern since 1976, Breeding works as a quality control inspector and member recruiter in Delaware, Maryland, and New Jersey.

Before joining Eastern, he attended Shepherds College in Shepherdstown, W.Va., where he was graduated with a degree in biology.

Rod Fry, owner/operator of Rod Fry Trucking of Muncy, Pa., received Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's 1992 Driver Recognition Award.

Fry, who has hauled milk for Eastern for 15 years, was cited for "outstanding service to Eastern farmers" and for "following precise sampling techniques to ensure product quality."

His five-truck operation picks up 165,000 pounds of milk daily from Eastern members, including the co-op's 1992 Farmer of the Year, Bruce Bartley Jr. of Cogan Station, Pa.

Gordin Conklin, editor of American Agriculturalist magazine for more than two and a half decades, was honored by Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative with its 1992 Distinguished Service to Agriculture Award.

Conklin, who is now editor emeritus of the magazine, was cited for "a distinguished lifetime of service to agriculture in the Northeast as a teacher, communicator, and promoter of farmers and their way of life."

Ralph Denslow of Boonville, N.Y. received Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative's Dedicated Service Award during the co-op's annual banquet.

Denslow, who is retiring after serving nine years on Eastern's board of directors, was cited for "years of hard, dependable work" on behalf of farmers and the co-op. President Lewis Gardner presented the award.

An active member of the cooperative since 1950, Denslow was president of Eastern's Boonville Local for three years and was a delegate for 18 years before being elected to his first term on the board in 1983.

This Holstein Calf Goes To Lancaster Banquet

MOUNT JOY (Lancaster Co.) — The stylish, growthy calf, Shelmar Acres Bkstr Brenna, will not have far to go to the Lancaster County Holstein banquet. She was born only a few miles from the Country Table Restaurant where the local Holstein breeders will hold their annual get-together next Friday evening.

Brenna will go to the banquet because the Shellenberger family (Harold, Cindy, Mitch, Amber, and Andrea) have joined with the Lancaster Association to present her to one of the county Holstein youths who have submitted their project books for judging. The youth with the winning project will take her home from the banquet.

The calf born September 1, 1992 is just the right age for showing. But Harold said while showing the calf is part of the deal, he wanted to give a calf that has a good pedigree from a good cow family too. Brenna certainly has a good pedigree. Her dam has been milking more than 110 pounds for the first two months on test after making a 22,270m, 716f, 691p milk record as a five-year-old. The next two dams are high producing cows with good type and longevity. For those who keep track of these things, the deep pedigree lists the dam as a Rotate, out of a Pete, out of an Apollo, out of an Ivanhoe. How's that for a pedigree?

In addition, the calf's sire is To-Mar Black Star-ET, the top TPI Bull in the breed according to the July 1992 summary.

Youth awards to be presented at the banquet include recognition at the Black and White Show, the county distinguished junior member contest, and project forms recognition. Also awards will be presented for the member with the highest county milk, fat, and pro-

Yield Test Corn Plots Harvested

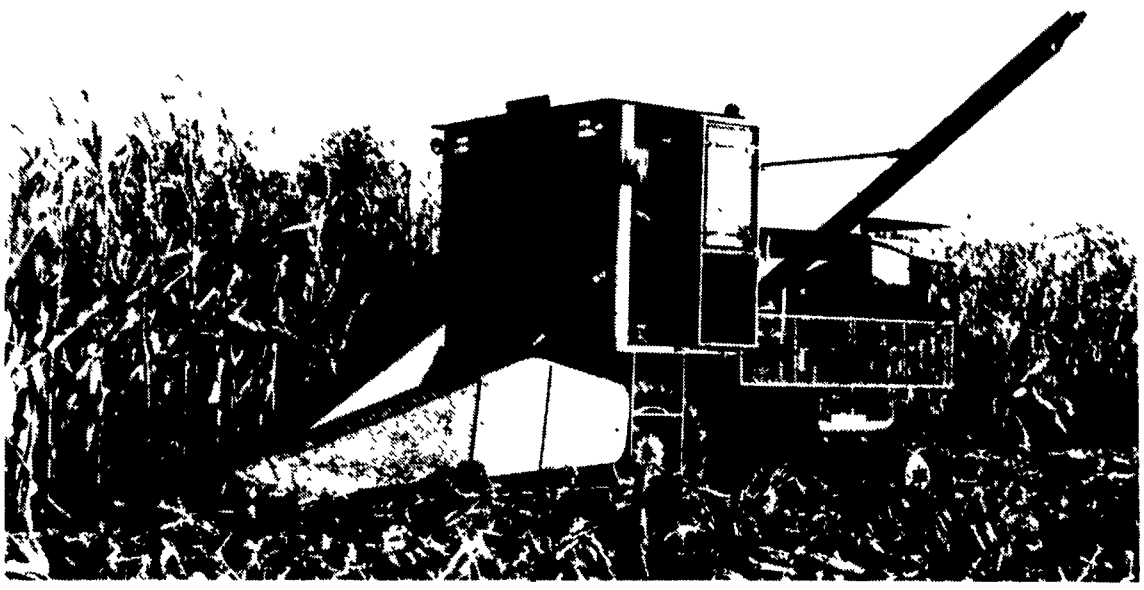
MASCOT (Lancaster Co.) — "Corn yields are very good across the country," said Gary Stuart, corn breeder for AgriPro Seeds. Stwart was in Lancaster County Tuesday and Wednesday to help P. L Rohrer & Bros. Inc., local distributor, harvest test plots.

The company has 72 test plots located across the U.S. and in 10 locations in Europe. Stuart is responsible for 10,000 rows located in Indiana, Ohio, western Kentucky, southern Michigan and the plots in Lancaster County. A row is 15 feet long. In winter he works with an additional 1,000 rows in Hawaii. Fifty percent of the hybrids that are tested here are also planted in Spain and Italy.

"Yields here and in other areas have reached nearly 200 bushels," Stuart said. "In western Kentucky, southern Indiana and southern Illinois yields have averaged 200 bushels. Around Lafayette, Indiana, production is down to about 170 bushels. We had cool wet weather in northern Iowa, South Dakota and Minnesota, which is hurting yields. It is probably hurting the production of commercial seed corn more than regular corn harvest. There has been some seed corn lost to frost, but I don't know how much yet," Stuart said.

The test plots are harvested with a combine especially made to weigh and moisture-test the grain at the end of each 15-foot row. In about 35 seconds, all yield data is compiled into a computer and the machine moves on to the next short row. Stuart has a four-week period when he harvests seed from test plots and then a five-week period for harvesting yield plots in his area. The Lancaster plots nearly finsished out the harvest requirements for this year in the U.S. But new plots were planted this week in Hawaii. After Christmas, Stuart will move to those plots for pollenization.

Stuart said almost everwhere in the country corn harvest was three weeks behind normal. Planting was normal, but the cool wet weather just did not give them the heat units needed to bring the corn on earlier.



Harvesting the yield test plots for P. L Rohrer and AgriPro. The local plots are part of a nationwide series of test plots to determine the best hybrids for each growing area.

Lebanon Holstein Recognizes Youth

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

SCHAEFFERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Lebanon Holstein Club held its annual banquet last week at Schaefferstown Fire Hall and officials reported on association business, elected new directors, and recognized the achievements of the organization's junior members.

Elected to serve as county directors were Duane Nolt, Mike Fair and Bruce Bollinger.

According to Alan Hostetter, state director, the state association fees are to stay the same for the coming year. He also said that Lebanon members should be proud of their status as a leading Holstein breeding county in Pennsylvania. "The county can be proud. It ranks with any county in the state," he said.

Hostetter also said that he has one year left in his term as state director and he said he wanted members to consider running for the position. He said the experience representing the county at the state level has been especially rewarding, because of the respect, reputation and performance of Lebanon County's 184 members.

In other business, Clarence Stauffer, with the state association, reported to members that while prices are to stay the same, there has been some major changes at the state and national level.

Last Wednesday, the national area office was closed down. Members who need information should call Stauffer or call the national headquarters at Brattleboro, Vt.

He said that, because of the poor economy, 60 fewer people are now working and registration turnaround is about the same. He said in addition to office personnel, "a couple of consultants went as well."

Stauffer also reminded members that with the advent of the new program to "register" grade animals, the organization is now applicable for many more dairy cattle enthusiasts. He said that members should just talk to people and explain the marketing benefits of the association, plus the fellowship, activities and educational advantages available.

He also announced that he was seeking about a hundred, 300-pound calves with strong sires and dams for sale.

Also, he said that the Middletown facility is to see increased use as a holding area for cattle. Stauffer said that in the past, many buyers from the South used to come up and go on farm visits to pick over cattle at the farm.

He said now the buyers prefer to come to one place, look over several hundred and select from the larger group. He said that the state plan is to stockpile some cattle at the farm so that buyers can arrive and do business without undue delays.

Bill Allan was hired September to manage the Middletown farm and to manage sales. He replaced Jeff Harding who left to manage a 700-cow freestall operation.

In other business, it was announced that members who renew membership prior to Dec. 1 qualify for a 5-percent fee discount.

It was also announced that plans for the state conventions (Junior Association for Feb. 5,6 and 7; state for Jan. 18,19 and 20 at the Ramada Inn in Wilkes-Barre) are being settled and that consignments for the sale will start being taken on Nov. 19.

In awards, Dan Groff presented a county Hosltein Association scholarship to David Lentz, son of Robert and Sandra Lentz. David is a student at Penn State University, president of the PSU Dairy Science club; sale chairman of the 1992 Fall Classic, and county association director, who has been a member of two state dairy bowl teams and won numerous other honors.

Lentz was attending school and was unable to accept the scholarship in person. His mother accepted on his behalf.

The county's youth have manned the top dairy bowl teams for two of the past three years and have been widely recognized for their involvement and achievements in dairy industry and youth programs.

Every year awards are presented to those youth whose registered Holsteins produced the most milk and milk components, according to cow-age class.

In the 2-year-old cow class, the top cow for milk production was owned by Christopher Wagner. She produced 23,891 pounds. A cow owned by his sister Stephanie Wagner was second with 23,055 pounds. Regan Miller had the third highest with 20,750 pounds of milk.

In the 2-year-old class for fat production, Stephanie's cow made 978 pounds, while brother Chris's made 815 pounds. A cow owned by Troy Miller was third with 740 pounds of fat.

In the 2-year-old, the top for protein was Stephanie' cow with 716 pounds; followed by Chris's with 696 pounds. Amanda Martin's cow had the third highest protein production for 2-year-olds with 574 pounds.

Among the 3-year-old cows, Michelle Mase's made the most milk, with 28,721 pounds. Troy Getz's cow was second with 26,683 pounds of milk, followed closely by Todd Getz's which made 26,336 pounds.

Michelle Mase's cow led the 3-year-olds with fat production, making 1,020 pounds, while Troy Getz's made second most fat with 953 pounds. Todd Getz's cow was third with 945 pounds.

In protein production, Michelle Mase's cow made 882 pounds, followed again by Troy Getz's cow with 862 pounds protein and Todd

"We have a unique situation in Bedford County," says Bill Slack, a county conservationist. "We don't have much conflict between the hunters and the farmers as they do in some counties. Here, many of our farmers are hunters. And, the hunters are the first to understand the problem and agree that more licenses have to be issued."

Clark says, "The Game Commission admits it takes 3 1/2 licenses to kill one deer. We could easily have sold 5,000 more licenses here, increased the game commission's revenue, our own revenue, and made a lot of hunters and farmers all happy."

The Conservation office is working on a new counting method which will be applied over the winter months and presented to the Game Commission before next year's assessment is made.

Atlantic Dairy To Celebrate 75th Anniversary

SOUTHAMPTON (Bucks Co.) — Atlantic Dairy Cooperative's 1992 annual meeting will be more than just a report on the past fiscal year — it will be a celebration of 75 years of serving dairy farmers throughout the Middle Atlantic region.

During the past several months, Atlantic's staff has been busily preparing for the cooperative's diamond anniversary. The celebration will take place Nov. 19-20 at the Lancaster Host Resort in Lancaster, Pa.

Among the activities will be special guest speakers and the recognition of Atlantic's founding member families. A commemorative booklet of the cooperative's history will be distributed, and a video titled "The Family Tree" will debut at the annual banquet.

"We have much to be proud about," said Dr. Paul E. Hand, general manager. "Atlantic has a long and successful history, and we look forward to sharing this milestone with our members and guests."

The meeting will begin at 9:45 a.m. on Nov. 19 with reports by Atlantic's officers and staff. The morning session will conclude by noon, and a buffet lunch will be served. The afternoon session will begin at 1:20 p.m. with a report by Atlantic's general manager, Dr. Paul E. Hand. The guest speaker will be Jack E. Gherty, president and chief executive officer of Land O'Lakes Cooperative.

The annual banquet will begin Thursday night at 6:15 p.m. in the Showroom. Orion Samuelson, a well-known farm broadcaster, will serve as master of ceremonies. The guest speaker will be TV and

Dairy Production Diseases, Economics Seminar

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — An agricultural business-sponsored seminar on dairy production diseases and economics has been scheduled for Dec. 10 at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

The seminar is to feature two prominent experts in dairy academia — Dr. George Haenlein, chairman of the animal science and agricultural biochemistry department at University of Delaware, and a frequent contributor to Lancaster Farming and other publications; and Dr. George Looby, ambulatory clinician at Tufts University College of Veterinary Medicine.

Looby is to talk about production economics and emphasize a mastitis prevention program.

Haenlein is to discuss trend indicators and in what direction the industry seems to be going.

The seminar is not associated with any specific group, but is being offered through the efforts and support of 17 different agriculturally related businesses and veterinarians in order to benefit the producer and thus strengthen the foundation of the industry.

The seminar is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is a $5-per-person fee which is to be collected at the door and is to help cover the cost of facilities and lunch, which is included. The seminar is open to all dairy farmers and anyone with an interest in the dairy industry.

Those businesses supporting the seminar include Agri Inc., Ephrata; Edward Mimnagh VMD, Hershey; Hoechst-Rousell Agri Vet. Co., Manheim; Monsanto Agricultural Co., Liverpool, N.Y.; Shering-Plough Animal Health, Lancaster; West Agro Inc., Springfield; Atlantic Breeders Co-op, Lancaster; Elizabethville Veterinary Hospital, Elizabethville; Keystone Farm Credit ACA, Lancaster; Merck Agvet, Newark, Del.; Sire Power, Tunkhannock; York Farm Credit ACA, York; Commonwealth Financial Group, Dillsburg; Hershey Chocolate Co., Hershey; L.W. We Take Customer Satisfaction Personally

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Her frustration seemed reasonable.

After twelve years in school, another four in college and continuing full-time studies combined with work in pursuit of a graduate degree, the voice on the other end fo the 2,500-mile phone connection sounded weary.

Though our daughter enjoys college life, even when combined with marriage and work, the study demands of higher education are beginning to tell. She confessed on this weekly long-distance visit that she was absolutely ready to be done with books, projects and sometimes—seemingly—senseless assignments.

"I just am ready to get on with my life," the voice sighed, knowing that several months of studies and homework remained until the end of spring semester.

My reply was a typically motherly one. It only-half laughing suggested that life itself is a series of demands, projects, an sometimes—seemingly—senseless assignments.

"Are you saying my life is homework?" she joked.

Indeed. Life is homework.

Like math, for instance. Unlike the talking Barbie doll which recently caused a fuss, many of us did not feel as kids that "math class is tough." (Luckily, I never had to study the likes of advanced algebra, calculus or trig.)

Real-life math class is tough. Stretching the paychecks to cover a family's needs is a daily homework challenged for most household accountants.

Our farm math homework offers all sorts of creative reading problems like how to deal with a major equipment breakdown expenses, livestock that still eats heartily despite continuing droughts and increasing taxes to cover endless public spending.

Not to mention most families' routine math assignments like car payments, house payments, college payments, utility payments and balancing checkbooks.

Your lender will grade and issue you a report card mark periodically.

Then there's English, always one of my favorites. Unfortunately, English Literature or business writing never quite prepared most of us for comprehending the likes of: "For more information on accountable plans, nonaccountable plans, amounts treated as substiantiated under a per diem or mileage allowance, the standard mileage rate, the per diem substantation method and the high-low substantiation method, see Regulations section 1.62-2, Rev. Proc 90-59..." etc.

(Taken from the Internal Revenue Service's 1992 Federal Employment Tax Forms — and a reminder of how grateful we are to George, our Farm Credit tax expert, whose better at such "English," than we are).

And where would our schools and communities be if we didn't do our civics social studies homework regularly?

Social Studies assignments range from volunteering on municipal boards and as teachers' aides, serving as a 4-H or Scout leader, coaching playground sports, writing a letter to the editor about an issue, even simply not littering.

If you didn't complete your social studies/civics lifetime homework assignment this week by voting, go to the blackboard and write "I will not complain about the government for the next four years" one thousand times.

Don't forget health and phys ed homework, increasingly important as we age. Regular exercise assignments, preferably out in the fresh air, sensible eating and one big project due annually — a complete physical.

A little "junk food" cheating is tolerated, as long as it doesn't disrupt the rest of the class.

Yes, dear daughter, life is indeed homework.

And it is perfectly normal and human to have occasional days when one simply doesn't feel up to completing the assignment and may need to fall back on the array of logical excuses with which to beg an extension.

"My dog ate it," probably won't work.

World's Most Reusable Resource

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Look closely at the next penny you see and consider these bright facts about copper:

The copper on that penny may be as old as the pharaohs, because copper has an infinite recyclable life. Copper, by itself or in any of its alloys, such as brass or bronze, is used over and over again.

Copper was first used by humans more than 10,000 years ago. A copper pendant discovered in what is now northern Iraq has been dated about 8700 B.C.

Known worldwide copper resources are estimated at nearly 5.8 trillion pounds of which only about 0.7 trillion pounds (12%) have been mined throughout history... and nearly all of that is still in circulation, because copper's recycling rate is higher than that of any other engineering metal.

Each year in the U.S.A., nearly as much copper is recovered from recycled material as is derived from newly mined ore. And when you exclude wire production, most of which uses newly refined copper, the amount of copper used by copper and brass mills, ingot makers, foundries, powder plants and other industries shows that nearly three-fourths (72%) comes from recycled copper scrap.

More than half of this scrap is "new" scrap, such as chips and turnings from screw machine production. The remainder is "old" scrap, such as discarded electric cable, junked automobile radiators or ancient Egyptian plumbing. (Yes, it's been around that long!)

Copper's recycling value is so great that premium-grade scrap normally has at least 95% of the value of the primary metal from newly mined ore.

According to Robert M. Payne, president of the Copper Development Association Inc., "Our ability to reuse copper extracted from recycled product is a tribute to an industry that's environmentally conscious regarding its use of natural resources on behalf of consumes."

For the past three years, the U.S. copper industry has been a net exporter of copper throughout the world. Last year we exported 9.6% more than we imported — the highest ratio since World War II.

And that's the copper clad truth.

Dear Golden Pride/Rawleigh

My husband and I have been taking FORMULAS FOR HEALTH for . a year or more. We are feeling real well and doing more than we have in years

We both take Formulas #1 and #4 I take Formula #8 for problems I was having with my colostomy which I had in November of 1982 for ulcerative colitis I take two tablets 20 minutes before each meal or two hours after meals if I forget

Since I started on Formula #4, Propolis, I have had better health. I have a mitral valve prolapse Before going to the dentist, I have to take antibiotics that upset my stomach. I'm so happy to have Formula #4. I take it every day before meals and double up on it if I go to the dentist or feel a symptom of a cold coming on. It is natural and can't upset the stomach.

We also take Formula #1 for good health as it helps all our problems, expecially arthritis. I take a teaspoon each morning before breakfast and a teaspoon before going to sleep.

Thank God for Golden Pride's FORMULAS FOR HEALTH and Harry Hersey.
Mr. and Mrs. Burbage Buchanan

Dear Golden Pride:

I had a cholesterol test on January 25 that was 301. I started on Formula #7, Bee III on January 26 at three per day for three days when I stopped using it because of flushing. From January 29 to February 15 I took a total of only 12 capsules and then resumed using three capsules per day until the bottle was empty on February 26. Since March 4, I have been on three per day again. On March 26, I had a second test and was down to 269 with no diet change. (That's a drop of 32 points!)

Miniature Roses Fashioned From Bread

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Most people eat bread, but Carol Lee Shirk of Landisville makes roses from it. She uses the dainty roses to make jewelry and to decorate accessories for a Victorian accent.

Recently Carol Lee taught a class on making roses at the Lancaster County Extension office. She also taught the class to make Victorian angels, baskets, wreaths, and Christmas balls accented with the homemade roses.

Carol Lee's recipe for the homemade roses is simple:

2 slices of white bread
1 tablespoon tacky glue

"For best results, do not use Italian bread or dry bread," Carol Lee said.

Tear off the crusts. Break the bread into tiny pieces almost crumb size.

Mix together the glue and the bread crumbs. Add the desired shade of acrylic paint. Knead the mixture with your hands until the bread crumbs disappear and the mixture feels like putty.

Take a small pea size portion of the mixture and press paper thin into an oblong shape. Roll lengthwise and gently curl back the edges until it looks like the center of a rosebud. Press tiny round shapes for petals and press against the center of the rose bud. The petals should be placed slightly higher than center part. Use three to four petals for a rosebud or more until you get the desired size.

The rosebud is then ready to attach to a jewelry pin or used as a Victorian accent to a variety of accessories. Make leaves by adding green paint to the mixture and form into leaf shapes and attach to bottom of rose.

The rosebuds made from bread and glue combined with dried materials make attractive bouquets.

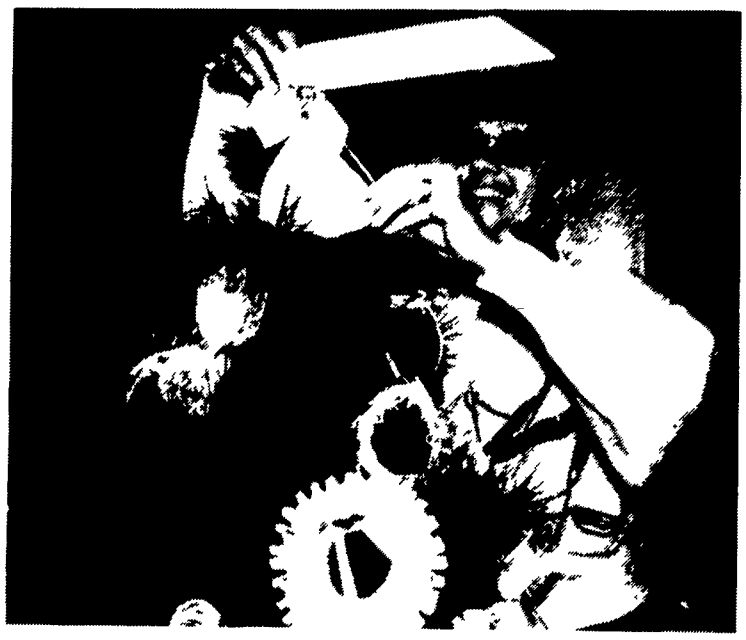
To make a Victorian angel, you need a 4-inch square of netting for the head. A 4-inch square of eyelet material for the wings, and a 6-inch square of eyelet material for the skirt.

Crumble potpourri and place about a teaspoon in the center of the netting. Twist the netting around the potpourri to form a round shape for the head. Tie tightly with a piece of thread.

Pleat the eyelet material for the wings and the skirt in accordion style. Place head in the center of the skirt with head just touching the skirt material. Threads should lay in front of the skirt. Tie 12-inch length of ⅛ -inch ribbon around neck to keep the head and skirt in place. Wait to trim thread and ribbon when angel is finished.

Place pleated wings in center top of skirt and fasten.

Glue petal from Money Plant on top of angel's head. Glue a tiny rosebud at neck or tie a ribbon bow around it.



During a Lancaster County Extension workshop, Carol Lee Shirk demonstrated how she uses the miniature rosebuds to decorate the handmade ornaments on her Christmas tree.

"This year we ran the Aer-Way over half the land where we had harvested corn silage. We then spread between 4,000-5,000 gallons of liquid manure per acre and disked the seed bed to prepare for small grains. We were absolutely amazed at the difference where we used the Aer-Way and one disking. My non-Aer-Wayed ground was disked 3 to 4 times and still wasn't as good. I would recommend the Aer-Way to other farmers as it softens the ground and lets rain and manure penetrate instead of running off."

"Earlier this spring, I used the Aer-Way Implement and Aer-Way chain harrow on my rolling pastureland. This was done to open up the ground to get water into the sloping grasslands. At the same time I pulled the Aer-Way chain harrow to scatter the cattle manure around. Even after the dry summer we had, I noticed that the Aer-Wayed ground held the moisture better and we got thicker and taller regrowth where we ran the machine."
Dr. Rex Wilhelm D.V.M., Stuart, Iowa

"I have better pastures since I started using the Aer-Way to aerate and renovate my pastures. Using the Aer-Way has helped me get the nutrients where they are needed. I would not recommend fertilizing or liming without running the Aer-Way first."

Farm Wife Harvests Saffron: World's Most Expensive Spice

It's a time consuming affair to dry, measure, weight saffron on the apothecaries' scales, and keep records of the harvest, but Evelyn said that she thrives on tedious, detailed work.

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — While frost has numbed the brilliant show of autumn flowers across the county, a surprising phenomenon is taking place at the farm of Wade and Evelyn Groff. Every sunny fall day purple crocus-like flowers pop open along the meadow where the Holsteins graze.

These are no ordinary flowers. They're saffron, which contains the costliest spice on the market. The purple flowers cradle the reddish-orange stems or stigmas that are dried and used to season and color foods.

To see the hundreds of dainty purple flowers, which Evelyn gathers daily, one might derive that saffron is plentiful. But the bounty is deceiving, for it takes 70,000 flowers to produce one pound of saffron. If sold commercially, saffron rivals ounce for ounce the price of gold.

A few, who are as industrious as Evelyn, grow their own saffron to avoid paying the costly prices. But not everyone is willing to pay the price of an aching back and the tedious hours required to extract the saffron.

"Gardening is my thing," Evelyn said. "Nothing I like better than to grow than fresh vegetables."

The time-consuming business of plucking the flowers from the plants, sorting them into piles of 10, pulling the flower apart to remove the stigmas, drying the stigmas, weighing and packaging the saffron is pure pleasure for Evelyn.

"It's definitely a hobby but last year, I almost got tired of it because the biggest picking took me eight hours in one day," Evelyn said.

The flowers deteriorate rapidly if not picked each day. Ants and aphids get after the flowers, but Evelyn doesn't spray the flowers.

The appearance of the purple flowers is like a mystery. According to Evelyn, the plants lie dormant during the summer months until the end of September or beginning of October, when the foliage suddenly appears. Three to four weeks later the purple crocuses bloom over a period of three weeks. The foliage stays green all winter. The foliage is about three inches in height now and by the end of winter will be 12- to 14-inches tall. During May and June the bulbs are completely dormant, with no signs that they are planted in the ground. But the work in the saffron patch continues as Evelyn must keep the area clean and free of weeds.

It's always a complete surprise for Evelyn to see how many plants will bloom. Each plant produces from one to three flowers.

"I have no idea how many will bloom until the day they bloom," Evelyn said.

This year, so far, the saffron flowers did not produce as large a harvest as last year. Evelyn suspects the rainy cool weather hindered the growth.

Last year's drought produced a bonanza crop and enabled Evelyn to give away and sell saffron. In addition, the bulbs multiplied profusely.

The saffron bulbs must be dug up and replanted every three to four years. The transplanting takes place during July and August. One bulb may multiply as many as 10 to 30 bulbs in a three to four year period. Evelyn replants the bulbs six inches apart. She gives away and sells many of the bulbs, which vary in price depending upon the size of the bulbs.

"It's a big job, and I don't make money at it," Evelyn said.

She finds pleasure in working with the plants and keeps extensive written records of where and when the bulbs are planted, how each is fertilized, and how much and when each plant produces.

Her record harvest was 2,023 flowers gathered in one day.

The stigmas are dried in the microwave. Evelyn places 50 of the stigmas in a custard cup lined with a paper towel. The microwave is set for two minutes. If they are not dry and wiry within that period, she sets the microwave for one minute longer.

The saffron is weighed and sold by grains. It takes about 17 grains to a gram. If stored in a dry, airtight container, the spice retains its flavor for many years.

While many believe saffron to be primarily a Pennsylvania Dutch spice, history proves otherwise.

"It's an old spice used in Egypt," Evelyn said. "According to the Bible, King Solomon used saffron."

When Evelyn first considered growing the spice, she did not know if the weather and growing season of the county were compatible with the spice.

"But I looked on the map and saw that we live in the same latitude as southern Spain where much of the saffron is grown," Evelyn said.

About 15 years ago, Evelyn ordered some saffron bulbs from a seed catalogue, but the bulbs did not grow. The following year, she heard of a countian selling the bulbs so she purchased 80. The first year, only one flower bloomed, which is typical for small bulbs.

"I read everything I could find about growing saffron," Evelyn said. "Saffron likes loose soil, bone meal fertilizer, and dry weather."

Evelyn also grows hundreds of gladiolus. Many of them are given to shut-ins whom she and husband visit as a ministry. The remainder are sold from their home at 644 Beaver Valley Pike, Lancaster, PA 17602.

Saffron is used to flavor many foods. To season noodles, rice, potpie, chicken corn soup, sweet potatoes, roast chicken, filling, potatoes and most other dishes, less than ¼ teaspoon is required.

"If the flavor is too strong, most people don't like it," Evelyn said.

Many of the recipes that Evelyn uses are in her head, but here is one that she believes readers will enjoy making.

After Evelyn gathers the flowers, she separates them into piles of 10 for easy calculation. She has collected as many as 2,023 blooms in one day.

YELLOW RICE

2 cups chicken broth
1 cup rice
½ teaspoon salt
Small onion
1 bay leaf
⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
Pinch saffron
½ green pepper
1½ cups bite-size chicken.

Fry onion and garlic in oil until lightly browned. Add chicken broth. Bring to boil. Add remaining ingredients except chicken. Stir well. Boil one minute. Cover tightly and reduce heat to low for 20 minutes. Top with chicken.

Consumption of rice in the U.S. has doubled in the last decade. Americans now consume almost 20 pounds per person per year.

Over 80% of the nation's restaurants offer rice on their menu and 72% of them make it available to their patrons every day.

Rice is the single most important food in the world and is a major staple in the world's cuisines... rice is grown on all continents except Antarctica.

Curious Holsteins watch as Evelyn Groff daily picks the purple saffron flowers from which she extracts the reddish-orange stigmas to dry for saffron.

Breads, Muffins Rise In Popularity

Muffins and quick breads are the easiest of baked goods to prepare, so there is absolutely no need to serve the store-made variety. Instead of yeast, they rely on baking powder or baking soda for a light and tender dough. With no rising time necessary, muffins and quick breads are a superlative fast food. And with the basic staples on hand — flour, baking powder, sugar, eggs, and milk, it is a simple matter of mixing the ingredients. The batter is mixed and ready to bake in less than 10 minutes; just the time needed to heat the oven. The batter is then spooned into lightly-greased pans and baked for about 20 minutes for muffins, an hour for quick breads. Since the arrival of nonstick pans and cooking spray, muffin and bread making is even more convenient.

A recently released cookbook, All the Best Muffins and Quick Breads, published by Hearst Books, is available for $8 from your local bookstore. More than 60 exquisite recipes that are simple to make and satisfying to eat are included in the cookbook.

If you have more time, you'll want to try yeast breads. Although more time and effort is required for kneading and rising, the taste is difficult to beat.

CHEESY RED PEPPER CORN BREAD

2¼ cups cornmeal
2¼ cups flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
2½ cups buttermilk
¼ cup butter, melted
1 cup shredded Provolone cheese
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1 cup chopped roasted red peppers

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Sift together cornmeal, flour, baking powder, soda, and salt in large bowl. In medium bowl, whisk together eggs, buttermilk, and butter. Stir in cheeses and peppers. Add to dry ingredients, stirring just until combined. Spoon into two buttered loaf pans. Bake 60 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from oven and let cool about 5 minutes. Turn onto wire rack, cool completely.

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY MUFFINS

2 cups all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
2 large eggs
½ cup creamy peanut butter
1 cup milk
¼ cup butter, melted
½ cup chopped unsalted peanuts
About ⅓ cup grape jelly

Adjust oven rack to top third position; preheat oven to 400 degrees. Coat 12-cup muffin pan with vegetable spray.

Thoroughly mix flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt in large bowl. In medium bowl, blend eggs and peanut butter with wooden spoon until smooth. Stir in milk, butter, and peanuts. Pour liquid mixture over dry ingredients and fold in with rubber spatula just until combined; do not overmix.

Fill muffin cups a little less than ½ full with batter. With finger, make small indentation in middle of each one and fill with heaping teaspoon of jelly. Top up each one with remaining batter — jelly doesn't have to be completely covered. Bake for 20 minutes or until golden. Turn out onto rack and allow to cool a little before serving. Makes 12 muffins.

Stir into flour mixture just until batter is combined. Spoon into muffin cups; fill to top. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes or until tester inserted into center comes out clean.

Have You Heard?

No Time To Cook

If you are like most busy people, you may feel there are not enough hours in the day to get your work done, run your household, and still cook nutritious meals.

With the following tips, you and your family can enjoy healthy, delicious, varied meals with a minimum of fuss.

Where do you begin? Shop smart, purchasing nutritious foods that cook quickly. Enlist the aid of all your kitchen "helpers" that make traditionally time-consuming jobs go faster. Then get creative!

Time is a precious commodity, but a little preliminary planning will save time in the kitchen. You can save time on meal preparation and grocery shopping if you plan your menus and keep a ready reference of quick recipes. It may seem daunting to sit down and determine what you will have to eat for the week, but it is worth the effort.

Use the weekly ads to help plan your menus around featured meat, seafood, and poultry items and seasonal foods. Planning ahead allows you to make only one or two trips to the grocery store each week, which saves a considerable amount of time and money.

After you have planned your menus, make a written shopping list. Make your list according to the layout of the store to save time, and buy fewer impulse items. Don't forget to take the shopping list with you when you go to the supermarket.

To make your shopping trip smoother, try not to go at peak hours when you will be rushed into unwise selections by impatient shoppers. By shopping early in the morning or later at night you willa void waiting in long, slow lines.

Bring your kitchen up to speed by making sure you have the equipment and foods staples on hand for quick cooking. Designate a place for each piece of kitchen equipment, so you can reach for it automatically, almost without thinking.

The three main work areas in an efficient kitchen are within the triangle formed by the refrigerator, range and sink. Stock each area with the equipment most used at that work station and you will immediately begin to save time and extra steps in the kitchen.

Also, take time to streamline your kitchen and get rid of the clutter of equipment you are not using or at least get it out of the mainstream of everyday kitchen tools.

Sharpen your culinary skills. Learn the basic cookery methods and techniques and use them to reduce both preparation and cooking time. Also be sure to thoroughly read your recipes before you start to cook.

Look for meat cuts that can be cooked quickly. Learn which cuts can be broiled or panbroiled, or use in quick stir-fry dishes. Suggested beef cuts are ground beef, rib or rib eye, sirloin, tenderloin, top loin, flank, eye round, and top round steaks.

Use quick-cooking methods, such as broiling, panbroiling, sauteing, microwaving, steaming or stir-frying.

Broil potatoes or other vegetables on the same broiler pan with meat or poultry for a quick vegetable side dish and easier cleanup.

Make individual meat loaves rather than one large loaf. And to save more time, cook them in the microwave.

Practice complementary cooking. Use the microwave for one recipe or part of the preparation and the range top for another. Soon you will discover other time saving techniques on your own.

Three types of rice are grown in the U.S. Long grain rice is 4 to 5 times long as it is wide. When cooked, the grains remain separate and are light and fluffy. Medium is plump in shape but not round. When cooked the grains are more moist and tender. Short grain rice is almost round in shape and tends to cling together when cooked.

Farm Women Societies

Berks Society 6

The Berks County Society of Farm Women, Group #6, had a Halloween social for their October meeting in the home of Anne Luft, Boyertown. Richard Schlegal, judged the costumes. A prize was awarded to the ugliest, prettiest, and the most original. Eight members answered the roll call question, "Do Trick or Treaters" usually stop at your house?

Eleven members enjoyed the breakfast at the Tri Star Restaurant to celebrate Farm Womens Day on October 14.

The Farm City Banquent will be November 5, at the Riveredge Restaurant.

Bingo night, for the residents at the Berks Heim Annex will be November 12.

The November 17 meeting, will be a cookie exchange at the home of Sallie Hauseman, Boyertown. Members are asked to bring cookies and the recipe to the meeting.

The Christmas party will be at the Stagecoach Stop Restaurant, December 4. A gift exchange will take place.

Lancaster Society 9

Eight members of Farm Women, Group 9, met in the home of Hope Steppler. After the Bible reading, Lord's Prayer, and flag salute, Tippy Oxenford reported a balance of $132.14. She also collected dues from each member.

The November meeting will be at Tippy's house, for a Thanksgiving craft. It was decided that our Christmas party would be December 4 (first choice) at 7:30, or Dec. 11 (second choice).

For Ways and Means, Kim showed a money-raising calendar received from Co. Board. The group agreed to do a February calendar.

Kim brought a request from Berks-Heim for clothing needed for very heavy residents. Farm Women cookbooks are still being sold. New county officers are Fern Phillipi, president, Wendy Lingle, vice president, Marie Goettle, secretary.

New officers for society 9 are Kim Casner president, Karen Schrierer vice president, Winnie Hayik secretary, Joan Hafer treasurer. As there were no opposing candidates, the slate will be installed in January.

Halloween safety tips were read and discussed, and the meeting was adjourned for Halloween wreath making and refreshments.

ANSWER — Marion Huffman, Jonestown, wanted a recipe for Wm. Penn Chili for hot dogs. Thanks to Rhoda Conover, Gettysburg, who sent the following recipe. I'm not sure this is what Marion wanted. If anyone has a recipe called Wm. Penn Chili for hot dogs that is different than the following recipe, please send it.

Coney Island Sauce For Hot Dogs

¼ pound ground beef
6 ounce can tomato paste
2½ cups water
¼ cup pickle relish
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
⅔ teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon sugar

In medium saucepan, cook meat. Crumble with fork until it loses its color. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer. Stir occasionally for 30 minutes. Pour sauce on grilled hot dog.

ANSWER — A Bedford County reader wanted a recipe for Pumpkin Sauce. Years ago her mother-in-law made it and it was eaten like applesauce. Thanks to Doreen Schuman, Denton, Md., who writes that any pumpkin pie recipe can be used to make pumpkin sauce. Instead of pouring pumpkin pie mixture into a pie shell, pour into saucepan and cook mixture over medium heat, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture starts to boil. Eat warm or cold. Good over buttered pancakes.

Penn's Agri-Women Elects Officers

LOU ANN GOOD
Lancaster Farming Staff

YORK (York Co.) — Penn's Agri-Women elected new officers at the annual meeting held October 28, at the York Extension Service.

Patricia Sueck of Airville will head the state organization that is affiliated with American Agri-Women. Sueck, former vice president, will fill a two-year term. Becky Gross of Manchester was elected vice president and Martene Firestine of Lebanon, treasurer. Helen Musser, Manchester, continues as secretary.

Outgoing president Carol Ann Gregg reported on a trip to Maine where she helped establish a chapter of Maine Agri-Women.

Members discussed the success of the Ag Day Reception held in the Capitol Rotunda. They plan to explore the possibility of holding the reception at a more secluded spot so that they can better relate to legislators and their staffs without the problem of public intrusion. The purpose of the reception is to have an impact on agriculture policy in the state.

Ag in the Classroom has been one of PAW's projects. The membership is also active in the Foundation for Better Living.

Suek said one of her goals during her term of office is to see more women join the organization.

"Being part of AAW brings a wealth of information and a wonderful exchange between legislatures and the organization," said Suek who participates in the Washington Fly-In when members meet with Congress and lobby on positions pertaining to agriculture.

Membership is open to any individual or agricultural organization that desires to promote agriculture for the benefit of the American people and the world.

PAW believes that America's economic health depends on successful and profitable agriculture, and that members working together can magnify its political influence to educate consumers and school children on the needs of agriculture.

"We don't ask for a lot of time, but we do need numbers to continue to have an impact on agriculture policy," Gregg said.

For the $10 membership fee, members automatically become members of American Agri-Women and receive the newsletter and information about happenings in the state. PAW members generally meet twice annually.

Those interested in membership, should send the $10 fee to Pat Sueck, R.D.1, Box 43, Airville, PA 17302.

Members voted to support financially the American Agri-Women, the national coalition of farm, ranch, and agribusiness women with 48 state and national commodity affiliates, FoodWatch, and the Animal Husbandry Foundation.

After the business meeting, members made grapevine centerpieces for the American Agri-Women convention, which will be held in Columbus, Ohio, on November 12 through 16.

Gail McPhearson holds one of the centerpieces, made from grapevines, dried flowers and fruit, which will be used during the annual American Agri-Women convention.

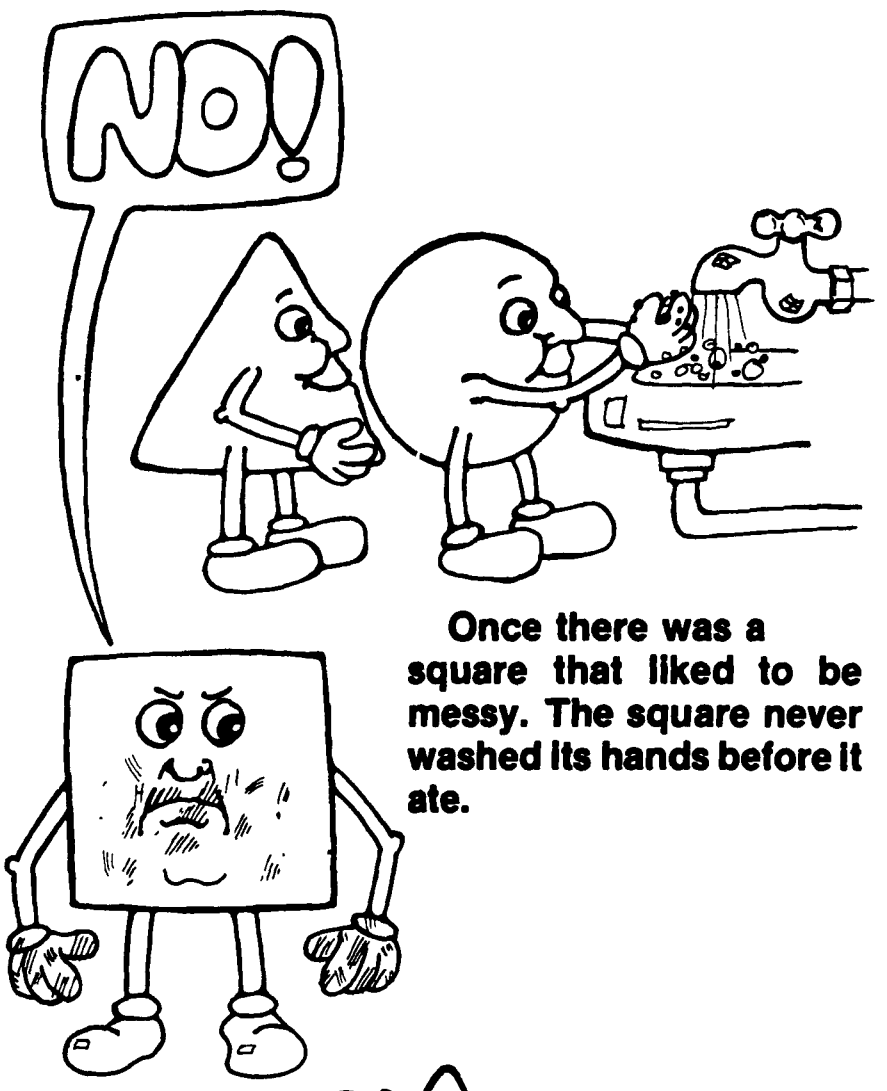
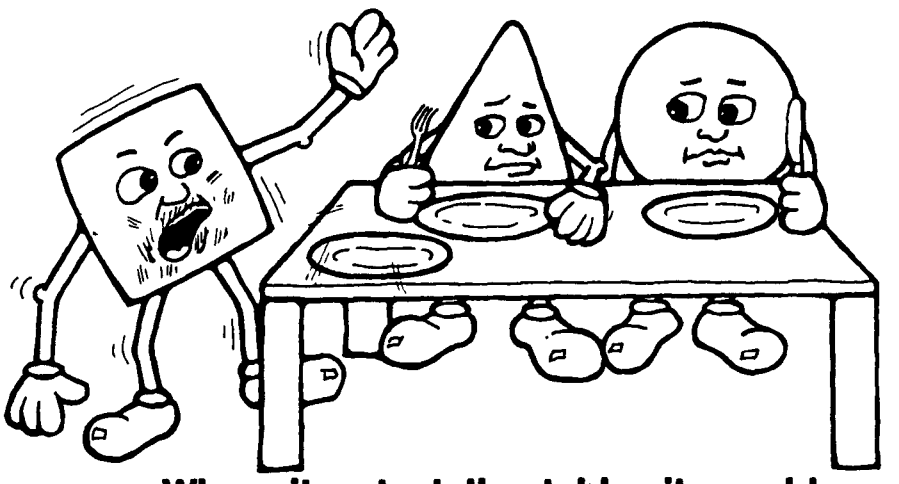
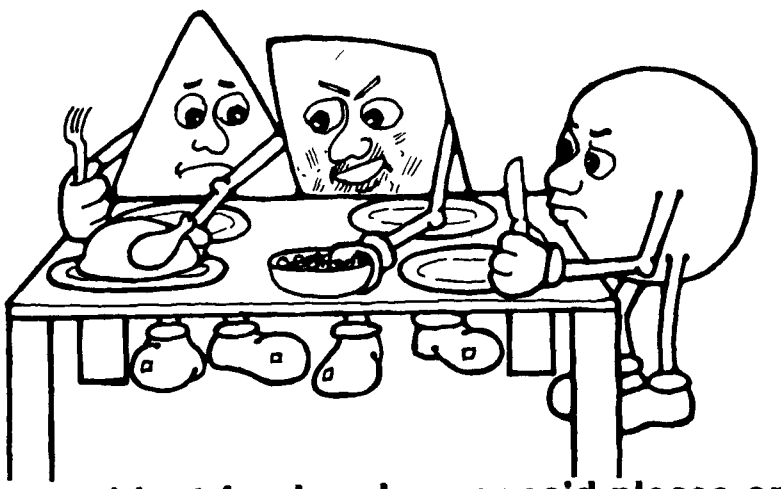
The Square That Liked To Be Messy



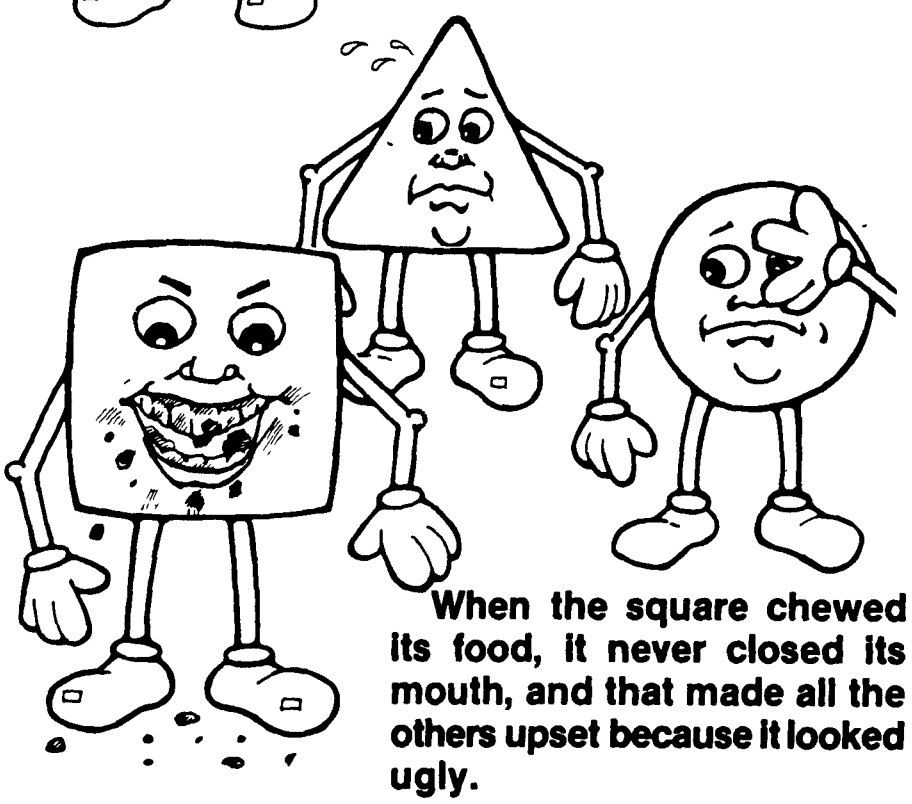
Once there was a square that liked to be messy. The square never washed its hands before it ate.



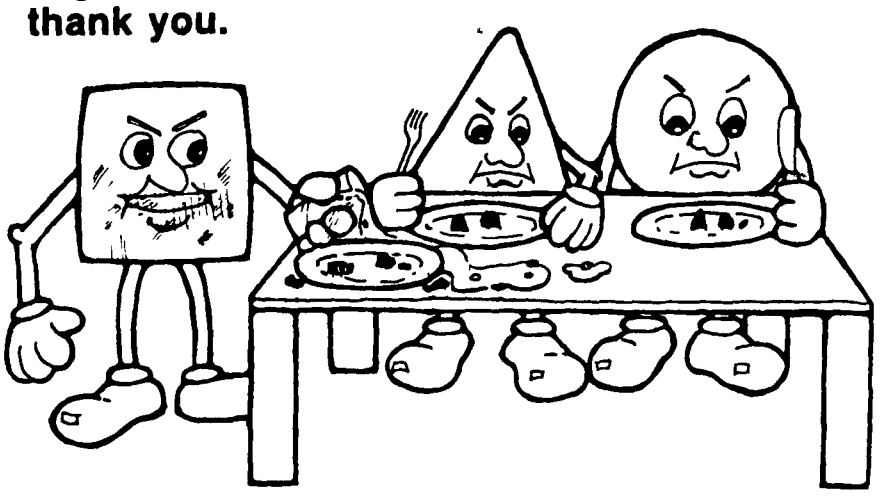
When it sat at the table, it would always jump around and bump into its neighbors and yell.



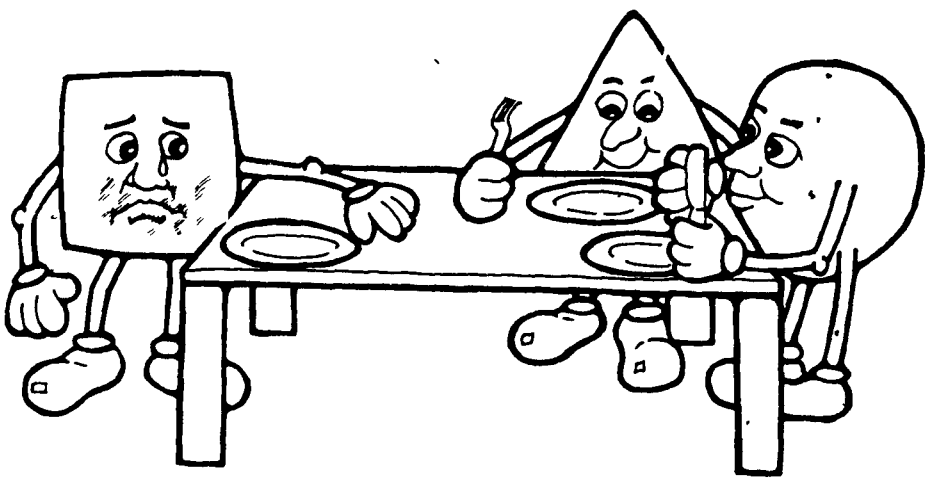
It grabbed food and never said please or thank you.



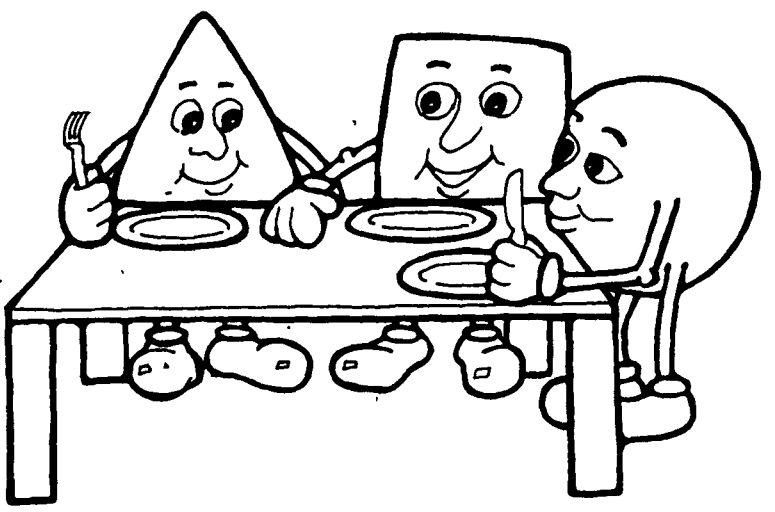
When the square chewed its food, it never closed its mouth, and that made all the others upset because it looked ugly.



The messy square would spill milk all over and splash food around on the table. This behavior made the others angry! The others never liked to sit near it.



Soon no one would sit by the square, because it didn't know how to behave at the table. This made the square very sad.



Soon it began to wash its hands, sit quietly, pour milk and serve food carefully, and chew with its mouth closed. This behavior made everyone happy, and they all liked eating with the square again.

Christmas Memories At Carroll Farm Museum

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The Christmas Theme Tour at the Carroll County Farm Museum begins November 28 and runs through December 6 from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. daily; Wednesday and Saturdays, 10 a.m. until 8 p.m. Special Christmas admission prices: adults over 18, $1.50; 6 to 18, $.75; group of 20 or more (reservation required), $1.00 per person; Season pass is honored.

"Christmas Memories" are recalled and captured in the 1800s Farmhouse at the Carroll County Farm Museum during the Christmas theme tour as Festive decorations throughout the Farmhouse will encourage visitors to Remember When .. The celebration of Christmas is a tradition handed from generation to generation. While viewing the Farmhouse as it is bedecked in holiday fashion poignant memories of Christmases past emerge. Period dressed guides are on hand to point out significant details of each room on display.

The walking tour of the Museum grounds is "highly seasoned" with the sights, smells, and sounds of Christmas. Freshly cut pine swags adorned with ribbons hang from the doorways of the shops where Museum artisans demonstrate their skills of the late 1800s. The aroma of fresh baked goodies will lure you to the Bake Oven room where sweet treats, sandwiches, and hot and cold drinks will be sold. The Bell Ringers of St. Mary's United Church of Christ will ring in the 1992 Christmas Memories Tour on the evening of November 28, from 6 to 8 p.m. Led by Ms. Valerie Brown, the 13-member group will delight visitors with sounds of the season. Santa Claus will pay a daily visit to the Museum, handing out candy canes to those boys and girls having a wish list, from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. Potted poinsettias in various sizes and colors will be on sale in the Museum lobby. In the Genral Store are handcrafted items for sale that may solve the "what to get" for that "hard to buy for" person. The wagon master will be on hand each weekend with his team of mules for those who wish a Christmas Memory riding tour of the Museum grounds; join in singing Christmas Carols along the way.

If you have a special Christmas memory or tradition you wish to share, send it in letter form to: Attention Christmas Memories, Carroll County Farm Museum, 500 South Center Street, Westminster, MD 21157. These letters will be posted around the grounds so everyone who visits may share a Christmas Memory.

The Curatorial Department of the Farm Museum is sponsoring a Christmas and Holiday Season Quilt Square contest, "Holiday Building Blocks." This contest and exhibit of holiday and Christmas motif quilting squares will be on display in the Farmhouse showcase. Unfinished squares or finished squares are to be no larger than 16 inches x 16 inches in size. Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

It may be November but we are still finishing outside chores. The other day I dug the last of the sweet potatoes and the short row of peanuts. The wet summer does not seem to have produced as many peanuts as last year.

Again I have had to leave a lot of dwarf pink dahlias in the ground. I know they'll rot but I simply have too many. The Aztex and Persian lilies have all been dug but they too are reproducing rapidly and I'd be glad to share some.

Allen has a woodworking shop but he always needs just one or two more pieces of equipment. So in order to save shipping charges we took a two-day trip to get a planer and a jointer. They were out of stock and we came home empty-handed.

But the trip did include a bit of fishing in the Juniata River and also at Rose Valley Lake plus lots of beautiful scenery. The maple trees had bright red and yellow leaves on Shingle Mill Road as we bumped over a stony road in State Game Lands in Sullivan County.

Now that the custom silo filler has come and gone the fields are bare and we can see the cars and trucks racing by on a nearby highway. Talking about cars, I have a confession. Last week I jestfully said that I hoped that I would not have an accident going or coming from the safe driving course. Well I didn't; but the following day by trying to do exactly what the instructor said I had an accident.

It will be a while before I have a car to drive. This kind of experience takes a while to forget. It is with you day and night. They say "time cures all," we'll see.

Network For Parkinson's Disease Sufferers

BALTIMORE, Md. — When Don Rosenblum was 38, his left hand started to shake uncontrollably. After seeing a neurologist, Don learned he had Parkinson's disease, a common disorder of the brain that occurs when the part of the nervous system controlling movement, posture, balance, and walking is damaged.

Don's doctor prescribed medication to help control his symptoms and suggested he join a support group to learn how others cope with the disease. At his suggestion, Don soon attended a local support group meeting. He was disappointed, however, when he found that most of the group's members were 60 or older, and the discussion seemed relevant only to the elderly.

"Before I was diagnosed with Parkinson's, I thought it was a condition that only affected older people," he recalls.

Don is one of an increasing number of younger people in the United States who have been diagnosed with Parkinson's disease. Although the average age of onset of the disorder is 60 years, today between 50,000 and 100,000 Americans who have this disorder are between the ages of 20 and 50.

Younger Patients Have Different Problems

Young parkinsonians are faced with different psychosocial problems than older patients that include worries about job security, long-term financial plans, child bearing and family responsibilities, as well as medical and disability insurance.

These concerns, combined with his support group experience, prompted Don to organize a group for younger adults with Parkinson's disease. He called it the Young Onset Parkinson's Support Group. The group meets bimonthly at Johns Hopkins University Hospital in Baltimore to talk about their concerns and share ideas about how to cope with the disease. Topics range from the benefits of exercise to how to tell your employer about your children.

Don's group is part of the Young Parkinson Support Network, a nationwide support group network established by the American Parkinson Disease Association (APDA). Currently, there are 29 support groups in 22 states.

"I think this network really helps us address the common concerns of younger parkinsonians," Don says. "We all need to realize that we've got a lot of assets and that this disease should not stand in our way."

Attending support group meetings is only part of the treatment for younger parkinsonians. Proper medication, diet and exercise are also essential. Five years after Don's diagnosis, he leads a virtually normal life with the help of drugs like Sinemet (carbidopa/levodopa) and Eldepryl (selegiline hydrochloride). Don is also enrolled in PROPATH, a program for Parkinson's disease patients that helps them take control of their disease. Members receive free informational booklets on Parkinson's disease and quarterly self-assessment questionnaires that address diet, exercise, treatment regimens and daily coping issues.

Information from these questionnaires is being compiled into the largest Parkinson's disease data base available, which may soon be used by researchers to find a cure for the disease.

Know the Symptoms

Abraham Lieberman, M.D., chief of the Movement Disorders Section of the Barrow Neurological Institute in Phoenix, Ariz., says that Americans must be aware of the symptoms of Parkinson's disease so they can recognize if a family member or friend is displaying them and may need to consult a physician. Primary symptoms of the disease include stiffness, tremor, slowness of movement, and difficulty with balance and walking.

"Early diagnosis and treatment of Parkinson's disease are important in giving the patient more control over the disease," he said. "Because Don was diagnosed early, he is now able to take control of his life through support groups, medications, and programs like PROPATH."

For more information on Parkinson's disease, call 1-800-44-PROPATH. For information on the Young Parkinson Support Network, call 1-800-223-YPSN.

4-H'ers Bring Their Love Of Horses, Helping Kids To National Spotlight

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — For Spring Younts, the most memborable and cherished moment came when the child, Alexander the Great rode the horse Ivan the Terrible.

No, it's not ancient history which spurs her 4-H horse experience (no pun intended), but the relationship between a handicapped boy and a horse which, for a few moments, meant a lot to the boy.

The love of horses and helping people combined to unite the talents of two Lancaster County 4-H Horse Club members, Spring Younts and Megan East. Spring and Megan will travel this weekend to Louisville, Ky. for the Eastern National 4-H Horse Roundup.

There, they will compete against at least 35 other teams from across the country in the therapeutic riding contest.

The event culminates many years of showing and demonstrating their talents in the Silver Shoes 4-H Therapeutic Riding Program.

The presentation itself makes use of Killer, the fearless teddy bear (borrowed from Tyrel, Spring's little brother) used to demonstrate rider positions, and shows techniques which aid riders with a wide arrange of needs. Children of all ages who suffer from a range of disabilities are aided by the program.

Spring, 17, daughter of Melodee and Richard Younts, New Providence, said the experience of being in the program has provided many benefits. "I became friends with special people and their parents," she said.

Megan East, in the 15-minute demonstration, said the program helps the disabled and specially handicapped children with the ability to improve both psychologically and physically. The program helps children with a variety of disabilities, including cerebral palsy, spina bifida, blindness, mental retardation, autism, and learning disorders. The horse is an "equalizer in an unequal world," according to the 4-H'ers.

Megan East, 15, daughter of Will and Tina East, Kirkwood, said that helping as a volunteer and learning horses provided a lot of inspiration to her. Many of the children who were scared became calm and relaxed completely when riding the horse. Megan said she has a cousin with cerebral palsy.

The team traveled to the Solid Gold Horse Event in Springfield, Ill. the first week of October. But the event in Louisville is the capstone to a year of competition, including the state championship in August at Penn State.

Water Policy Will Affect Agriculture

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Concerns about water quality and availability are prompting changes that will affect Pennsylvania agriculture, rural businesses and residents, says a water quality expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences.

"The 1991 drought put water on the agendas of interest groups, government agencies and legislative committees," says Dr. Charles Abdalla, associate professor of agricultural economics.

"At least 18 bills related to Pennsylvania water resources have been introduced during the 1991-92 legislative session," he says. "Any of these changes would have major implications for agriculture and other sectors of the state's economy.

"Many people see Pennsylvania's water use rules as outdated, fragmented and ineffective," Abdalla says. "They believe that protecting existing uses and improving overall water use requires a better defined set of legal rules and institutional arrangements."

Pennsylvania has no comprehensive law establishing the rights of water users. Consquently, every water conflict must be resolved on a case-by-case basis in the courts.

For example, existing water allocation rules treat surface water and groundwater differently. "Surface water is allocated by the 'riparian rights' doctorine," Abdalla says. "Riparian property is bordered or crossed by a stream or other water body. In Pennsylvania, riparian property owners may take water to use on their land, as long as other users aren't unreasonably harmed."

Groundwater rights are subjet to a different standard. "Landowners may draw water from beneath their land for beneficial uses on that land regardless of the consquences to neighbors," Abdalla says. "The landowner with the deepest well or most powerful pump wins."

An estimated 14,3 billion gallons of water were withdrawn from ground and surface sources in 1985. Agricultural withdrawls amounted to 81 million gallons per day (mgd). Thirteen percent of these withdrawls went for irrigation, with 86 percent of irrigation water coming from surface sources. Withdrawls of water for livestock accounted for 70.4 mgd, or 87 percent of total agricultural use. Almost 90 percent of the water for livestock was obtained from groundwater.

Most water used for irrigation and livestock is consumed in the process and not returned to the source. "As a result, agriculture accounts for 12.2 percent of consumptive water use in the state, even though it represents less than 1 percent of total water withdrawls," Abdalla says.

Growing recognition that water is shared resource with interdependent users fuels the drvie to refine the state's water policies. "Control over water management should be shared among all users," Abdalla says. "Those concerned about water issues must recognize this political reality."

Abdalla says that agricultural films and organizations need to make a long-term commitment to study water issues, to work with government agencies and other organizations on mutually acceptable solutions and to be active in discussions and debates.

Bedford County Women Hold Craft Fair

Linda Williams
Bedford Co. Correspondent

EVERETT (Bedford Co.) — Homemakers from Centerville took center stage at the luncheon/craft exhibit held recently in Everett.

Sharing her skills and knowledge of creating "something from nothing," was Faun Howsare, president of the Centerville group of homemakers.

Hits of the day included a "quillow," a pillow in a quilt; "snow people," made from left over plastic pipe; a dried apple hanger and a cinnamon stick candle.

Directions for each are as follows:

Snow People

Plastic pipe 4x6 inches
Batting
Sequins (large snowflakes, heart for mouth, black for eyebrows)
Ribbon (red for girl, black for boy) 19½ inches, 6 inches for a bow.
Flowers
Red pompom for nose
Large pompom for top of hat
Red felt (1½ x2 ½) for hands (mittens)
Rubber bands
Black felt for boys bow tie 3½ x2½ inches.

Hat, turn up two inches, sew seam. On wrong side, fasten top together with rubber band, twist as tight as possible. Turn hat right side out, put ribbon around hat above part that is turned up, glue in place, glue small bow and snowflake on.

Tie, trim ends in slight V shape, carefully separate batting to make 2 sections. Pinch together in center, tie with string to hold.

Sleeves (arms) turn up one narrow edge-fold lengthwise in 3 folds, glue, pin if needed, lay aside until needed.

Coat, turn up bottom 2 inches, sew back together, turn so turned up section is on outside.

Head, Roll batting until it measures about 15 or 16 inches around, fasten both ends with rubber bands, twist tight.

Body, Wrap plastic pipe with batting, tuck edges in one end of pipe. Place head into other end, push batting from top edge of pipe in around the head.

Put coat on body, put rubber band around neck. Glue coat, front section in center, tuck top edge under rubber band, roll bottom to the top of turned up section. Glue and straighten pin to hold in place. Put arms on sides, tuck top edges under rubber band, glue to sides, (pin if necessary), glue mittens into holes at bottom of arms.

Fold collar in half (long wise) wrap around neck to cover rubber band, fasten in front. Glue on eyes, eyebrows, nose, mouth.

For boy use black bow tie instead of flower.

Cinnamon sticks, a candle, and bow plus your own desired finishing touches are all it takes to create this decoration or gift.

Faun Howsare displays a quillow. "These make great and useful gifts for the holidays," Faun says.

Dried Apple Hanger

9-sliced apples
1 cinnamon stick (6 inches)
Sturdy cardboard 12"x1½ "
18 inches of ribbon

Slice apples crosswise and bake in oven for six hours at 150 degrees.

(Old terrycloth towels on racks under the apples absorbs the moisture from the apples)

Remove apples from oven and cool.

Place a cookie sheet on top of them while they are still hot and let this remain on them to prevent curling.

Arrange slices on cardboard and hot glue in place.

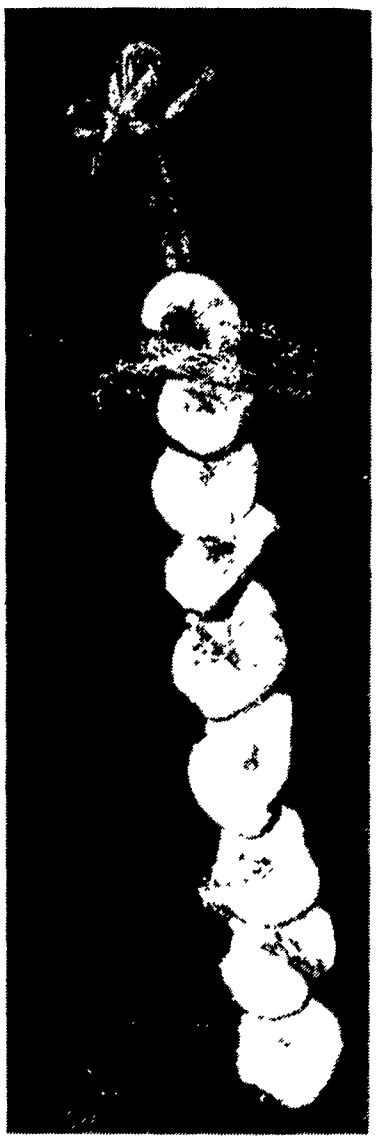
Cinnamon Stick Candles

Glue long cinnamon sticks around a can (any size you prefer). Add a big bow and set your candle on top of the can. Very easy but quite festive.



A dried apple hanger is fashioned easily with around the house items.

Pillow In A Quilt

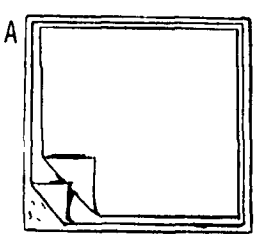
Supplies needed: Three yards each of two fabrics at least 45" wide. One piece of polyester batting 45x72; one piece of polyester batting 18" square.

For Pillow Pocket: Cut one 18" square each of fabric A and B (see sketch).

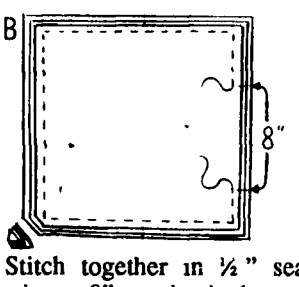
Cut one 18" square of polyester batting.

For Quilt: Cut one 45"x72" piece of fabric A and fabric B.

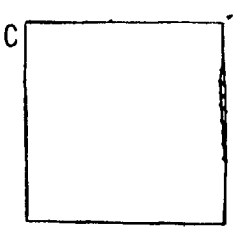
Cut one 45"x72" piece of polyester batting.



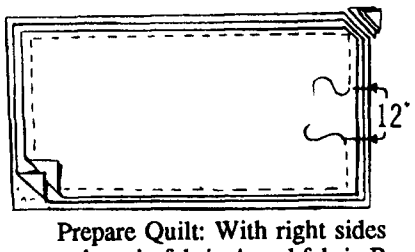
Preparing Pillow Pocket: With right sides together, pin fabric A and fabric B pillow square together having raw edges even. Pin batting to wrong side of fabric B, having raw edges even.



Stitch together in ½ " seam, leaving an 8" opening in the center of one edge to turn; backsticth at opening to reinforce. Trim corners.

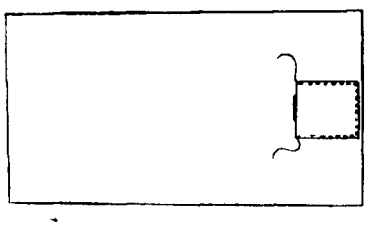


Turn pocket right side out; press lightly. Turn under ½ " on opening edges; slip-stitch opening closed.

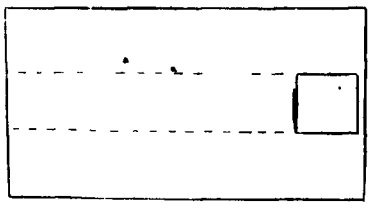


Prepare Quilt: With right sides together pin fabric A and fabric B quilt sections together having raw edges even. Pin batting to wrong side of fabric B, having raw edges even.

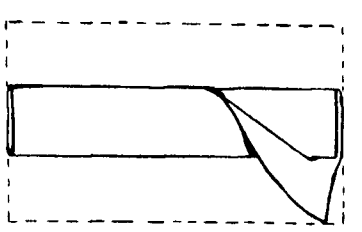
Stitch together in ½ " seam, leaving a 12" opening in one long edge to turn; back-stitch at opening to reinforce. Trim corners. Turn quilt right side out; press lightly. Turn under ½ " on opening edges; slip stitch opening closed.



Attach Pocket to Quilt: Mark the center of one edge of pocket and one short end of quilt. With fabric B facing up (both pocket and pillow) place pocket on quilt matching center marking. Machine stitch ¼ " from edges of pocket, leaving inner most edge open; back stitch at inner corners to reinforce.



Quilting: Mark two straight quilting lines from inner edge of pocket to opposite end of quilt. Keeping all thicknesses of quilt smooth, machine or hand stitch along marked lines of fabric print or using embroidery floss tie small knots through all thicknesses, evenly spaced apart.



Folding Quilt into Pocket: On a flat surface, place quilt with pocket side down. Fold quilt into thirds, overlapping long edges.

Turn pocket over end of quilt.

Give Mayonnaise A Break

Fat-free mayonnaise, that is. Fat-free mayo, which has a texture quite similar to the regular product, is made primarily of thickeners, such as cellulose, maltodextrin, gums and starch, all safe ingredients. The fat-free variety contains no oil and usually uses egg white instead of yolk. It's usually wrong, also, to blame mayonnaise for food poisoning. Commercially prepared mayonnaise contains vinegar or lemon juice, ingredients that are acidic enough to inhibit some bacterial growth. It's not the mayo that causes food poisoning, but the foods that are mixed with it, such as chopped eggs, potato or tuna, that are likely to spoil when left out in warm weather.

AAW Convention To Be Held November 12-16

COLUMBUS, Ohio — American Agri-Women's 1992 Convention will be held November 12-16, at the Holiday Inn in Columbus, Ohio. Convention sessions will include topics from wetlands to finance to food safety issues and will feature speakers from throughout the country.

Among the scheduled speakers are Bill Richards, chief of the Soil Conservation Service, who will discuss wetlands regulations, and Congressman John Boehner of Ohio, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, who was among those who "blew the whistle" earlier this year on Congress' check-writing system. The Convention program also features a panel discussion on the proposed food labeling regulation changes and an in-depth media workshop on food safety topics.

In addition to the business sessions, workshops and seminars, the agenda includes inspirational programs featuring Ron Eberhard, a specialist in business and estate planning; Robert G. Heft, designer of the current American flag and a modern day Will Rogers; and Ellen Ford, folk life artist and musician.

Registration is open to all and available on a per day or entire Convention basis. The Convention is being hosted by Women for Ohio Agriculture, an affiliate of AAW. For more information on registration for the 1992 Convention, contact Judy Loudenslager, 3131 Kenton Galion Road, Marion, OH, 43302, 614-465-2847. American Agri-Women is the national coalition of farm, ranch and agribusiness women, with 48 state and national commodity affiliates. A ROTARY CUTTER FOR THE LARGEST CUTTING JOBS.

Especially recommended for medium duty mowing on large acreages, Bush hog's 2620 Series Rotary Cutter gives you a full 20-foot cut... and blades overlap 6 inches to assure a clean, uniform job. Wings flex from 90° up to 22° down during operation, so work on uneven terrain is no problem. Spring-loaded axle assemblies provide shock absorption at each axle arm for added protection in rough cutting conditions.

Features include 540 or 1000 rpm heavy duty gear boxes, level lifting of center and wing units and a choice of round or straight blade holders.

STOP BEATING THE BUSHES.

One of the toughest big cutters on the market, Bush Hog's 15-foot 3615 Flex-Wing Rotary Cutter was developed for heavy duty cutting chores on rugged terrain. It cuts material up to 3 inches thick and operates from 90° up to 22° down. Spring-loaded axle assemblies and heavy duty slip clutches are standard equipment. A minimum 80 hp tractor is recommended.

Features include level lifting of center and wing units, a narrow profile tongue for better turning radius and specially designed, heavy duty gear boxes. So if you've been beating the bushes and need a really tough rotary cutter, hitch the Bush Hog 3615 to your tractor. You'll make those bushes, stalks, grass and saplings virtually disappear.

LANDCOMMANDER

Controls compaction, rough fields, soil erosion & residue management problems.

Adjustable front disc gangs cut the residue. Auto-reset shanks penetrate the soil 8 to 20" to breakup compaction. The rear discs break clods, incorporate residue and level fields. To leave more surface residue and control erosion, raise the gang. Easy manual or hydraulic adjustments change disc cutting depth.
Now there's one way to manage surface residue and compaction problems...stop in and we'll talk.

SOIL BUILDERS are a primary conservation tool that breaks up plow pan to absorb moisture and blends surface residue into the soil with enough residue left on top to control wind and water erosion. 5-13 Shank.

FFA Leadership for a growing planet

Regional FFA Winner

David Good, a 1991 Cowanesque Valley graduate, was recently named as a silver award proficiency winner in the eastern region of the National FFA.

The region is comprised of all states from North Carolina north to Maine and west to and including Ohio. David had been named the state gold proficiency winner in farm and/or homestead improvement earlier this year, when he received a plaque and $100 check from the FFA Foundation. The award is cosponsored by Upjohn, TUCO, Asgrow, and O's Gold through the National FFA Foundation.

David and his parents have developed and implemented different types of programs to improve the efficiency, production, and comfort, along with the real and aesthetic value of their farm. Some of the improvements have included high tech milking equipment, Incorporation of a TMR feeding program, construction of a combination machinery storage shed and farm service center, and improvements in the dry cow and replacement heifer facilities. An ongoing improvement of the pasture systems has been started and is continuing.

David, the son of Nancy and Vernon Good of rural Westfield, was very active in the FFA. He served as an officer in the local and county chapter, participated in county, area, regional and state activities, and attended the National FFA Convention. He earned the state degree, record-keeping awards on the state level, and an FFA scholarship on the national level. He is studying dairy science at Delaware Valley

Breakthrough Egg

Omelet lovers have led a hard life ever since it was discovered a while back that a single egg contains more than 200 milligrams of cholesterol, which is nearly the recommended maximum intake (300 milligrams) for an entire day. Yet eggs are otherwise an excellent food-rich in nutrients and low in saturated fat, not to mention delicious and fast-cooking, and essential for certain recipes. We've often recommended "stretching" one whole egg by adding two egg whites to it, and we've looked at egg substitutes, which are basically egg whites with some oil and food coloring added. But no omelet lover could mistake egg whites or egg substitutes for genuine whole eggs. The texture and flavor just aren't the same.

Now there's a product that may bring back the three-egg omelet. Simply Eggs is a liquid, whole-egg product with only 45 milligrams of cholesterol per egg. The manufacturer (Michael Foods, Inc.) has figured out a fairly simple process for eliminating 80% of the cholesterol in a yolk. Separated yolks are mixed with a modified cornstarch and centrifuged (whirled)-which causes much of the cholesterol to stick to the cornstarch, so that most of both can be removed. Then the yolks are remixed with the whites, ultra-pasteurized, and packaged in half-pint containers. The ultra-pasteurization, of course, kills bacteria and increases shelf life. The product lasts nine weeks if kept unopened and refrigerated. After it's opened, it has to be used in three days. But because the eggs are pasteurized, you can scramble them soft or even eat them raw (as in homemade ice cream or milkshakes) without worrying about salmonella poisoning. Except for the cholesterol, all the nutrients are the same. Some salt is added: an egg has 70 milligrams of sodium naturally, and these eggs have 120 milligrams each.

The package costs more than regular eggs: about $2 for half-pint packages, each the equivalent of slightly more than two whole eggs. You can't boil these eggs or serve them sunny-side-up, but when cooked or scrambled they look and taste like the real thing. The FDA has not yet approved the modified cornstarch that's used, though the manufacturer has petitioned the agency for approval. The new eggs are already coming on the market and may be available nationwide until fall.

The United States is one of the largest exporters of rice in the world supplying about 20% of the rice for world trade. Rice farmers harvested 2.8 million acres yielding 15.4 billion pounds of rice.

At only 82 calories per half-cup serving, rice is a great source of complex carbohydrates and is fat, sodium and cholesterol free.

Bats In Your Belfry?

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — So you've got bats in your belfry and don't know what to do. Maybe your home is the site of a bat nursery, according to a Penn State researcher who is looking at but preferences for selecting roosting sites.

"Suitable natural nursery sites for maternal bats are becoming scarce, which means more bats are looking to man-made facilities as places to roost," says Lisa Williams, a graduate student in wildlife and fisheries science at Penn State. "This in turn is leading to a decline in the number of bats — partly due to habitat loss and partly because humans are not particularly tolerant of these mammals."

Maternity colonies of bats, which historically have sought out hollowed trees and rock crevices as places to deliver their pups, have increasingly turned to attics, church steeples and barns as ideal locations for maternity wards. The reasons behind the switch from natural habitats to man-made structures include the fast-paced spread of urban and suburban development, deforestation, the use of pesticides and forest management practices that have reduced the availability of maternity roost sites.

Although it is difficult to determine how many bats have disappeared from maternity colonies in recent years, Williams says that bat counts of hibernating populations show drastic decline.

"It is easier to get a handle on hibernating populations and their numbers. Researchers are finding that where once colonies of 20,000 bats hibernated in Pennsylvania caves, it is now rare to find a cave with more than 1,000 bats in it."

Williams, who placed an advertisement in a local newspaper to find homeowners willing to share their batty experiences for research purposes, has been attempting to design a bat house that maternal bats find appealing. She hopes that by providing safe nursery havens for bats displaced by humans, the amount of stress on the mammals can be limited, and the decline in populations can be slowed. Bats are important predators of insects, like mosquitoes and gnats, with some species able to consume half their body weight in bugs per night.

Bat houses, which can be attached to the side of a building, are simply constructed wooden boxes that must have the perfect temperatures, light conditions and location before bats will settle in to bear their young.

"Bats are very devoted mothers, but have a low reproductive rate," Williams explains. "Normally, most species only bear one pup per year which adds to the real threat of wiping out bat populations. It takes years to replace the individuals lost to poor habitat conditions and human persecution."

Mother bats generally prefer the most stable temperatures available in the 80-100 degrees Fah-

Aquaculture On Teachers' Agenda

RALEIGH, N.C. — More than 250 teachers, representing all 50 states and U.S. flag territories, gathered in Raleigh recently to participate in the first U.S. conference to prepare teachers for teaching aquaculture to high school students.

The teacher inservice conference was the culmination of a four year effort by The National Council for Agricultural Education (The Council) to develop and test new aquaculture instructional materials.

Educators from Pennsylvania received instruction in teaching the new material. National Aquaculture Conference attendees included Jay Eudy, state supervisor, Texas Department of Education and chariman of the Council's Aquaculture Task Force, Austin; Dr. Donald E. Evans, Asst. Dean, College of Ag, Penn State; Tom Zergler, Gardners; Robert Lauffer, Env. Ag. Science Inst., New Holland; Daniel Lynch, Ag Teacher, Kutztown; Joe McMullen, aquaculture project director, Spruce Cozeek; and Ronald Frederick, Ag Teacher, Blue Ball.

Utilizing a grant from USDA's Cooperative State Research Service, the Council worked with leaders in the aquaculture industry and academia to develop a five-volume curriculum for use in high school agriscience classes. Over the last year, the curriculum was tested in schools in South Carolina, Texas, Pennsylvania, Washington, Iowa, and Indiana.

The Raleigh in-service program involved state teams-agriculture teachers, state supervisors of agricultural education, teacher educators and Extension aquaculture specialists—who will replicate, with other teachers in their home states, the training they received in North Carolina. Newly trained teachers will then teach students.

Aquaculture is the fastest growing area of U.S. agriculture, increasing production at more than 10 percent a year. With increasing consumer demands for fish and shell fish products, and diminishing wild supplies because of pollution and over-harvesting, the U.S. farm produced aquaculture industry, currently valued at $860 million anually, is poised to expand rapidly, according to USDA and industry analysts.

"We felt it would be advisable to have trained young people who could become part of this emerging industry," said John Pope, executive director of the Council, "but that's only part of what this program is about."

He said, "In our test schools, we've integrated aquaculture with other areas of instruction. Students are eager to learn, and they say this hands-on applied math and science instruction is fun."

Ultra-Low Flush Toilets

The average household toilet uses 3.5 gallons of water per flush, making it one of the largest sources of water consumption in the home.

As a result of new technology, several manufacturers are now offering ultra-low flush (ULF) toilets that require only 1.6 gallons of water per flush. One version operates on a gravity-fed system, another utilizes an air pressure system. In terms of removing waste and leaving the bowl clean, these new versions are somewhat less efficient than the high water capacity fixtures. However, the manufacturers stress that they more than meet the standards set by the American National Standards Institute (ANSI). What this means is that consumers may simply have to clean the bowl a little more often.

Conservation-minded consumers who own the larger toilet fixtures have tried such ploys as adding a brick or a carton full of sand to the toilet tank. Because the object displaces water in the tank, it reduces the amount of water going into the bowl with each flush. However, it presents two problems. The first problem is reduced efficiency in terms of waste removal and cleanliness of the bowl. The second is more serious. Sand or decomposing brick can damage porcelain or clog the pipes causing plumbing problems.

The new ULF toilets are more expensive than most conventional toilets. However, the extra cost can be recoupled in water savings over the lifetime of the fixture. As concerns for water supply and sewage treatment increase, it is anticipated that some local building codes will mandate ULF toilets. When obtaining building permits for renovation or construction, consumers should check with their local building regulations.

Bats In Your Belfry?

renheit range, and will roost together in colonies of 30 or more individuals. All male bats are excluded from the maternity colony during the late gestation period before the pups are born in late May or early June. The pups are helpless until about mid-July. It is during these months that female bats congregate in attics or roost in garages or chimneys, generally raising the ire of homeowners.

"Homeowners who try to seal off attic areas when they believe the bats have left for the night, may inadvertently seal in helpless pups."

Through her research, Williams has discovered that placing a bat house on the Southeast side of a structure where it is exposed to morning sun is the best location, since the expectant mothers prefer the warm temperatures.

Working with the Big Brown Bat (Eptesicus fuscus) and the Little Brown Bat (Myotis lucifugus), two common Pennsylvania species. Williams tested two box designs. The designs, one vertical and one horizontal, are sort of a two-story and a ranch version of a bat dwelling. Williams found that some bats moved out of human dwellings and into the bat boxes, while other bat colonies simply moved between box designs when temperatures were to their liking. Williams says overall, the bats preferred the vertical design because of the varying degrees of temperature found within the structure.

"The horizontal box was consistently hotter than the vertical design, but it was sometimes too hot for the bats and there was no place to escape," she explains. "I believe a modified version of the vertical box where it is made wider, or a horizontal design with a compartment that allows the bats to move into cooler surroundings could be the perfect solution."

After looking at 20 homes, 10 occupied by bats and 10 sans bats, Williams believes it is mostly temperature that draws maternal bats to attic homes.

"Attics with bats are consistently hotter than attics without bats. Disturbances didn't seem to matter much and the amount of light in these areas ranged from dimly lit to pitch black," she explains.

Williams plans to continue monitoring homes to determine what site modifications can be made to buildings to render them less acceptable to bats.

"By making human structures less palatable to bats and encouraging them to occupy bat boxes, we can provide an alternative to their destruction," she says.

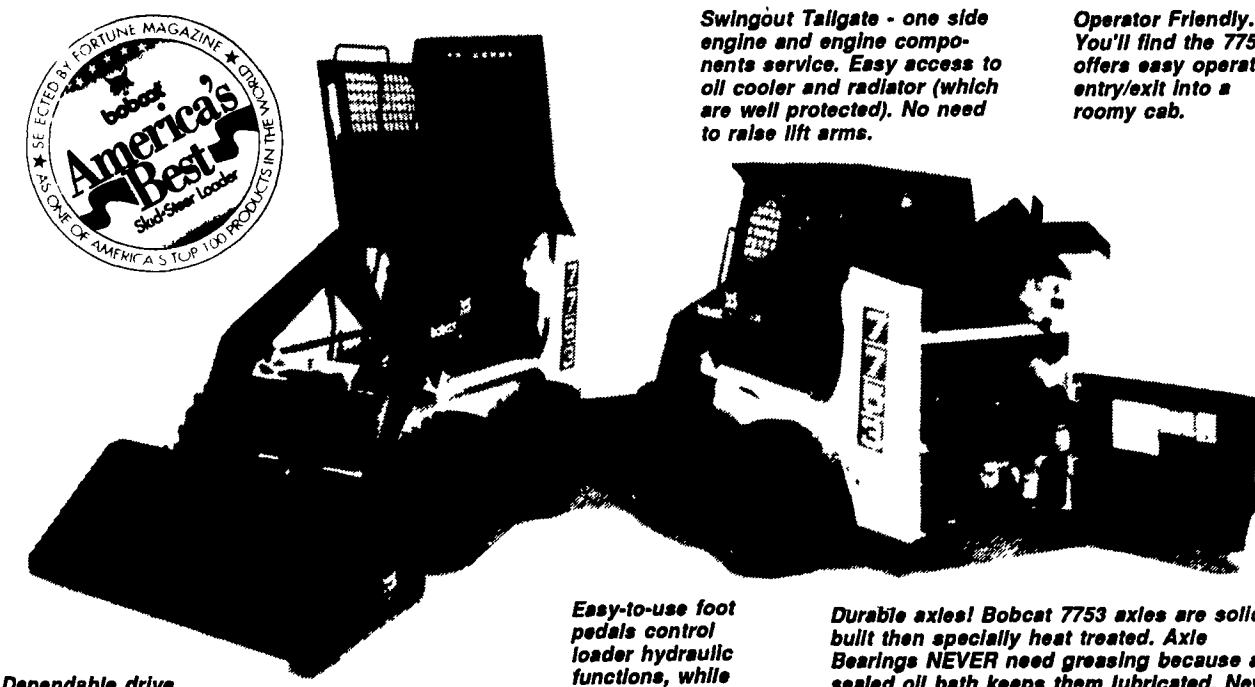
Bobcat® 7753 Long-Wheelbase Skid-Steer Loader

It's What's Inside That Counts!



Swingout Tailgate - one side engine and engine components service. Easy access to oil cooler and radiator (which are well protected). No need to raise lift arms.

Operator Friendly. You'll find the 7753 offers easy operator entry/exit into a roomy cab.

Dependable drive chains that NEVER need adjusting. The "bow tie" design uses prestressed, heavy-duty drive chains in two short continuous loops per side. That means long-life in the most rugged use and NO periodic, time-consuming drive chain adjustments.

Easy-to-use foot pedals control loader hydraulic functions, while two steering levers allow precise maneuverability.

Durable axles! Bobcat 7753 axles are solidly built then specially heat treated. Axle Bearings NEVER need greasing because a sealed oil bath keeps them lubricated. New axle hub design protects axle seal from damage from wire or twine. Hub is easily removed if service is required.

Experience America's Best.

Melroe company has over 30 years of skid-steer loader experience – longer than anyone else. That's one of the reasons Fortune Magazine has twice recognized the Bobcat loader as one of the 100 products "America Builds Best."

Reliable Components.

Other than a few daily checks and fills, you can rely on the PERFORMANCE of the 7753 Bobcat. It has been designed and built with durability and low maintenance in mind.

Great Serviceability!

The Bobcat 7753 has been designed to be serviced quickly. For example, there's single-side access to the transversely-mounted engine, a lift-out oil cooler for easy cleaning and a tip-up cab to expose hydraulic and hydrostatic componentry. For repairs, the exclusive BOSS® System can help quickly diagnose system problems. These features, along with a factory-trained service technicians and "top-shelf" parts availability, mean your loader can be back on the job in no time.

TOTAL HAND CONTROL!

Dealer-Installed Option!

- Easy Wrist-Action Control.
- Push-Button Auxiliary Hydraulics For Total Hand Control. (Available only on 50 Series loaders. 40 Series loaders utilize foot pedal to activate auxiliary hydraulics.)
- Easy-Grip Handle.

SHELL EGGS VS. LIQUID EGGS

John H. Schwartz, Ph.D.
Lancaster County
Extension Director

There is a battle being waged in the commercial egg industry. The outcome will have a major impact on egg producers.

The battle is being waged to determine if eggs will be retailed to consumers in the form of shell eggs or as liquid eggs and egg products. The outcome will depend on decisions egg producers will make over the next several years.

From 1990 to 1992, egg product use has grown from 21.5 percent to 25 percent of total egg consumption in the United States. This increase is because of concerns about food safety (Salmonella enteriditis), new egg products, and other concerns.

The egg product industry is no longer a market for cracks. Today, they have total flocks under contract and are only breaking Grade A eggs. Some companies have built complexes with the breaker plant on site as part of in-line processing.

Today's consumer life-style is changing. They are eating more meals out, family members are eating meals at different times, there are longer commuting times, and people are very much concerned about health and nutrition and want a consistent and high quality product. They also want natural foods without preservatives and additives.

To protect the shell egg market, egg producers need to educate the consumer on the value of shell eggs, produce a high quality product, and be willing to fight for market share.

Shell eggs have a lot of benefits which must be communicated to the consumer. They taste good, are an all-natural food high in protein, vitamins and minerals, and are easy to use. Also, people know how to cook with shell eggs and recipes are written in shell egg units — not liquid eggs.

The next step is to produce a high quality and consistent product. This high quality egg must be produced in a clean environment, have the lowest bacteria level possible, contain no cracks, and be very fresh.

To develop market share, we need to consider brand marketing. By producing a high quality, clean egg with no cracks, you are in a position to differentiate your eggs from generically produced eggs. By brand marketing you will be able to develop market share.

We need to support advertising that extols the virtue of our product and build market share. The success of your egg marketeer to market eggs will depend on the steps you are willing to take on the farm.

Egg quality starts at the farm. Once the egg is produced, we cannot improve egg quality. We can only strive to maintain it.

To produce eggs low in bacteria, we need to produce a clean egg in a clean environment. All equipment needs to be cleaned on a daily basis, good air quality must be maintained in the house, and a minimum of crack and dirty eggs produced. Eggs need to refrigerated as soon as possible after they are laid.

The current field studies suggest rodents play a major factor in the spread of Salmonella enteriditis. Every farmer needs to institute a rodent control program and be committed to it.

The battle lines are drawn. The choice is yours. Either we make sure we produce the best quality egg possible or we will lose market share to liquid eggs.

There are many resources available to help you improve your egg quality. Take time and talk with your service person, egg marketeer, and university researchers and extension specialists.

By working together, we will be able to continue providing consumers with an all-natural, healthful food. It is your choice to either fight or quietly go out of business.

Club Donates To Relief Fund

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State chapter of the Block and Bridle Club voted recently to donate $250 to the Red Cross Somalia Relief Fund, following a recommendation from the National Block and Bridle Club.

As a result of an article entitled "Somalia Cries Out" in the September 21 issue of USA Today, the organization decided to aid hunger relief efforts in that third-world country.

Brenda Horgan, dairy and animal science major from Queensbury, N.Y., and publicity chairperson for Block and Bridle, said "The club feels that everyone is entitled to the bare necessities of food, water, and medicine to have a chance to live. Just because we tend to take these things for granted does not mean we should ignore others' pleas for help. This small donation is a first step for our club in becoming more involved in world agricultural concerns."

If you would like to make a donation, send it to the Red Cross Somalia Relief Fund, P.O. Box 37243, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Scientists Conquer Wheat Killer

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Scientists from the world's leading research center for corn and wheat announced a victory in combatting "leaf rust," a blight that has been a scourge of wheat since Ancient Roman times. Wheat is the world's second most important food crop and is grown on more acres of land than any other cereal.

The announcement was made by the Mexico-based International Maize and Wheat Improvement Center (CIMMYT) at International Centers Week, the annual meeting of donors and representatives of CIMMYT and 17 other research centers that comprise the Consultative Group on International Agricultural Research (CGIAR). The CGIAR, which seeks to increase the world food supply through agricultural research programs, is supported by 40 countries, private foundations, and international organizations.

CIMMYT researchers discovered the "cure" for leaf rust in an old Brazilian-grown wheat plant that provides natural protection against the disease. The Brazilian wheat's resistance has been found to provide long-term defense against the disease even though it can change form and attack repeatedly. The development could have important implications for U.S. wheat farmers, particularly in Kansas and northern Oklahoma, where the winter wheat crop has recently suffered a major assault by the disease.

"After more than two decades of research in the field, we've finally beaten leaf rust without the use of deadly chemicals," said

"Some 10 million acres of wheat harvested in the region suffered an average yield loss of 15 percent, and some fields lost as much as 30 percent of their crop," said Roelfs. This amounts to an estimated loss of $90 million for the region's farmers.

Among U.S. winter wheat farmers, gaining leaf rust resistance has not been a priority because normal hard freezes break the leaf rust cycle. However, with changing weather patterns and resulting mild winters, these wheat crops are now in peril.

"Although the cure is at hand, much work needs to be done to install leaf-rust resistance into wheat worldwide and permanently remove it as an economic threat," said CIMMYT's Winkelmann. "This can only be done through systematic breeding programs and agricultural cooperation among countries around the world."

CIMMYT is distrubuting the leaf rust-resistant wheat to farmers and scientists in more than 100 countries as part of its international testing network, which annually sends out one million packets of seeds. Other CIMMYT wheats provide protection against a range of diseases, drought, and toxic soils.

CIMMYT is a nonprofit, scientific research and training organization headquartered in El Batan, Mexico.

Electric Salt Spreader Mounts On Pickup Trucks

LITCHFIELD, Ill. — The new Model SS-200 electric salt spreader from Worksaver, Inc., mounts on the rear step bumper of most pickup trucks and spreads both rock and pellet salt, dry sand, fly ash or a mixture, simplifying snow and ice removal. The spreader has a three-bushel, 200- pound capacity polyhopper.

Model SS-200 features a durable 10-gauge steel frame for long life and spring loaded, independently mounted scatter shields that are hand-adjustable for quick and easy spread width changes. The John Deere 600 and 700 Series loaders are designed for the 6000 and 7000 Series John Deere tractors and will fit several older tractor models. The loaders can be equipped with a Quik-Park™ option for convenience and increased productivity when installing and removing the loader. A Quik-Change™ feature provides self-latching when connecting attachments. It is standard on the 640 and 740 loaders with mechanical self-leveling.

Deere Introduces New Loaders

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has introduced five new loaders with increased performance and convenience features to complement its totally new 6000 Series and 7000 Series tractors.

Available in seven versions, the new 600 and 700 Series loaders replace the model 146, 148, 158, 245, and 265 loaders. The new loaders also fit most noncurrent John Deere tractor models produced since 1960. Previous loader models do not fit the new tractors.

The 600 Series loaders include the model 620 for two-wheel-drive 6000 Series tractors and the 640 for two- and four-wheel-drive models. The 640 features mechanical self-leveling for increased productivity and convenience. It has 28 percent more lift capacity than the previous model 245. A 640 standard loader is available for customers who do not require a self-leveling loader. As needs change, options and attachments can give the loader "deluxe" features.

The 700 Series loaders offer a compact, low-profile model 720 and a model 725 with higher lift and reach that fit two-wheel-drive 7000 Series tractors. The 720 is also an economical choice for older tractors when a deluxe loader is not needed.

The 740 loader with mechanical self-leveling fits two-wheel-drive and MFWD 7000 Series tractors and the 3055 and 3255 tractors. A 740 standard loader without mechanical self-leveling is available for the same tractors and for older two-wheel-drive and MFWD models.

The loaders mount directly to the full-length steel frame of the 6000 and 7000 Series tractors, using the entire tractor chassis for loader support. When installed on the new tractors, the 600 and 700 Series loaders provide more lift capacity and breakout force than the models they replace.

A new Quik-Change™ feature permits an operator to switch attachments in under two minutes. The feature, standard on the 640 and 740 loaders with mechanical self-leveling, provides self-latching when connecting attachments so the operator only needs to get off the tractor once to change an attachment.

A new Quik-Park™ option that permits loader removal or attachment in less than five minutes is available for all models. New mid-mount hydraulic couplers for 6000 and 7000 Series tractors add convenience and help shorten the procedure.

Loader hydraulic valves are mounted in the SCV stack to take advantage of the faster cycle times and increased capacity of the new closed-center pressure and flow hydraulic system on the 6000 and 7000 Series tractors. The bucket control valve features a built-in fast dump (regenerative) detent for fast dump cycle times. Single-lever loader control, integrated into the console of the new tractors, increases productivity and operator convenience.

An optional electrohydraulic control valve, available for 6000 and 7000 Series tractors, provides a rocker switch on the loader control lever for third functions like a grapple or bale hugger.

Optional one-way, hydraulic self-leveling is available for loaders without mechanical self-leveling.

A choice of standard and heavy-duty buckets in several sizes is available to meet specific needs. Other attachments include a forklift, telescoping boom, bale/silage grapple, bale fork, tractor hood guard, and new bale hugger for wrapped bales. Quick-Change converstion brackets adapt noncurrent John Deere and other-brand attachments to the system.

THE IDEAL CARCASS PAYMENT PROGRAM

Does our industry need aggressive carcass payment programs? Most producers would answer yes.

For years, hogs were bought and sold on the basis of weight. Then, in the late sixties, "grade and yield" programs arrived on the scene. These were developed to pay more for the good hogs and less for the poor ones.

But often the programs were not what they were cracked up to be. The grading sheets included with the check were confusing and misleading. And most importantly, the programs lacked real incentives to produce good hogs.

Now packers across the nation are adopting new pork carcass grading programs. While all of the programs provide an incentive to produce high quality hogs, no two programs are identical.

Components Of An Ideal Carcass Program

1. Every hog should be measured objectively. Giving each hog a muscling score such as "thin," "moderate," or "thick" is not enough. Instead, hogs should be measured with an instrument such as a backfat ruler or a Fat-O-Meat'er so that the measurement will be the same day to day, operator to operator.

2. Measurements should be accurate. Unfortunately there is no technology that can deliver 100 percent accuracy. Optical probes, like the Fat-O-Meat'er, use a stainless steel tube with a light emitting diode at the end to measure fat and muscle thickness. Optical probes are presently the technology of choice among packers who have carcass payment programs. On a group of hogs (20 or more), the optical probes can usually predict lean content to within 1 percentage point. But on a single hog, the error can be significant.

Other technologies are coming within the next 5 to 10 years. For example, total body electrical conductivity (TOBEC) measures differences in electrical conductivity between fat and muscle. This concept is potentially more accurate than that of the optical probe, and is already used for boxed meat in some countries.

Using TOBEC for freshly slaughtered hogs will require the carcass to be taken off the rail since the carcass must move through a cylinder horizontally. But at least one midwestern packer is considering the use of the TOBEC machine the day after the hog is killed. By this time, of course, the carcass is ready for cutting, and will be off the rail anyway.

Ultrasound also has potential application for carcass measurement, and is used extensively for live hogs. But to my knowledge, packers have not yet adopted this technology for carcass payment programs.

Other techniques which are accurate but far from practical, include X-ray tomography, magnetic resonance imaging (MRI), and bioelectrical impedance.

3. The base price in a good grading program should be determined by a public market. Keep in mind that a packer can use the stars to determine price if he so chooses. But using a public market as a starting point is essential if the packer wants to give the producer a fair shake. In fact, a crackerjack grading program may be worthless if the base price is not competitive.

4. The base price should correspond to a hog that's not out of reach. You can decide better than I what this hog should look like, but it should probably have about an inch of back fat and a loin eye that measures between 4.0 and 5.0 square inches.

5. The system should provide a reasonable incentive to produce a good hog. There should be at least a $15 spread between the top and bottom of the quality scale. For example, the range for Indiana Packers Company is more than $35. For Monfort Pork, Inc., the range is between $15 and $20. For Hatfield, it depends upon the current market price of lean cuts, but the range from top to bottom is at least $20, sometimes as much as $40.

6. Payment should be made for the carcass, not the live hog — which means that dressing percent is not part of the pricing schedule. A higher dressing percent won't necessarily mean the carcass is better. Clear indicators of carcass value such as fat and muscle will affect dressing percent. But so do gut fill, the time of loading, temperature during transit, and travel time.

Should All Grading Programs Be The Same?

I don't think so.

I can't imagine why a packer in Iowa would have the same processing requirements and marketing strategy as one in Pennsylvania. And if they don't, there isn't any reason for the carcass payment programs to be the same.

Both should be paying premiums for lean, well muscled hogs, and both will certainly be discounting the price for fat, poorly muscled hogs. But I think the suggestion for uniformity in carcass payment programs is unfounded.

What Should You Expect From Your Packer?

1. A competitive carcass payment program. The details are outlined above.

2. A spirit of cooperation. You and the packer are both in the same boat, you just have different jobs. If there really is an "adversarial relationship" between you and the packer, evidence of packer cooperation with the hog industry and the producer will go a long way toward breaking down the wall.

3. Willingness to consider suggestions for improvement. The changes made in Hatfield's grade and weight program since its implementation four years ago is a good example of incorporating producer feedback.

4. An understanding of your problems: weather and transportation glitches. Feed and health problems that may change both quality and flow of hogs. High feed prices and low hog prices.

What Can The Packer Expect From You?

1. Quality hogs.

2. Cooperation. For obvious reasons, it's a two-way street.

3. Willingness to consider changes. The packer will probably see carcasses from your farm every week. He has to convert that raw material into something the consumer will pay for and enjoy. So, if the packer tells you your hogs are too fat, believe him.

4. An understanding of the packer's problems: scheduling the same number of hogs each day. Pale, soft, and exudative pork. Underweight carcasses. A burning need for consistency.

Hoffman Seeds Introduces Funk's Hybrids

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Hoffman Seeds has introduced eight Funk's G® brand hybrids for the 1993 planting season.

These new hybrids have been produced through research conducted by the Ciba-Geigy Seed Division. Each has been geneticall-ly selected to meet Northeast growing conditions. The hybrids have also been subjected to extensive field-scale tests to verify their performance potential.

New hybrids include:

• 4034 — A good choice for grain, silage or earn corn, 4034 is recommended for northern New York and New England, as well as higher elevation areas of Pennsylvania and New York. A 79-day hybrid, it offers good yield potential and ear fill.

• 4079 — A three-way cross hybrid, 4079 adapts to numerous soil, fertility, and climatic conditions. This 84-day variety performs particularly well as a silage hybrid in northern tier Pennsylvania, southern tier New York, and New England.

• 4231 — 4231 is a 92-day hybrid recommended for grain or high grain-to-stover ratio silage. It led 1991 field trials for yield among 90- to 98-day maturity hybrids. Stalk quality, intactness, and drydown are all highly rated.

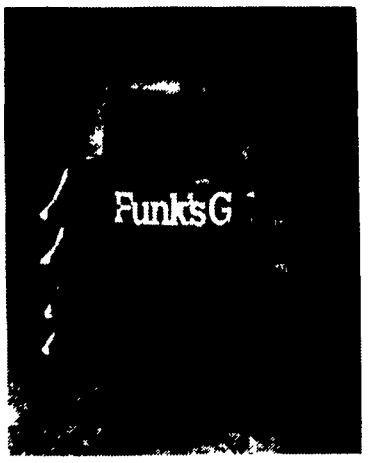
• 4292 — This new 100-day hybrid performs well at all plant populations. Recommended for grain or silage, it exhibits better than average tolerance to southern corn leaf blight and common rust.

• 4402 — 4402 topped Hoffman yield trials for 105-day hybrids in 1989 and 1990. Stalks are tall and dark green with relatively high ear placement. 4402 displays good overall plant health and above average corn borer tolerance. It is recommended for Pennsylvania and longer season growing areas of New York.

• 4631 — A tall, 117-day hybrid, 4631 is specifically recommended for Eastern Shore and eastern Virginia. Disease resistance ratings are excellent, especially for northern and southern corn leaf blights and Stewart's wilt. 4631 produces high test weights with good seedling vigor and standability.

• 4671 — This 120-day variety averaged 159 bushels/acre at nine locations in 1990 strip trials. Recommended both for grain and silage, 4671 performs best at moderate-to-high nitrogen levels. It demonstrates superior stress tolerance and disease resistance including northern and southern corn leaf blights, Stewart's wilt and gray leaf spot.

• 4672 — Stalk quality in this 118-day hybrid is excellent for greater stress tolerance. 4672 offers good foliar leaf disease tolerance. Its plants are tall with medium height ear placement. 4672 is recommended for areas extending from the Piedmont and Shenandoah Valley of Virginia all the way to New England.



Hoffman Seeds has introduced eight Funk's G® brand hybrids for the 1993 planting season.

For more information about the new hybrids, call Hoffman Seeds at (800) 776-7929.

Cargill Reduces Price Of Alfalfa Varieties

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Cargill Hybrid Seeds has reduced the price of two of its most popular alfalfa varieties for spring planting.

"Excellent supplies of alfalfa seed allowed us to reduce the price of our Trident II and Royalty varieties by $10 per bag for spring planting. In addition, alfalfa ordered by December 31 entitles producers to one free bag of any of our alfalfa varieties for every six bags of Trident II, Royalty, or any combination of the two that they order," said Jack Carlson, alfalfa product manager.

Carlson said actual prices will vary according to specific dealer programs, volume discounts, and payment schedules.

Royalty is highly resistant to bacterial wilt, fursarium wilt, anthracnose, and phytophthora root rot, Carlson said. It is resistant to verticillium wilt and also exhibits moderate resistance to stem nematodes and roof knot nematodes, especially important in western areas. Royalty has excellent forage quality and yield stability.

Trident II is an ideal variety when planted on relatively wet ground conditions because of its extremely high resistance to phytophthora root rot. It is highly resistant to bacterial wilt and fusarium wilt and resistant to anthracnose and verticillium wilt. Moderate resistance to aphanomyces is an added advantage, Carlson said.

ing programs across the country has been a welcome change in the way we buy hogs.

2. Packers with good carcass payment programs measure every hog accurately and objectively, base their payments initially on fair market prices, and adjust their payments to real changes in value.

3. The presumed conflict between packer and producer is probably less of an issue today than it was 20 years ago. To continue that trend, the packer and the producer need only understand that while each party has a different function, both share the same goal.

Salmonella Risk Guidelines Developed

COLLEGE PARK, Md. — A task force of the United States Animal Health Association consisting of 70 veterinarians, poultry industry personnel, and other interested persons throughout the nation has deveioped a set of guidelines to help table egg producers reduce the threat of Salmonella in both their flocks and products.

The 16-month effort resulted in a 35-page document published in the 1991 Proceedings of the 95th annual USAHA meeting in San Diego, Calif.

Single copies of the document, "Salmonella Risk Reduction for Table Egg Producers," are available free on request from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

Although aimed at large commercial operators, the document also contains useful information for owners of backyard flocks, game birds, and other small-scale poultry enterprises.

In addition, the document contains an extensive list of educational resources for flock owners, ranging from video-tapes on biosecurity to booklets and brochures on egg sanitation, laboratory procedures, and rodent/insect control (vector control).

To obtain a copy, contact the SE Control Program, USDA, APHIS, Suite 205, 6505 Belcrest Rd., Hyattsville, MD 20782. To order by phone, call (301) 436-4363.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — National recognition will be given to Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Virginia, and West Virginia FFA members at the 65th National FFA Convention, to be held here next week.

More than 24,000 FFA members, guests, and supporters are expected to attend.

The convention will feature top speakers from the fields of agriculture, government, and entertainment. Scheduled to appear are Dr. Thomas Sutherland, former dean of agriculture at the American University of Beirut, who was kidnapped in 1985 and held for 6½ years; Dave Yoho, international business consultant and motivational speaker; Mary Lou Retton, winner of the all-around gold medal in women's gymnastics at the 1984 Olympic games; former national officer Marty Coates; and Zig Ziglar, author of "See You at the Top."

In addition, convention participants will have opportunities to attend leadership workshops, tour Kansas City manufacturing and agribusiness sites, take in American Royal Livestock Show and Rodeo performances, and meet with fellow FFA members.

Other highlights will include the selection of top FFA members in 29 agricultural proficiency award areas, 15 national career skill competitions including a new parliamentary procedure contest, and both prepared and extemporaneous public speaking contests. The American Star Farmer and American Star in Agribusiness will be named, and 1,206 members will receive the American FFA Degree, the organization's highest degree.

Top chapters in safety, community development, and overall chapter activities will also be recognized. In addition, the 1992-1993 national FFA officers will be elected and installed.

The National FFA Agricultural Career Show and the National FFA Alumni Convention are held in conjunction with the FFA convention.

BREWEX - For Use In Dairy Feeds

BREWEX is used extensively in complete dairy formulations to contribute utilizable energy. It is a price/performance value when used in dry feeds, liquid feeds and on-farm mixes.

MIX WITH DRY FEEDS: BREWEX is found in commercial pelleted rations for dairy, hogs and poultry as an energy source to replace corn. BREWEX replaces corn on a pound for pound dry basis and provides for improved pellet durability, reduced mineral segregation, dust control and improved palatability in dairy rations.

ON-FARM MIXING

A commercial Jersey dairy farm, having over ten years of experience in feeding BREWEX to partially replace corn finds that

- BREWEX replaced 5% to 10% corn/day
- BREWEX improves butterfat about 0.1%
- BREWEX mixed with forage reduces mortality due to displaced abomasum
- BREWEX helps cattle to stay on feeds

Are you feeding your herd roasted beans?

If your beans are being heat processed by traditional roasting methods, you may want to rethink your crop investment. You use soybeans in your cropping and feeding program because of their double cropping potential, and the weed control that crop rotation offers. Why lose that advantage with inconsistent moisture and by-pass protein levels?

Weaver's Toasted Grains offers you an exciting advantage. With their unique toasting process, the soybeans never come in contact with the flame that can affect nutrition. By feeding toasted soybeans you will improve the energy density of your ration, improve palatability, increase by-pass protein levels and destroy molds that may be present in the raw soybeans. But best of all, you will improve your cash flow, and isn't that what really matters?

Weaver's Toasted Grains
TOASTED IS TASTIER

The soybeans you feed will be clean and nutritious, and Weaver's Toasted Grains offers an economical storage and exchange program. Not only will your herd benefit from this unique process, but you will too.

A LOAD OF MIRACLE BREWER'S WET GRAINS . . . LOADS MORE MILK

Have you considered brewer's wet grains to give your herd's production a boost? Brewer's wet grains from Miracle Feeds are an excellent protein and energy source They can readily make up to 20-30% of the ration's dry matter Combined with McNess vitamins and minerals they can provide a very efficient rumen by pass way to feed

Researchers estimate that between 45 55% of brewer's wet grains' protein escapes rumen degradation compared to only 25-30% for soy bean meal This by-pass protein is more efficiently digested and absorbed in the cow's small intestine

For more information on the use of brewer's grains and other by-products, plus McNess premixes, contact Bob Hoffmann at (716) 344-3930

Stressfighter.®

To Keep Your Cattle Up and Running.

Every time you upset your cattle's daily routine, they suffer stress. Weaning, shipping, receiving—all of these activities contribute to appetite and weight loss. Which means you lose profits.

But with the Master Mix® Stressfighter program, you can battle the devastating effects of cattle stress.

Specially formulated after years of research, Stressfighter feeds contain a palatable mixture of select roughages, proteins and energy to encourage healthy gains. And since stressed cattle often lose vital nutrients, Master Mix adds extra fortification of niacin and B-vitamins to Stressfighter feeds to return your calves to top condition.

Cattlemen across the country credit the Master Mix Stressfighter program for keeping their cattle "up and running." You can, too. Contact us for more information.

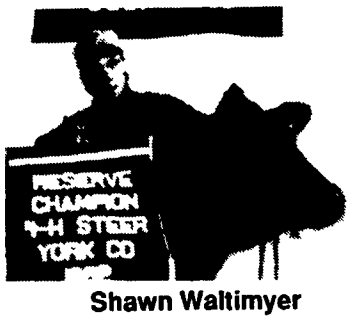
Bishard Tops York 4-H Beef Roundup

JOYCE BUPP
York Co. Correspondent

THOMASVILLE (York Co.) — Exhibitors of 4-H champion market steers generally spend hours each week walking their project animals to develop leanness and muscle.

But not 4-H steer raiser Brett Bishard. The 11-year-old York R10 member instead took the opposite approach, noting that his animal needed the weight.



Shawn Waltimyer

It paid off for the 4-Her when his 1245-pound Angus entry topped the annual steer roundup October 19 at Weikert's Buying Station to take grand champion honors and the coveted purple banner.

In the sale that followed, Bishard's champion sold for $3.60 per pound to Bill Campbell of Hoss's Steak and Sea House.

The champion win was the first for the third-year 4-H steer raiser, a sixth grade student at Spring Grove Middle School. His project animal was purchased as a calf from South Branch Farms, York.

Reserve champion was a 1135-pound Maine-Anjou crossbred exhibited by 15-year-old Shawn Waltimyer, Airville. Buyer of the reserve winner was Robert A. Kinsley, Inc., with a bid of $1.40 per pound.

Champion heavyweight was exhibited by Kimberly Frantz, Seven Valleys. Her 1365-pound steer sold for 85-cents per pound to Brown's Orchard and Farm Market, Loganville.

Kelly Myers, Thomasville, took the reserve champion mediumweight honor. Her 1285-pound winner brought a $1.05 bid from Wildason Bedliner.

Reserve heavyweight honors went to Kelly Dutrey, Dallastown, whose 1345-pound steer sold to York Agway Farm Center on a 81-cent bid.

Travis Reid, Dallastown, exhibited his 1165-pound steer to the reserve champion lightweight placing. Buyer of the steer, at 85-cents, was Godfrey Bros. Meats, York.

A total of 24 market steers were shown and sold at the annual roundup. Average price, including the champion, was $1.00 per pound. Price without the champion was 87 cents.

York 4-H Market Steer champion title was won by 11-year-old Brett Bishard. Hoss's Steak and Sea House restaurants purchased the winning 1245 lb. Angus with their $3.60 per pound bid.

Brand Tops Silage Trials

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — In silage trails conducted by Solanco Young Farmers, Funk's G™ brand 4671 finished first with a yield of 25.65 tons/acre at 65 percent moisture. Its dry matter yield of 17,956 pounds/acre with a net energy rating of .75 was also tops among the 22 varieties tested.

The average yield for the test plot was 22.35 tons/acre corrected to 65 percent moisture. Average dry matter yield per acre was 15,645 pounds.

Brand 4671 also produced 27,255 pounds of milk/acre — 5,456 pounds more than the nearest competitor. Milk/acre is calculated using forage analysis and a conversion factor developed by the University of Wisconsin. It assumes that one forage is fed to dairy cows producing 70 pounds of milk per day.

The field plot was planted May 7, 1992 in 30-inch rows, with each plot consisting of four rows. Both plots were harvested on September 19 and yield was calculated from the corn weight. A sample was also taken and sent to Skyview Laboratory in Jennerstown, for forage analysis.

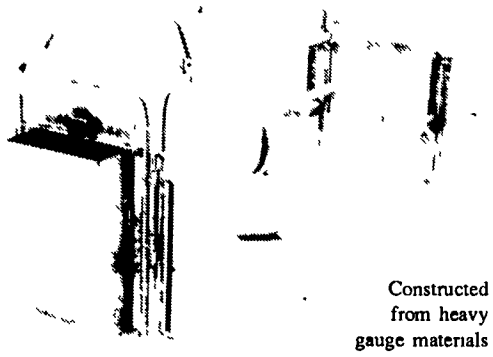
PREVENT PIGLET CRUSHING

BSM Model 90 Farrowing Crate



GALVANIZED!

Constructed from heavy gauge materials this crate is designed to reduce crushing, with sow comfort in mind. The bowed bottom bars makes for a comfortable 33" crate width when the sow lays down, yet the adjustable anti-crush bars eliminates the sow from carelessly dropping in the piglets.

This movement restriction does not hamper the sow as she lays down, or wants to stand up, as the bars slide up and out of her way.

PRV HEADLINES

PA Pseudorabies Committee and Penn State Extension to alert you to developments in PRV and its control

SOURCES OF PRV AND ITS ABILITY TO SURVIVE

Editor's Note: Sections taken from "Pseudorabies (PRV) Eradication Program," Harry J. Baker, D.V.M., Pseudorabies Epidemiologist, Nebraska Department of Agriculture.

Pseudorabies is a highly contagious infectious disease caused by herpes virus. This disease is of primary interest to those in the swine industry, but other species of animals, wild and domestic, are affected as well.

At this time, research seems to indicate that swine are the only primary hosts of PRV. Primary host means an animal can have the disease, recover, and yet remain a carrier.

Generally, PRV carrier swine do not continually shed virus on a daily basis. Once the acute infection is over, the virus becomes somewhat dormant within the body. The carrier animal may never shed the virus again or may shed only when stressed. Stressors could include chilling, movement of pigs, farrowing, or any other type of situation that puts the animal under stress. That is why, in the herd cleanup plans, all factors that cause stress have to be addressed.

Other species of animals are considered dead-end hosts, which means that the result of animals which become PRV infected is usually death. Fortunately, these animals have a higher resistance to the PRV virus than swine.

Of domestic animals, dogs and cats have a high resistance to PRV. Cattle are moderately resistant to PRV, while sheep have a low resistance.

Of the wild animals known to be affected by PRV, opossums, rats, mice, and skunks have a high resistance to this disease, and raccoons are moderately resistant.

The PRV virus, once outside of a host animal's body and in the environment, is very susceptible to the elements. The herpes virus can't live very long without some degree of protection — this is because PRV is primarily a respiratory disease.

It is thought the virus survives and moves from animal to animal within the herd through respiratory excretions. These excretions (nasal and snotty discharges) stick to panels, workers' boots and clothing, feed and feeding equipment, trucks and other miscellaneous equipment, and bedding. These vehicles are thought to be the primary methods of spread of the disease other than direct animal-to-animal contact.

Research personnel at the Iowa State University studied the survivability of the PRV virus under environmental conditions. They have learned that the survival of virus is dependent on temperature and is susceptible to extreme levels of pH.

If optimal pH and temperature conditions exist, some virus may exist for long periods of time. Virus can live for 40 days at 37 degrees C and 120 days at 4 degrees C.

However, these conditions are unlikely to exist. In fact, the survival of the virus in infectious dosages outside of a host animal's tissues is likely to be very limited.

PRV virus can live for only a few hours on clean concrete, but can live for up to three days on plastic and steel. When mixed in dirt, the virus will live a few hours. The presence of organic material, such as manure or corn stalks, will permit the virus to live for several days.

We can never know for sure how long a premises may be infectious. In most cases, the virus probably survives for only a few days.

Carcasses of pigs or wild animals may contain live virus for at least one week under summer conditions. Protein (body tissue) protects the virus from the elements. Important potential sources of infection are dead pigs, infected placenta, and dead wildlife.

The time-honored method of throwing out dead pigs with the manure has to stop. This is a potential method of spread of PRV. Oftentimes, when a newly infected farm is studied for the source of PRV, the owner will state their dog or cat has been bringing pigs to the house that were a different color than what that farm farrows.

Proper disposition of dead baby pigs, dead swine, infected placenta, and dead wildlife by rendering, incineration, or deep burial is an important part of the control and eradication of PRV.

Chemical Safety Compliance School

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The public is invited to attend the 1992 Capital Region Ag Chemical Safety Compliance School which will be held at the Farm Show Complex, Harrisburg, on Tuesday, December 15, starting at 8:30 a.m. Registration is required with a deadline of December 8.

The morning sessions are designed to inform supervisors and workers about their role and responsibilities as a pesticide applicator. A panel discussion on many of the regulations from the Pennsylvania right-to-know laws to the hazardous communication programs will be discussed in detail.

Also an update on the recent regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency will be discussed.

A special on-site demonstration on how to handle a chemical spill will be conducted by the Cumberland County Hazmat Team.

Finally, in the afternoon, participants will break out into their specific areas to obtain category credits in ornamentals and turf, parks and recreation, right-of-way, pools, aquatics, and other core credits.

Although this year's program has been designed for township and borough supervisors and school and park grounds maintenance crews, the program also is adaptable to any individual working with pesticides in agriculture.

There is a registration fee of $18, which includes instructional materials, lunch, breaks, and speaker expenses.

For more information, call (717) 334-6271 or your local county extension office.

New Age Cattle Co. of New Berlin, N.Y., is consigning Salers and Salorn bulls. Shorthorn consignors are Cloon Lara Farm, Youngstown, N.Y.; Stony Brook Farms, Locke, N.Y.; and Colonial Acres, Gorham, Maine.

Charolais bulls will be consigned by Cooper Charolais Farm, Windham, Maine and Mary & Bob's Farm of Hannibal, N.Y. Ken Marquis of Ithaca, N.Y. is consigning Red Angus bulls. New representatives in the bull test lineup are Blonde D'Aquitaine from Baker's Acres, Waddington, N.Y., and RX-3 from West Creek Cattle Co., Victor, N.Y.

Debbie Ketchen, coordinator of the bull test and manager of the Beef Cattle T&R Center, noted that the purpose of the test is to provide a program that allows beef producers to participate in a common test to evaluate the performance of bulls under similar, unbiased environmental conditions and to provide an opportunity for purebred breeders and commercial producers to purchase these performance tested bulls.

Interested persons are invited to observe the progress of the bulls. The test officially starts on December 1, and bulls will be weighed every consecutive 28 days until completion of the test. The bull sale will be held the evening of April 23, 1993, in the Livestock Pavilion at Cornell University.

N.E. DHIA Calibrates Meters

ITHACA, N.Y. — National Cooperative Dairy Herd Improvement Program Rules, Section 3 Standard Equipment and Methods states: All equipment and procedures must conform to the standards and methods set forth by the NCDHIP Policy Board and State regulatory agency.

All equipment, including that owned by members, must be checked for accuracy according to quality certification standards to ensure that it is operating within the tolerance established by the NCDHIP policy board. Any equipment out of tolerance must be removed from service and repaired before further use.

The quality certification standards require that all metering devices used for making official records have their calibration checked whenever a problem is suspected, no less often than once each 12 months.

Northeast DHIA supervisors use about 3,100 meters. In order to insure accuracy and comply with National DHIA quality certification rules, Northeast DHIA has a meter van that travels the Northeast, (New Jersey, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and New York) from spring through summer.

The van is equipped to check the calibration, calibrate and repair meters and scales. The van, manned by Laverne Murdock, has just come home for the winter having finished its last trip until next spring.

Whenever a supervisor suspects a problem with the DHIA meter, any time of the year, they send it into the DHIA center through the truck system.

Merrick's Announces 4-H Support

MIDDLETON, Wis. — Merrick's, Inc., the dry fat and baby animal nutrition specialists, is proud to announce the start of a joint program with the American Sheep Industry Association to support national 4-H sheep awards programs.

Under this program, Merrick's will donate 25 cents from the sale of each bag of Super Lamb Milk Replacer through the American Sheep Industry Association to benefit 4-H sheep awards programs nationally.

In addition, Merrick's private label lamb milk replacer customers throughout the United States will participate in the program, with Merrick's also donating 25 cents per bag from these sales.

All product sold under this program will have a label affixed outlining Merrick's support of national 4-H sheep awards programs. No endorsement of Merrick's products or service by 4-H is implied or intended.

Bill Merrick, president of Merrick's, Inc., believes the 4-H club award programs encourage members who are interested in raising lambs to get involved in good feed nutrition and proper lamb raising practices. He thinks that supporting these programs will ultimately benefit the entire sheep industry by helping to develop America's future sheep raisers.

Merrick's is committed to fund this program for a minimum of three years, beginning each year on November 1 and running through October 31, with a check to be presented each year by Merrick's and a representative of the American Sheep Industry Association at the National 4-H Congress in December.

Agridealers Back Certification

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — Pennsylvania's ag dealers have been working hard to become recognized as a reliable source of information and technical advice for our state's farmers.

Tightening federal regulations are requiring farmers to keep more records, especially concerning the use of crop protection chemicals.

The public is becoming more concerned about the proper application and use of plant growth nutrients on farm fields. Also, the responsible farmer realizes that nutrient management planning is also working to his benefit.

In short, a technical service market is developing in the farming community. The fertilizer and agriculture chemical dealer realizes that he has the experience and expertise to provide these services to his customer.

The Pennsylvania agri dealers, through their trade association Pennsylvania Agronomic Products Association, have begun to establish a credible certification program for all persons who act as crop advisors to Pennsylvania's farmers. This will be called the Pennsylvania-Certified Crop Advisor (PA-CCA) program.

The CCA program has actually been developed by the American Society of Agronomy (ASA). ASA is the organization that has acted as the national certifying agency for professional agronomists who have a bachelor's degree or higher. ASA has recently recognized the need for non-degree people, who can demonstrate their qualifications, and document a prescribed amount of field experience, to be working as crop advisors to Pennsylvania's farmers. They realized that this would have to be a new program and it would have to be operated in each state, in some independent fashion, in order to have it apply directly and appropriately to agriculture across the country.

The Pennsylvania Agronomic Products Association (PAPA) immediately recognized the CCA program as the one that would perfectly meet requirements. Here is how the program works:

- ASA produces a national test that will cover all the basic principles of soils, fertility, pest management, IPM, etc.
- Concurrently, each participating state must develop a state portion of the test that brings the general agronomic principals to bear on Pennsylvania's specific agricultural industry.
- The program will be operated and directed by an elected CCA state board that will be comprised of seven or more people from agri industry, state and federal government agencies, extension, and the farm community.
- An applicant must demonstrate the following experience — four-year bachelor's degree with two years experience; two-year associate degree with three years experience; and no degree with four years experience.
- The state and national test must be passed and the certified individual must be willing to sign on to a strict code of ethics. This code will be strictly enforced by the state CCA board.

Pennsylvania and ASA are moving along very rapidly in their development of this program. The national test is prepared, it has been qualified, and is ready for presentation. Pennsylvania has established its first PA-CCA state board in accordance with all the guidelines prescribed by ASA. That state board met for the first time recently.

In that first state board meeting, the Penn State College of Agriculture was authorized to begin preparation of the state portion of the examination. The board has also set the date of August 5, 1993 as the date for the first PA-CCA examination.

Anyone wanting more information on the PA-CCA Program may contact the Pennsylvania Agronomic Products Association, 1408 Mission Road, Lancaster, PA 17601, (717) 392-7577.

State Accepts Agribusiness Award Nominations

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — State Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff is accepting nominations for the state's 1993 Agribusiness Achievement Awards.

The awards are presented to Pennsylvania companies that have made a special contribution to the development and expansion of Pennsylvania agribusiness. First place awards will be given in two separate categories.

"The Agribusiness Award is an important opportunity to recognize the people who contributed so much to Pennsylvania's leading industry," Wolff said.

"Prestigious companies that have won this award in the past include Hatfield Quality Meats, Reading Terminal Market, Jay's Markets, Pellegrino Food Products, and other firms that helped establish a quality standard for Pennsylvania agricultural products."

Awards will be presented at the annual Farm Show Dinner on Saturday, January 9, 1993, at the Harrisburg Hilton in Harrisburg. The deadline for receipt of completed award applications is November 20.

Contact the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Market Development at (717) 787-4210 for more information or to request an application.

Proper Management Can Prevent Grain Damage

GOLDENVALLEY, Minn. — Improperly adjusted combines, wet weather, and molds at harvest can all come back to haunt corn growers with on-farm grain storage.

Mechanical damage to grain causes specific storage problems while also acting as a catalyst to molds and fungi, according to Fran Marier, Northrup King Co. agronomist.

Broken kernels may cause more tightly packed bins as fines fill air spaces. This hampers air movement during drying and cooling, leaving pockets of wet grain and hot spots in the bin.

Marier said broken kernels also prompt an invasion of mold and fungi in two important ways. First, damage to the kernel provides an entry point for infection. In addition, the pathogens causing mold thrive in the moisture and heat generated by the pockets of fines. Marier also cautions growers to be on the lookout for ear molds this fall, especially in fields which received excessive moisture in September.

Corn growers can minimize mechanical damage to grain during harvest by monitoring and adjusting combine cylinder speed and concave settings when moving from one hybrid to another.

Before growers put the crop into a bin, the Northrup King agronomist recommends screening the grain, removing as much mold and as many fines as possible. After filling, he said some growers remove a load of grain from the bin to draw out fines and broken kernels which tend to fall to the center.

Marier also prescribes continuous monitoring.

Divelbiss Shows Franklin County Grand

GREENCASTLE (Franklin Co.) — When 11-year-old Brad Divelbiss, who suffers from mild cerebral palsy and weights only 44 lbs., found out there was no place for him on the area Little League teams, he thought perhaps he could get interested in the cattle business like his idol Texas Ranger Pitcher Nolan Ryan, who is also a rancher.

Brad told his parents, Steve and Rolanda, he would like to show a 4-H steer. They never dreamed it would come to showing the grand champion at the Franklin County Roundup.

Eleven months ago Brad bought the so-called runt of the litter—a ¼ Limousin, ¾ Angus crossbred steer from a local farmer-because he was tame and small. Even with Brad's limitations every day he would still feed, water, and tell Nolan he would be a champion someday like his namesake.

Saturday, Brad paraded his 1,225-pound steer, along with 18 other members of the club, under the watchful eye of Judge Ernie Reeves from Mr. Solan, Va. After winning champion of the medium weight, he was named grand champion of the show. The judge praised the steer for his thickness of quarters, square rump, wide loin, and even finish. Brad also won novice fitting and was selected champion fitter of the show. Hoss's Steak and Sea House purchased the animal that evening for $2.90 a pound.

Crystal Meyers of Greencastle won the reserve champion with her 1,270-pound crossbred steer after being named champion of the light heavyweight class. Crystal also won fitting and showing of the intermediate division. Her steer sold for $2.65 a pound to Detrich's Elevator of Williamson that evening. She is the daughter of Dean and Nancy Meyers.

Winning the lightweight class was Valerie Bittinger of Chambersburg with ther 1,190-pound Angus/Chianina crossbred steer, which sold for $1.05 a pound to Willard Agri Service of Marion.

First-year member Spencer Walk of Chambersburg won the medium heavyweight class with his 1,300 pound Angus/Chianina crossbred steer which sold for $1 a pound to McDowell Insurance. Spencer also won fitting and showing in the senior division and went on to be selected champion shower.

A 1,440-pound Charlois steer shown by Darren Statler of Greencastle won the heavyweight class and was bough by Snider's Elevator of Lemasters for $1.20 a pound.

Cheryl Hawbaker of Mercersburg won first in fitting and showing in the junior division, and her brother Matt won the showing in the novice division.

Following is a partial list of show placings.

Crop Damage Office

HARRISBURG Dauphin Co. — State Agriculture Secretary Boyd E. Wolff has announced the relocation of the USDA Animal Damage Control (ADC) office to the Agriculture Building in Harrisburg.

The USDA ADC office assists farmers with complaints and damage mitigation relating to animal destruction of crops.

"Crop losses due to deer and other animals have increased over the past decade," Wolff said. "The ADC office is accessible to farmers who sustain animal crop damage, and it saves the commonwealth more than $30,000 a year because we won't need to open our own office independently."

In addition to deer, other examples of wildlife damage include loss of fruit, vegetables and grains due to birds, black bear damage to bee hives and corn, raccoons eating sweet corn, and coyotes killing sheep.

For more information on the ADC program, contact Bob Fisher, Wildlife Biologist, ADC Program, 2301 North Cameron Street, Room 413, Harrisburg, PA 17110-9408, telephone (717) 238-4127.

Purpose Media Signs McDonald's As Farm Show Advertiser

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Purpose Media, the Harrisburg-based communications company, has announced that fast food giant, McDonald's, will be a major sponsor of new, high-tech, information centers at the 1993 State Farm Show. These kiosks will be strategically placed throughout the Farm Show Complex and feature touch screens to provide instantaneous directions and other vital information to Farm Show crowds.

"McDonald's realizes the enormous advertising potential of the touch screen kiosks," says Carl Shank, President of Purpose Media. "More than a quarter-of-a-million people attend the Farm Show and most of them will utilize our touch screens for information at least once."

According to Shank, McDonald's and other companies will have their commercial message programmed into touch screen responses so that the viewer receives desired information and a coupon from the sponsor. Purpose Media experimented with touch screens at last year's Farm Show and the response was overwhelmingly favorable.

"The kiosks with our touch screens are very user friendly," Shank suggests. "Everyone's a winner in this — the people receive directions and other information quickly, advertisers get their message out to a huge audience and the Farm Show benefits from improved traffic flow."

The agreement with McDonald's is the result of an intense, ongoing effort by Purpose Media to meet the needs of the Farm Show and to educate advertisers and consumers about interactive multi-media (a combination of state-of-the-art computer and touch screen technology). Purpose Media is the only company in the region working with advanced, interactive, multi-media and the 1993 Farm Show is yet another opportunity to showcase the technology on a grand scale.

Purpose Media, headquartered at 730 South 10th Street, Harrisburg was founded in 1982. In addition to its corporate headquarters, Purpose Media maintains an office in Morgantown, Pennsylvania, headed by Vice-President, Lynn Burkholder.

Worm Probes Are Electrocution Hazard

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A "worm probe," a product that uses electrical current to shock earthworms to the soil surface to be gathered for fishing, could be fatal to users and passers-by.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) said that worm probes use full-line voltage - 110 to 120 volts - and pose an electrocution hazard to those who use them or stand nearby. CPSC urges owners of the probes to discontinue use immediately and to destroy the products.

The commission is aware of at least 28 deaths involving functionally identical worm probes. Most of the fatalities were children.

Most of the probes have no identifying marks. CPSC urges consumers to stop using the worm probes immediately and destroy them.

Endless Rubber Track On Skid-Steer Loader

COLUMBUS, Ind. — One of the world's most versatile utility vehicles has just become more agile with new feet of rubber track that can be fitted on location, it was announced by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

An endless rubber track, called Trackman, was introduced on the skid-steer loader, a traditionally wheeled vehicle that has become increasingly popular because of its versatility.

"Trackman carries the skid-steer into a new dimesion," said Ned Kendall, vice president of engineered products at Goodyear. "Our testing and work with original equipment manufacturers and dealers indicate the track-outfitted vehicles go well beyond the capabilities of conventional wheeled vehicles."

The retrofit version of Trackman made its debut at the Farm Progress Show here. The rubber tracks wrap around and are held in place by the vehicle's tires.

Rain-soaked ground, loosely compacted or rough terrain, and fear of turf damage traditionally have been limiting factors for the use of skid-steers, he said.

"Goodyear rubber track answers those concerns," Kendall said.

"Trackman's wider, softer footprint gives the vehicle access to areas inaccessible to wheeled skid-steers," he said. "Rubber track keeps the skid-steer on-site working when wheeled versions are sidelined."

Kendall said Goodyear chose the skid-steer as its first application because of the vehicle's growing popularity as an all-purpose work vehicle on farms, businesses, and construction sites.

"Goodyear rubber track takes a machine that is praised for its versatility and makes it more nimble, more maneuverable and, according to our testing, much easier on the driver," he said.

The retrofit version of Trackman is friction driven and easily fits over the skid-steer's tires.

Other construction, agricultural, and utility vehicles that currently use steel track or tires are targeted for future Trackman applications in both the original equipment and retrofit markets.

Brown Swiss dairy cattle on Larry Flutterjohnn's farm near St. Marys, Ohio, aren't sure what to make of a skid-steer loader mounted on rubber track. Goodyear's Trackman endless rubber track adds maneuverability and versatility to the already agile machine. The track easily takes the skid-steer into sloppy fields and terrain that are inaccessible to wheeled machines.

NFU Says 10 Percent Set-Aside Best For Corn Farmers

DENVER, Colo. — Leaders of the National Farmer Union (NFU) say setting the Acreage Reduction program (ARP) for the 1993 corn crop at 10 percent will provide the farmers the best opportunity to make a profit on their crop.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced the 10 percent set-aside, along with provisions for a five percent ARP for sorghum and zero percent ARP levels for oats and barley.

Farmers Union had recommended the 10 percent corn ARP in comments delivered to USDA.

"We have the potential for a huge corn crop this year if producers can avoid an early frost," said NFU President Leland Swenson. "The five percent set-aside we had this year created a situation where our ending stocks are projected to go up by 75 percent. Raising the set-aside for next year will help keep stocks from building yet again in 1993."

With corn prices today hovering at about $2 per bushel, NFU also wants USDA to open the Farmer-Owned Reserve as a way to take corn off the market at harvest time and potentially raise prices.

Lawmakers are considering making more sweeping changes in the FOR program that would expedite opening the reserve this year. NFU officials say that could be done before Congress adjourns.

USDA also announced loan rate levels and target prices for some 1993 crops at the same time. The corn support rate of $1.73 falls approximately seventy-five cents below corn's estimated cost of production, according to NFU.

The group has been a proponent of raising loan rates as a way to stimulate market prices and cut government costs. "These levels clearly won't do that," said Swenson.

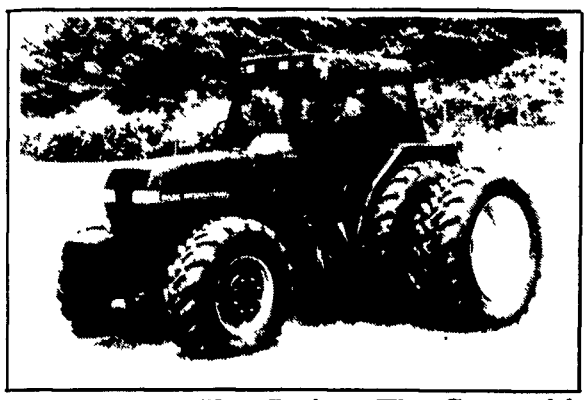
THREE YEARS AGO, WE SET THE STANDARD. NOW WE'RE RAISING IT: INTRODUCING THE NEW 5200 SERIES MAXXUM® LINE.

NEW HP RATINGS From 80 To 90 To 100 To 112



THIS NEW 5250, 112 HP TRACTOR IS IN AND READY TO GO TO THE FARMER WHO WANTS IT THE BEST!

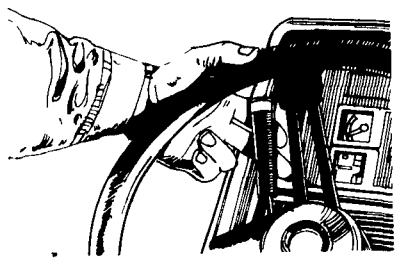
And Would You Believe The Competition Has Tried To Copy The Case IH Maxxum & Magnum Tractor Lines... But OOPS! They Didn't Make It! This Proves That Case IH Is Truly The Tractor Industry Leader!

① We Still Have Transmissions Made Out Of Real Iron — NOT Aluminum.

② Our Maxxum Tractor Line Weighs Almost 1 Ton More Than Most Competitive Brands In The Same HP Class.

③ Case IH Maxxum Tractors Are Still The Only Tractor Made With A True Shuttle Shift That Is Operated By Your Left Hand Which Also Operates Your Steering. This Leaves Your Right Hand Free To Operate Loader Controls, Aux. Hydraulics & Other Operating Functions.

THE MAXXUM® SHUTTLE SHIFT: IT'S NEVER BEEN EASIER TO MAKE ALL THE RIGHT MOVES.



While it may be tough to choose between the four new Case International 5200 Series MAXXUM tractors now available, one thing is certain No matter which model you select, the industry's top shuttle-shift system comes standard ■ And that means high-volume, high-speed loader work has never been easier With the flip of a fingertip, your MAXXUM shuttles quickly and decisively from forward to reverse, or vice versa, without clutching ■ The MAXXUM shuttle-shift is active between the first 12 forward speeds and the corresponding 12 reverse speeds, allowing shuttle shifts at forward speeds of more than eight mph and reverse speeds of more than 10 mph ■ "Shuttle-shift" a new 5200 Series MAXXUM tractor yourself Coming or going, there's never been anything like it

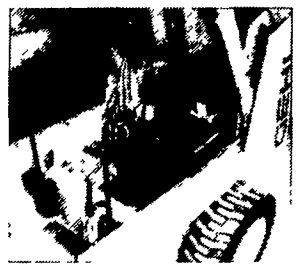
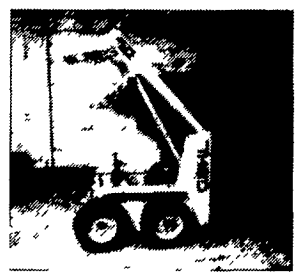
Introducing a new generation of Gehl skid loaders.

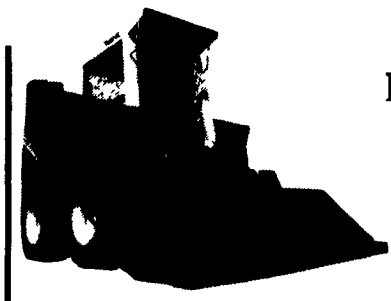
Gehl skid loaders have a long, well-earned reputation for ruggedness, reliability and unmatched serviceability. Our new "25 Series" generation of skid loaders enhances that proven performance with more muscle, more durability, additional convenience features and increased operator comfort.





GEHL

Unmatched serviceability. The entire ROPS/FOPS structure pivots back and out of the way and locks in the "up" position for full and easy access to drive and hydraulic components. The spring-loaded, counter-balanced ROPS/FOPS makes roll-back an easy, one-person operation that takes only minutes. In addition, the rear grill swings open and the engine cover swings up for access to the engine, battery and filters.



How About A Medium-Size 54" Wide New Gehl Model 3825 Skid Loader Powered By Kubota Diesel Load Tip Rating Of 2000 Lb., Height To ROPS Overall Only 69½". Stop In For A Quality Compact Diesel Skid Loader Now!

If You Need A Big Lift, Consider A New Gehl Model 6620, 60 HP, With Lift of 123" And A Tip Up Rating Of 4100 Lbs. In Stock New Style Which Has The New Yellow Paint Scheme.

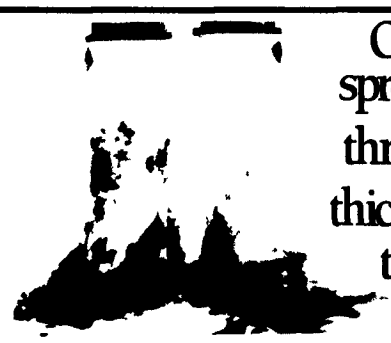
One spreader through thick and thin



Why bother with both a box spreader and a liquid tank when one Gehl Scavenger® II spreader can handle any kind of manure?

From liquid to semi-solid to pen-packed or even frozen manure, the Scavenger II gives you two spreaders for the price of one.

Its patented square tube auger hydraulically powers up and down, pulsing through manure to break up and blend solid material. The Variflo side discharge spreads smoothly and evenly in any amount, from fine top dressing to heavy spring spreading. And the entire tank is backed by a ten-year warranty against rust-through.

Ask your Gehl dealer about the versatile Scavanger II - available in 192, 260, 345, 468 and 596 bushel capacities.

See Binkley & Hurst Now!

GEHL EVEN WHEN IT'S EMPTY...IT'S LOADED!

When you're checking out box-type manure spreaders, look to Gehl for a better spreader! Gehl box spreaders are available in five sizes ranging from 135 to 425 bushel heaped capacities. Gehl box spreaders deliver these and many more advanced features:

- Gehl-Tuff flooring is slippery so manure slides out easily
- T-bar apron chains are extra strong for durability
- Galvanized steel sides are more corrosion resistant
- Single or tandem axle models available
- 10-year warranty on sides and floors
- Hydraulic apron drive (optional) to match your specific application needs

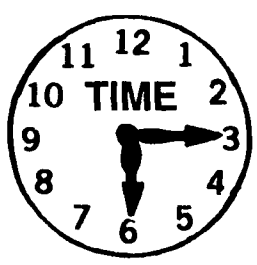
THE CROP IS YOUR $ CASH $

Everything you work for — tilling ground, planting seed, spraying or cultivating — depends upon Harvesting your CROP and getting it sold!

NOTHING HARVESTS CROPS LIKE A case IH Axial-Flow Combine!

HERE'S 4 REASONS WHY!



- Get in the field earlier - and stay later - because the Axial Flow Combine's specialty rotor separates grain from wet, damp material better than the competition. You get more done in less days than with a conventional combine.

VALUE

- Grain from an Axial Flow combine is worth more, because it is less damaged and the sample is cleaner than from a conventional combine. (Food Corn growers PREFER Axial Flow for this reason.)

MAINTENANCE

- The single rotor design eliminates the straw walker assembly and all the problems that go with all those bearings and vibration. All of the threshing and separating system parts are easy to get to, making maintenance a simple routine.

HOOBER SERVICE

- Don Carper and his (5) combine technicians work on combines 12 months of the year. They have started over 250 Axial Flow combines in all kinds of crops and conditions. Their knowledge and concern for your problems keep you running when you want to run.

IXL
Anti-Friction Metal Conditioner

Efficiency is our Newest Resource

Science brings a new dimension to Anti-Friction

A metal conditioner product ahead of its time, IXL will give your equipment priceless protection. IXL gives protection far superior to just oil or lubricants. IXL is specifically designed to be used in: (NEW) and (USED) gasoline & diesel engines, compressors, automatic & manual transmissions, hydraulics, gear boxes, bearings of all types, turbos, pumps, and much more. IXL is a metal conditioner which treats all ferrous metals 3 to 5 microns deep, thereby making the metal surfaces harder, denser and smoother. These results are minimum metal wear, giving maximum engine and machine life. IXL reduces heat, friction, and wear, up to 75% without changing tolerances, reducing friction will release energy previously expended to overcome ordinary mechanical resistance. This energy is now available as a positive force, working to increase power, performance and fuel savings. IXL, also helps maintain and recondition seals and gaskets, by keeping these items pliable, firm, and flexible. It will help prevent leaks, IXL is not a lubricant fortifier, such as PTFE, Moly, or graphite. IXL is biodegradable, NON-TOXIC and environmentally safe. IXL is one of the highest quality products on the market today.

SAVE $ ON #1 QUALITY!

ABC GROFF
Since 1890
The name you can trust

Built Ford tough!

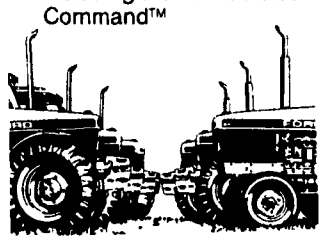
- 2WD and 4WD
- Efficient, new Genesis™ engines
- Versatile, hard-working hydraulics
- Roomy new deck designs
- Comfortable cabs

Come on in and we'll show you the model ready to work for you!

Power up with Ford PowerStar™ tractors

The new standard in 66 to 106 hp!

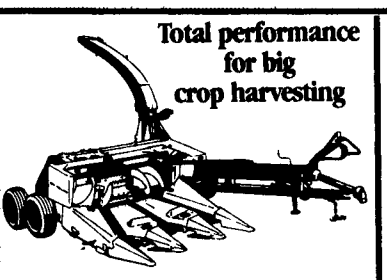
- New transmission choices, including the 16x16 Pulse Command™



Seeing is believing

Every minute you can save at the blower means more loads per day and more overall productivity. Let us demonstrate the New Holland Model 40 forage blower and we believe you'll agree you can increase your silage productivity.
The Model 40, with 20 percent greater tip speed than previous models, center fills silos over 80 feet high. The Whirl-A-Feed® table spins the crop into the blower housing at high speed, making more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower.
See us soon for a demonstration of the Model 40.

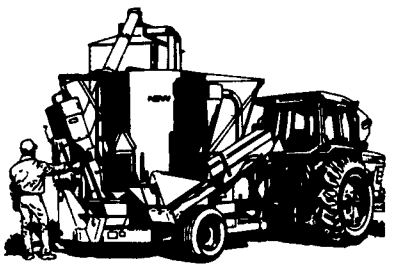
Total performance for big crop harvesting



You get total performance when you harvest your crops with a Model 900 forage harvester. Total performance begins at the cutterhead. The 12 knives of the 21-inch cutterhead give you uniformly cut, high-quality forage. Other features on the "900" include:

- Optional Metalert® II electronic metal detector—protects cutterhead and your valuable animals
- Electromagnetic clutches—give instant response in controlling feedroll and attachment drives
- Easy-adjust shearbar—makes adjustment fast and precise

Stop in soon and see the Model 900.



First in durability

Surveys show owners rate New Holland grinder-mixers as the most durable. That's because Ford New Holland builds them right and backs them with quality parts and service. The Model 358 has a 125-bushel tank that's specially designed to eliminate bridging. An optional electronic scale assures accurate control of rations. Stop in and see the durable Model 358 grinder-mixer.

Load...unload faster and easier

When you're working the big loads you need the Super Boom advantage — extra reach. With more forward dump reach you can center load your largest spreader from one side so you get an even load. The result: faster loading, fuller loads and easier unloading.
With level bucket lift you load more and lift higher... with less spillback. And, with a longer wheelbase there's more stability and safety. So, why get stuck with anything else?
Find out just how good a skid-steer loader can be.

We have a spreader for any farm

Ford New Holland offers six quality spreaders to match any farming operation. All New Holland spreaders clean out fast to make quick work of dirty jobs.

- Corrosion-resistant steels are used throughout for tough, long-lasting construction.
- Plus adding optional slurry sides on the Models 145, 155 and 185 increases capacity up to 25% at a fraction of the cost.

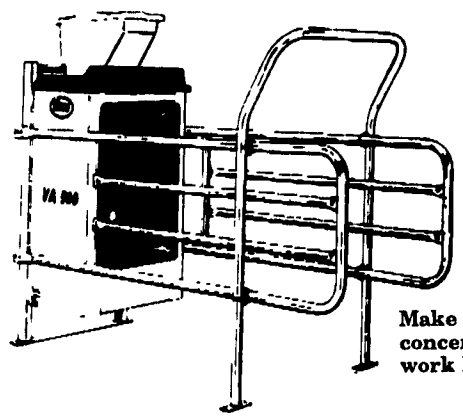
With this concentrate feeding system LESS MEANS MORE

Dairymen report a 7-8% increase in milk yield with 5% less concentrate input with the new VA 500.

Each cow's ration is fed automatically according to her individual lactation curve. Feeding for production means high producing cows get more. Every cow pays her way. The whole herd can be housed together and you don't need complicated computer support systems for operation.



Make your concentrate work harder.

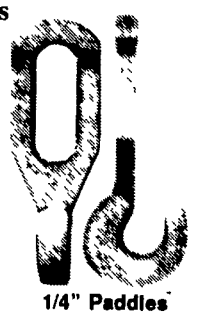
BARN CLEANERS

Built to clean faster... built to last longer!

JAMESWAY

All-forged Hook-Link® chain... available on Super 300 and Super 500 barn cleaners

Extra thick steel at all wear points



1/4" Paddles

IMPORTANT: Look for the "parting line" on any barn cleaner chain you buy. It shows where excess metal has been trimmed off. It is your assurance that the link was totally forged, not just punched out of a flat steel bar with grain flow in one direction only.

You want a totally-forged link because forging changes the grain on the steel, causing it to curve in unbroken flow lines around the contours of the link, giving the link greater strength to serve you longer.

YOU WON'T BEAT OUR PRICES & SERVICE

New Ultimate EXT.™ The Breakthrough Diet That Helps Her Add Several Pounds A Day.

When it comes to weight control and eating, dairy cows aren't like most people. A successful cow's diet should produce more pounds, not less, and her body weight needs to stay up after freshening.

Our new dairy feed works that way: introducing Ultimate EXT™ from Purina® Ultimate EXT helps cows produce more milk: an average of five more pounds a day in over 14,000 cows. By helping cows reduce body weight loss after calving, Ultimate EXT also improves body condition which can enhance breeding efficiency.

To put more weight on your bottom line, ask us about new Ultimate EXT. It turns good cows into great ones.
